SPECIAL SESSION MAY BE CONVENED; LAWS IN DANGER

STEAD POINTS OUT PERIL

HOUSE QUITS IN GREAT HASTE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The extra session of the Forty-seventh general assembly has gone home.

It has either adjourned sine die or it has been prorogued by the proclamation of Gov. Deneen, officially served upon the senate and house at 11 o'clock this morning.

In this state of affairs, which assumes new angles with each hour, nobody is certain as to what has happened, except upon a single point; the legislature is gone from Springfield and no more business will be tranzacted until Gov. Deneen issues his call for a new extraordinary session.

This extra session call will not be issued until the Illinois Supreme court hands down an opinion, due at the December term, which will determine the constitutionality of the "omnibus" University of Illinois appropriation act, slipped through conference committee at the dawn of the breakup of the last regular session.

Was Conference Report Valid?

The question involved is whether such a conference report, adopted in the closing minutes of the session, without "printing" and without "reading at large" in each house on "three separate days," answers the requirements of the constitution of the state.

If the Supreme justices hold with the contention that such procedure fails to fulfill the letter of the constitution, and that its enactment is illegal in the University of Illinois case, there doubtless will be a call for an extra session to recast in legal form those statutes coming under the court's general disapproval.

From the brief filed by Attorney General Stead in the Supreme court in the pending case is taken this quotation:

"A disregard of this practice at this time might destroy titles, impair the obligation of contracts, cause much mischief, and create a condition of chaos. If this objection must prevail, it must follow that we have not had a legal legislature for ten years, for the senatorial apportionment act is involved. If we have not had a legal legislature during that time not a single law in the statute books passed during that time has any validity, force, or obligation.

Some of the Laws in Danger.

Involved in the litigation as set out in detail in the brief of the attorney general are these acts of superior importance:

The corporation act.
The extortion and unjust discrimination act.
The Australian ballot act.
The judicial apportionment act.
The San Jose scale act.
The senatorial apportionment act of 1901.
The congressional apportionment of 1901.
The Municipal court act.
The primary elections act.
The amendment to the banking act.
The county civil service law.
The park civil service law.
The 1911 amendments to the game law.
The police pension fund law.
The act requiring payment of fees into the state treasury.

Gov. Deneen, aware of the gravity of the situation, after consultation with the attorney general, determined that he will issue no extra session proclamation until the opinion of the justices comes down, probably about Dec. 15. The case has been submitted and has been orally argued, and is now under advisement by the members of the court.

Possibilities Alarm Governor.

Gov. Deneen is alarmed at the possibility of a decision from the court which will create the conditions indicated. Attorney General Stead tonight intimated that he feels the situation is of vital concern to the state.

Officials close to the governor saw in the developments of the late afternoon the underlying reasons for Deneen's request to the attorney general for an opinion as to his power to adjourn the extra session and the issuance of the proclamation of prorogument until Jan. 8, 1913.

The governor was beaten by a shade in the house of representatives. While Secretary James Whittaker, bearing the message of prorogument, was waiting at the main door of the hall of representatives, the house machinery went into action. a roll call was ordered on one of the salary appropriation bills, and a sine die adjournment resolution was offered by Representative David E. Shanaha nof Chicago, president of the house appropriations committee.

Anti-Deneen Members Laugh.

If was passed under the gavel of Speaker Adkins, without a roll call.

There were fifty-eight members present who had voted on the appropriation bill—nineteen short of a quorum.

REAR ADMIRAL IN A SCANDAL

Redwood City, Cal., Nov. 14.—Sensational allegations involving Rear Admiral Thomas Phelps, U. S. N., retired, were contained in the cross complaint of John J. Moore, read in court today in connection with the suit of Lillian L. Moore for divorce.

Rear Admiral Phelps asserted there had been nothing in his friendship for Mrs. Moore that warranted linking his name with the divorce action.

The cross complaint of Moore says Mrs. Moore before her marriage complained that Phelps was annoying her with his attentions. After the marriage, says the cross complaint, Mrs. Moore admitted she and Phelps before her marriage had been intimate and that Phelps was the father of two of her children.

SUES RICH CHICAGO WOMAN.

Mrs. Mary A. Garvy Made Defendant in $10,000 Personal Injury Action.

Suit for $10,000 was filed yesterday by Attorney B. B. Morris, representing William H. Ryan, against Mary A. Garvy, a wealthy woman living at 800 Lyttle street, who is prominent in west side society circles.

Ryan charges that he sustained serious injuries to his spine by falling through a defective sidewalk in front of one of the defendant's buildings.

After he had made claims for injuries he had sustained, Ryan claims, Mrs. Garvy sent a physician to his house, who insisted on dragging him out of bed to see if he were really injured.

BOARD RETRACTS BUTTER ADVANCE

RESTORE FORMER PRICES.

The Chicago butter and egg board, which is now under investigation by the government, yesterday thought better of its arbitrary demand of last Monday, when the prices of butter and eggs were forced up while thousands in Chicago were suffering under the attack of the cold spell and a fall of snow.

The board tried to save itself by cutting prices as arbitrarily as it raised them.

There was a lively row at the board meeting. The conservatives bitterly criticised the price committee. The older and wiser commission traders expressed the belief that the committee had forced the wholesale price up beyond the range of maximum profit. It was argued that the prices might become prohibitory to the consumers and that retail grocers might ask such high prices for butter that the trade would be swung over to the butterine dealers.

Board Restores Former Prices.

The prices of last Saturday were restored. The official wholesale price of creamery butter was reduced from 33 cents a pound, the Monday price, to 32 cents, the Saturday price, before the mercury fell.

United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson said that the price committee of the butter and egg board would be given an opportunity to explain its action of Monday at the chancery hearings this week in the government suit to dissolve the board.

The commission merchants felt uneasy over the report that retailers were charging 42 cents a dozen for eggs. The street has no strictly fresh eggs. The board reduced the Monday price of 26 and 28 cents a dozen to 25 and 27 cents.

Potato Prices Go Higher.

But the potato market advanced as forecast in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning. The tubers rose from 72 and 80 cents a bushel to 75 and 80 cents in carload lots.

Through an error the name of the Elgin butter and eggs board appeared in THE TRIBUNE'S story yesterday morning where the Chicago butter and eggs board was meant. Elgin market reports showed that the Elgin board did not raise the price of butter and eggs.

The great suffering caused by the storm among the poor of the city continued to be demonstrated during the day. The offices of the county agent were flooded with applicants for aid. Food, coal, and shoes were given out at the county disbursing stations, or were delivered to poor families.

One more victim was added to the storm fatalities. An unidentified man, shabbily clothed, apparently about 40 years of age, was found dead in the hallway of a building at 204 North Clinton street early yesterday.

PHONE STREET NAMES IN CARS.

Conductors, by Aid of Enunciator Horns, Won't Have to Open Doors.

Cars on the Chicago City railway line are being equipped with a new device designed to do away with needless opening of doors in winter time. The conductor will open the doors only when the passenger wishes to leave the car. The device consists of four enunciator horns, like graphophones, set in the ceiling. The conductor has a small telephone through which he calls the street names. The sound comes out through the horns.

HALTS JUDGE SCANLAN

"IRREPARABLE LOSS" FEARED

The litigation between the city and the People's Gas Light and Coke company over the question of gas rates was thrown suddenly into the United States court yesterday afternoon.

Judge Kickham Scanlan of the state courts had just given a ruling which was held to be in effect a ruling that the Illinois statute which gave the Circuit court authority to review and fix gas rates was unconstitutional. Then quickly the gas company's lawyers went before Judge Kohlsaat in the federal court and secured a temporary injunction halting the city in enforcement of its gas ordinance, which aimed to cut the rate to 75 cents and ultimately to 68 cents.

The gas company's bill was set for hearing next Tuesday, and until the final order is entered the case before Judge Kohlsaat takes precedence over the two others in the Cook county courts involving the gas rate contest.

In the meantime the gas company is bound by the decision of Judge John Gibbons, also of the Circuit court of the state, to charge no more than 80 cents for its product. That order probably will stand pending the final adjudication of the federal case.

Ground of Company's Appeal.

Judge Kohlsaat, in issuing an injunction, stated that the ground of complaint was that the enforcement of the gas ordinance "would result in an irreparable injury to the complainants' property without due process of law, in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States and would result in a multiplicity of suits and that the complainant has no adequate remedy at law for the injury which would result from the threatened acts of the defendant."

A bond of $30,000 was filed by the gas corporation as security to the city of possible costs and damages that might be awarded to it as the result of the granting of the temporary order.

The bill placed before Judge Kohlsaat attacked the statute of May 18, 1905, upon which the city's claim to the right to regulate gas rates is based.

Judge Scanlan's Decision Attacked.

But the exact point upon which the case was taken into the federal court was contained in a single paragraph of the bill. In part this read:

In overruling that part of your orator's demurrer which relied upon the pendency of the proceedings before Judge Gibbons upon your orator's petition, the said Judge Scanlan rendered an opinion, a copy of which is attached hereto. And your orator charges that the effect of the overruling of the said demurrer by the said judge of the Circuit court of Cook county was to deny, and the said judge did in fact deny the jurisdiction of the Circuit court of Cook county to entertain your orator's said petition and to deny the jurisdiction of the Circuit court of Cook county to review and determine the rates to be charged for gas in the said city of Chicago in accordance with the statute of the state of Illinois approved May 18, 1905, and to determine that the said proceedings had and the order entered on the said petition were null and void and of no effect.

Cites Argument of City.

A still more pertinent reference to the history of the case which enabled the company to appeal to the federal court was found in the same paragraph a little earlier in the story.

"In the course of the said hearing," it read, "counsel for the city of Chicago argued and insisted that that part of the act approved May 18, 1905, which granted the Circuit court of Cook county power to review and determine the rates for gas fixed by the city council was unconstitutional and void."

Text of Kohlsaat's Order.

The order entered by Judge Kohlsaat was sweeping and concludes:

Ordered adjudged and decreed that until the entry of an order upon said motion [for injunction] the defendant, the City of Chicago, its mayor, chief of police, corporation counsel, and all other of its officers and agents, be, and they hereby are restrained and enjoined until the further order of this court, from in any way enforcing, or attempting to enforce, an ordinance adopted by the city council of the city of Chicago, on July 17, 1911, and entitled "An ordinance regulating the price of gas," or any of the provisions thereof, against the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and from in anywise interfering with the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company or with the property and business of said Peoples Gas Light and Coke company.

News of the granting of the injunction reached Corporation Counsel Sexton only when he was served with a copy of it by a deputy United States marshal at 5:20 o'clock. He, First Assistant Hoyne, and Assistant Craig at once went into conference, but they refused to make any comment on the court's action.

Attorneys declared that Judge Scanlan's decision overruling the company's demurrer opened the way for taking the case to the federal courts. The Supreme court has held that every available remedy in the state courts must be exhausted before the federal bench is appealed to. The state law provided

What the Court Did in Beef and Gas Cases.

The courtroom and the adjacent chambers of United States Circuit Judge C. C. Kohlsaat witnessed unprecedented legal and judicial activity during the half hour following 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to-wit:

At 4 o'clock nine big meat packers, under indictment for criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, surrendered themselves to the U. S. marshal and marched with an array of lawyers into Judge Kohlsaat's court, where they applied for a writ of habeas corpus.

Judge Kohlsaat released them on new bonds, setting tomorrow for a hearing of this habeas corpus appeal.

The basis of the application for the writ is that the criminal section of the Sherman act is unconstitutional, in being vague and not describing the act constituting the crime.

If Judge Kohlsaat refuses the writ, an appeal lies to the Supreme court.

If Judge Kohlsaat grants the writ, the district attorney will appeal to the higher court.

In either case, the "beef trust" case is for the present out of the jurisdiction of the U. S. District court, where Judge Carpenter had set the packers' trial for next Monday.

While Judge Kohlsaat was granting the packers a hearing for Thursday on this writ, attorneys for the People's Gas Co. were waiting in his chambers.

Then a few moments later Judge Kohlsaat granted to the Gas company a temporary injunction restraining the city from enforcing its 75, 70, and 68 cent gas ordinance. Thus he tied the hands of Judge Scanlan of the state court. Judge Kohlsaat set next Tuesday for argument on whether the gas injunction shall be made permanent.

Court adjourned at 4:30.

FULL STOMACHS AID CHILD MINDS

EAT SOUP, BREAD, MILK.

Two hundred hungry children of the Adams school yesterday noon attested to the success of penny lunches which the school board as an experiment began to serve them in the spring. They ate seventeen loaves of thickly sliced bread generously spread with butter and molasses and caused six gallons of milk to disappear. The net result was an income of 202 cents on one side and an equal number of satisfied appetites on the other.

From an experiment the penny lunch has developed into a part of the curriculum. The innovation has made the children plump and the little brains grasp thoughts more quickly than before.

Children of Poor.

Adams school is situated on Townsend street, between Chicago avenue and Locust street—the heart of "little Italy." A majority of its 1,130 scholars are Italians. Many pupils were backward in studies and nearly all came from families in straitened circumstances. In January the school board began the lunches to learn if it was food that was needed.

For a cent the children were served a bowl of nourishing soup and two slices of buttered bread as thick as mother used to cut it. Beef soup, rice soup, vegetable soup, and potato soup were served four days a week. Milk took the place of soup on the menu for the remaining day of the school week.

Miss L. M. Schjoldager, the principal and the teachers observed the children who patronized the school restaurant began to "pick up" at once. The youngsters grew stronger and thought quicker. Those behind in their studies have steadily advanced.

Believes Lunches Permanent.

"There was a need for the penny lunch," said Miss Schjoldager during the day. "I believe it has come to stay. It has brought about a marvelous transformation in about 200 children. Table etiquette is taught. Some larger boys eat two and three bowls of soup, and you can't always stop the sipping.

"We feed them in two shifts. Each child is given twenty minutes in which to eat. But we never send a child from the table if there is still food before it. Club women are becoming interested in the plan.

"But the children like the lunch as it is. The mothers of a large number of them are away from home all day. All they formerly had for lunch was a crust of bread. Before the close of the last school year several children wrote letters asking that the lunches be continued."

Italian Boy Forgets Penny.

When at twenty minutes of 12 nearly a hundred children from the kindergarten trooped into the dining room in the basement, 6 year old Tony Scavario had quite a time being admitted. He kept half the line waiting until he settled his trouble. He lost his penny. He accused Michael Marino of extracting it from his pocket. Michael proved his innocence.

Then Tony suddenly remembered he had hid his cent. He gave the coin to Miss Mary D. McCormick, a teacher who has volunteered to wait on the table, and sat down. When the first lunches were served the Italian children gave Miss McCormick buttons instead of pennies and tried to gain admission to the dining room on the excuse that they had left their pennies at home.

Nine Packers Surrender and Get a Habeas Corpus Writ; Hearing Will Be Held Tomorrow.

NO NOTICE TO GOVERNMENT

Wilkerson Runs to Court When Told of Coup, but Fails to Thwart Action.

ARMOUR ONLY DEFENDANT ABSENT

Nine of the ten packers indicted for criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust act surrendered themselves to the federal authorities yesterday afternoon, and through counsel secured an order for a writ of habeas corpus. The hearing was granted by United States Circuit Judge C. C. Kohlsaat, who will listen to arguments tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The packers sprung their coup six days before they were scheduled to go on trial before District Judge George A. Carpenter.

The grounds stated in the habeas corpus petition were presented in the district court last spring, according to the district attorney, and overruled. This may establish the precedent of a Circuit judge reviewing the decision of a district judge in his circuit.

Will Go to Supreme Court.

Whatever Judge Kohlsaat's final action on the writ, there will be an appeal, and the case will go to the Supreme court. So it is now likely the whole affair—the biggest criminal prosecution the government has on its hands—will be delayed for months, perhaps years. If the Supreme court holds the criminal provision unconstitutional, the whole case, of course, collapses.

Judge Kohlsaat last night stated to a reporter for THE TRIBUNE:

"This proceeding is one method of getting the law question alone before the Supreme court without its being mixed with the question of fact. Interpretation of the criminal prosecution section of the anti-trust law should be secured as soon as possible to make the situation clear to the business interests of the country."

U. S. Lawyers Get No Notice.

The move on behalf of the packers was an entire surprise to the government. The defense had been planning it for weeks, but not a suspicion had leaked out and the case was rushed into court without notice to District Attorney James H. Wilkerson.

His first information was given by newspaper men who saw the packers and their counsel enter the federal building.

The application of the writs does not affect J. Ogden Armour, head of Armour & Co., and all the Armour interests, and the most prominent financially of the ten. He is on the Atlantic coming back from Europe and is due Monday. His application will be rushed through immediately on his arrival in Chicago.

Nine Packers Enter Court.

A few newspaper men were in the United States marshal's office when the door opened at 3:45 and a procession of ten men walked in. They were John S. Miller, chief counsel for the packers, and the following indicted packers:

LOUIS F. SWIFT, president of Swift & Co., director of Swift's Fertiliser works, the National Packing company, and the Consumers' Cotton Oil company.

CHARLES H. SWIFT, director of Swift & Co.

THOMAS J. CONNORS, superintendent of Armour & Co.

"Here are a few gentlemen who wish to surrender," announced Mr. Miller. "Will you take charge of them?"

"Guard the Prisoners."

"Why—yes," stammered Wolf. Gentlemen, sit down. What's the matter?"

When Wolf understood that the packers were his prisoners he sent Deputies Massales and Crawley to "guard the prisoners" and the defendant's attorney hustled out of the room.

Two newspaper men had dashed across to the district attorney's office and found Mr. Wilkerson.

"What's up?" they yelled.

"Why?" he asked.

"All the swell company from the stockyards is in the marshal's office."

Mr. Wilkerson raced around the rotunda with the pack of reporters at his heels. When they got to the marshal's office they found out what was going on and hurried downstairs to the Circuit court clerk's office, thence around the rotunda of the sixth floor to Judge Kohlsaat's courtroom, where Attorney Miller was reading the application. Near him were Attorneys Levy Mayer, George T. Buckingham, Ralph Crews, and Alfred R. Urion.

Wilkerson Makes Protest.

Godman, another assistant, were in the courtroom.

Mr. Miller and Mr. Mayer did all the talking for the defense, and Mr. Wilkerson made a heated protest in behalf of the government.

The feature of the procedure that rankled the government men was the secrecy with which it had been carried out. Mr. Wilkerson, in court, attacked the attorneys for the defense and insisted he should have been notified.

"It was only by chance I learned anything about it at all. It is not necessary to debate at any length whether it was necessary for the defense to give notice, but the situation is this: The application is made suddenly and secretly on the Tuesday before the case is set for trial, after the venire is issued, after the summonses are served, after the jury is notified. The defense has had all the time it needs for taking this step. The step is taken today.

"In justice to the court and to all parties there should be ample opportunity for the court to hear the application argued by all parties. I don't think that under such circumstances as those I have related the writ should issue at all."

Clash with Packers' Lawyer.

"It shouldn't issue at all," he repeated. "The application is made at the very threshold of the trial court without any notification at all to the government."

"Notification is not usually issued in ex parte proceedings," said Attorney Miller with a smile.

"Never, when the application is made under such circumstances," blazed Mr. Wilkerson.

The tilt was interrupted by Judge Kohlsaat.

"It is clear it is not necessary and never has been that notice is required," said the court.

"It seems to me the allegations of the petition alone must control as to the facts and that the construction placed on the act leaves these questions in doubt.

"They should be more clear, but I have not considered them enough to know. In my opinion the writ should issue and the court should have an early hearing."

The judge then entered the order:

"Order that leave be and the same is given to file said petition and does hereby further order that a writ of habeas corpus issue forthwith, as prayed in said petition."

The judge then set the hearing for tomorrow.

"Guarded" Men Get "Bulletins."

While the attorneys were presenting the arguments their clients were perched on chairs and benches in a side room of the marshal's office laughing at their embarrassed "guards" and listening to the bulletins from the sixth floor.

Deputies Marsales and Crawley sat down with their prisoner, and then stood up. Then they walked around, and when the laughter increased sat down again. After about half an hour some of the attorneys came upstairs with the final bulletin and the packers went to Circuit Court Clerk Jamar to give their new bonds.

"I never had so many million dollars' worth of packers on my hands before," said Deputy Crawley in relief.

The National Surety company is surety for the new bonds.

Attorney Buckingham said it could be expected that as soon as Mr. Armour arrives in Chicago on Monday he will surrender and follow the same procedure.

Miller Hints at Long Fight.

Subsequent to the proceedings in court, Attorney Miller issued a statement in which he intimated that the trial set for next Monday will be indefinitely postponed until the Supreme court passes upon the writ. In this way, he says, much expense and time will be saved, if the highest court of the land holds that the criminal section of the anti-trust action is void.

He assumes, regardless of which way Judge Kohlsaat decides, that the issue will be taken to the Supreme court for adjudication. Mr. Miller's statement in part reads as follows:

"It was the clear duty of Judge Kohlsaat to issue the writ of habeas corpus as was done. The purpose is merely to inquire into the grounds on which the persons invoking it are held in custody. If they are not lawfully held they should be discharged. If lawfully held, then to remand them to such custody. If they are held under a void criminal statute they ought to be discharged. They are entitled to this writ to have that question decided, unless it fairly appears from their application that the statute is valid and not void.

"The writ is issued to enable the court to make that inquiry. The federal statute provides it is the duty of the court to issue the writ forthwith upon the application unless it appears the petitioner is not entitled to it.

Contention of the Lawyers.

"The petitioners contend the criminal provision of the Sherman anti-trust act, under which they are held are void for indefiniteness, because that act does not lay down any line or test of criminality which persons carrying on interstate commerce can discover and avoid.

"It is apparent that this question is regarded by the Supreme court of the United States as a serious one, because that court has exercised its discretion to take a criminal case for its review and decision upon that question, and that case is now before that court for hearing.

"In issuing this writ Judge Kohlsaat merely has followed the course pursued by the Supreme court. His action, however the question may be decided upon hearing, will permit it to be taken at once to the Supreme court by appeal by one side or the other and speedily decided once for all before a trial has been had which will take months and will be useless if our contention as to the invalidity of the act is correct."

Mayer Calls It "Principle Fight."

Levy Mayer, another of the attorneys for the packers, who is credited with having originated yesterday's move, was asked what influence the proceeding would have upon the hearing set for next Monday.

"I do not want to be interviewed on any phase of this litigation," he replied, "but I feel it is due our clients and the public that I should say the move is inspired only by the desire to have a fundamental and all powerful principle of law determined now and for all time. It has been our contention from the start that the anti-trust statute is void.

"To me it is inconceivable that great law abiding and successful merchants shall be prosecuted as criminals for doing that which is morally and commercially right. I cannot bring myself to believe that in this free country men can be successfully indicted for transacting business which comes within no fixed standard or rule of law. The anti-trust act as now construed by the Supreme court prohibits only unreasonable or abnormal restraints of trade."

Wilkerson Talks of Coup.

"There is not much to say at this time," said Mr. Wilkerson in the evening, "save that the move obviously is for the purpose of delay. The defense should have given us notice, and certainly should not have waited until the venire was called.

"It would seem that if any attempt of the kind were to be made, it should have been made at least six weeks ago. The venire is drawn, the witnesses are summoned, the government has gone to enormous expense to present the case for trial. Only under the most extraordinary conditions should the move be made at this time—the very eve of the trial.

"The mere fact that the defendants have filed a petition and obtained a preliminary writ means nothing. By the court's order their right to the writ will be determined Thursday.

"There is nothing at all novel in the situation presented. All questions raised in the petition have been ruled on by Judge Carpenter against their contentions."

U. S. Judge Who Delays Gas Cost Cut and Imperils Beef Trust Prosecution.

KOHLSAAT EXPLAINS ACTION.

Judge Kohlsaat explained the significance of the afternoon's proceedings to a reporter for THE TRIBUNE, at his residence in the evening.

"This is one method of getting the law question alone before the Supreme court without its being mixed with the question of fact," said the judge. "It is done, as I understand it, for the purpose of getting a construction of the Sherman anti-trust law as it affects the question involved in this case.

"Interpretation of the criminal prosecution section of the anti-trust law should be secured as soon as possible to make the situation clear to the business interests of the country. The question involved is a large and important one and should be studied carefully."

"I would not regard these proceedings as a review of Judge Carpenter's rulings," continued the judge. "As I understand the situation Judge Carpenter has not passed on the questions involved in the application for a writ. Judge Carpenter passed on the law in a demurrer to the indictments before the Supreme court decided the question as being one of reasonableness."

"Do you know whether a Circuit court judge ever has reviewed the rulings of a District court judge?" he was asked.

"Not as far as I know," replied the judge. "I don't think it would ever be done. Legally it ought not to be done. Many years ago, before the establishment of the Court of Appeals, cases were carried from the District court, but that is not done under the present arrangement."

Hears of Plan at Lunch.

The judge said the first intimation he had that he was to be placed in the position he now finds himself was about 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

"While I was eating luncheon at the Union League club John S. Miller came to me and asked if I was going to be in court all the afternoon," he said. "I told him I would be there. About 3:30 he called me over the telephone and told me he was coming over to file an application for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Whitney, who represents the gas company, also asked me while I was at luncheon if I would be in court all the afternoon. I told him yes and later he and his associates made their application."

"Should the government attorneys have been notified in advance of the proposed action of the packers' attorneys?"

"Notice Not Necessary."

"No, it is not necessary in cases of this kind. The packers' attorneys simply asked permission to file their application for a writ and I allowed them to do so."

"Was it necessary to grant a hearing on the application for a writ?"

"I couldn't have refused to do so, unless it was a clear case that the applicants were not entitled to it."

"Would you get an idea from the proceedings that it was a plan of the packers' attorney to delay the trial of the case?"

POINTS IN APPLICATION FOR WRIT.

The application for the writ of habeas corpus, filed by the attorneys for the packers, outlines the events following the bringing in of the indictments, and relates the issuance of bench warrants on Sept. 13, 1910 and the fixing of $30,000 bail for each defendant. On that same day E. F. and Charles H. Swift, Tilden, Meeker, Morris, and Heyman gave bail. On Sept. 19, 1910 came Fowler; Sept. 21, Connors, and Oct. 3, Louis F. Swift.

It recites the filing of motions to quash on Jan. 19, 1911, heard and overruled on March 22, 1911, the entering of demurrers on April 1, and the overruling by Judge Carpenter on May 12. Subsequently rehearing on the demurrers was refused.

"Deprived of Their Liberty."

The bill recites that the petitioners "each and every one of them are now actually imprisoned and restrained of their liberty" and contends that such "imprisonment" is without authority of law and in violation of their rights, privileges, and immunities under the constitution and laws of the United States, for the following reasons:

"[a] Because the District court is without jurisdiction under the constitution and laws by reason of any of the matters or things contained or set forth in the said indictments.

Claim No Offense Is Charged.

"(b) Because the matters and things set forth and charged in said indictments do not constitute any offense or offenses against the laws of the United States and do not come within the purview, intent, and meaning of the act of congress approved July 2, 1890, entitled 'An act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies.'

"(c) Because the said act of congress, with the violation of which your petitioners are charged jointly, does not create any crime and does not define any offense against the United States, so as to inform your petitioners, jointly or severally, in advance of the nature of the alleged crime or alleged offense under said act with which they are charged.

Calls Act Unconstitutional.

"(d) Because the criminal provisions of said act of congress are unconstitutional, are void, and are not law, and the District court acquired no jurisdiction of the subject matter of said indictments and its authority to indict and try your petitioners jointly or severally arose and arises solely under said act of congress.

"(e) Because there was and is a complete want of power on the part of the District court to entertain said indictments, and the said District court had and has no authority to order the issuance of said warrants.

Not Warned in Advance.

"(f) Because the description of the alleged offenses contained in said act of congress on which said indictments and each of them and the several counts thereof are based, is not one by which your petitioners, jointly or severally, were or are able to know in advance whether the acts charged were or are criminal or not, and the said act is therefore invalid, void, and contrary to the provisions of the constitution of the United States and the fifth and sixth amendments thereto.

"(g) Because the said act of congress is indefinite and uncertain to such an extent and is not explicit so that all persons subject to the penalties of the act may know what acts it is their duty to avoid. The alleged criminality of the alleged transactions complained of in said indictments, and each of them, and in the several counts thereof, will depend entirely upon a particular jury's view of the reasonableness or unreasonableness of said transactions.

"Repugnant to the Constitution."

"It is repugnant to the constitution of the United States and the fifth and sixth amendments thereto, to punish or attempt to punish your petitioners, or any of them, for the alleged act or acts, the alleged criminality of which will depend not on any standard erected by the law which may be known in advance, but on one that may be created by the whim, prejudice, or arbitrary views of a jury; that the alleged criminality of an act or acts cannot legally depend upon whether a jury may think such acts reasonable or unreasonable.

"That said act of congress serves as a net large enough to catch all possible offenders and leaves it to the courts to step inside and say who can be rightfully detained and who should be set at large.

Strikes Legislative Power.

"(h) Because the legislative power of congress in enacting the criminal provisions of said act has been clearly transcended in declaring that to be a crime which was not and is not within the legislative competency of congress.

"(i) Because the said act of congress violates the fifth amendment to the constitution of the United States in that it undertakes to deprive your petitioners severally of liberty and property without due process of law.

"(j) Because the said act of congress violates the sixth amendment to the constitution of the United States which requires that your petitioners severally shall be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation.

"(k) Because the said act of congress violates the eighth amendment to the constitution of the United States in that it undertakes to inflict excessive fines and cruel and unusual punishment for the commission of an act or acts not criminal in their nature, and not defined in said act.

Law Attempts to Make Crime.

"[l] Because the said act of congress attempts to make a crime, although there is no criminal intent, of alleged transactions which are purely civil in their nature, and are of a class always and uniformly held to be and regarded in law as contractual merely.

"(m) Because the matters and things in the said indictments do not constitute any offense or offenses cognizable in the said District court, and do not come within its power and jurisdiction. And because the said indictments are too vague, general, insufficient, and uncertain to constitute an indictment according to the constitution of the United States and the fifth and sixth amendments thereto.

"That the allegations of the various counts of said indictments purport to describe a method of conducting business by the various corporations therein named; that such alleged method of conducting business includes and involves more than 100 distinct and isolated transactions; that any one of which transactions may be sought to be proved by the said United States as evidence in support of said allegations.

Corporation Business Extensive.

"That the business of said various corporations during the period in said indictments mentioned was very extensive and covers, in the aggregate, substantially the entire territory of the United States; that each and all of said corporations during said period had branch houses situated at widely separated places in the United States; that the various managers, servants, and agents of said various corporations employed by said corporations in conducting their respective business transactions, at their respective offices and at their branch houses during said period, numbered in the aggregate more than 10,000 individuals; that the specific and separate transactions of said corporations relating to the purchase of live stock and to the sale of fresh meat and fresh beef during said period were in number in excess of 5,000 each day and is one of exceptional importance.

"That the trial of your petitioners on said indictment will, as your petitioners are informed and verily believe, consume at least six months in said District court and will necessitate the hearing of many hundreds of witnesses and will be very costly both to the United States and to your petitioners severally and will entail a great and needless hardship upon them, all of which will be a complete loss and waste if the said act of congress is unconstitutional and void, as hereinbefore set forth; that the questions here involved have never been determined by the Supreme court, and this case presents special features.

Court Asked for Writ.

"Wherefore, your petitioners severally pray that a writ of habeas corpus may issue, directed to Luman T. Hoy, marshal, requiring him to bring your petitioners severally before this court at a time to be by it determined, together with the true cause of their detention, to the end that due inquiry may be had in the premises, and that this court may proceed in a summary way to determine the legality of your petitioners' imprisonment, restraint, and detention, and that your petitioners may be discharged from said custody."

UNCLE SAM WILL FIGHT PLEA.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The move of the indicted Chicago packers to escape prosecution through habeas corpus proceedings is regarded at the department of justice as a confession of "utter desperation" on the part of the packers.

The chance that the packers will be able to escape by the habeas corpus route is declared by the government lawyers to be so remote as to be not worth considering, aside from the light the move throws upon the state of mind of the defendants and their counsel.

It was asserted tonight the government will be prepared to oppose the habeas corpus motion. It is possible the attorney general will go to Chicago, although when he left the department this afternoon he thought it would be unnecessary.

EIGHT MURDER CASE JURORS.

Six Defendants Are Accused of Robbing and Killing a Truck Farmer.

Eight jurors had been accepted at the close of yesterday's session in Judge Adelor J. Petit's court, where six persons are on trial for the murder of Fred W. Guelsow Jr., a truck farmer, on Oct. 20. The defendants are Ewald and Frank Shiblawski, 24 and 21 years old, respectively; Philip Someerling, 34 years old; Frank Kita 16 years old; Thomas Schultz and Leo Suchomski, each 18 years old.

that the Circuit court could "review and determine" rates. The company acted under this statutory provision.

Then the city began its case before Judge Scanlan and the company demurred on the ground that the matter already was before Judge Gibbons in accordance with the statute. Judge Scanlan overruled the demurrer, and in its petition the company contended that this decision was a declaration that the Circuit court could not "review and determine" rates, and that the law to that effect, therefore, was unconstitutional and void.

"Last Recourse" Exhausted.

With the last recourse under the state law exhausted, according to its declaration, the company appealed to the federal tribunal and made a general attack on the rate making law. In addition to contending that it constituted confiscation of property in violation of the fourteenth amendment of the United States constitution, the complainant raised another point. This was that the law entitled "an act to confer upon the city of Chicago the power and authority to sell surplus electricity and fix the rates for the supply of gas," etc., covered two subjects the sale of surplus electricity and the fixing of rates.

The petition averred by intimation that the attorneys for the city tripped themselves by contending that the statuory provision that the Circuit court may "review and determine" rates was unconstitutional. Counsel for the company contended that if this provision of the law was unconstitutional the entire law was void.

Rude Jar for City.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Corporation Counsel W. H. Sexton and his assistants, Maclay Hoyne and Craig, were jubilant over the prospects of their hearing before Judge Scanlan in the Circuit court. They were predicting a victory for the city in their suit to enjoin the company from violating the ordinance by charging more for gas than 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

In the morning Judge Scanlan had overruled the demurrer filed by the gas company to the city's bill for an injunction, thereby giving the city the victory in the second point since the bill was filed. The first victory for the city had come when Judge Scanlan ruled that he had jurisdiction to hear the city's application for an injunction. Attorney Meagher for the company had contended that the court had no jurisdiction and that any action on Judge Scanlan's part was simply a review of Judge Gibbons' decision.

Following the overruling of the demurrer arguments were at once begun on the motion for an injunction, and were concluded for the day shortly after 3 o'clock, when Judge Scanlan asked the views of counsel for both sides in regard to the appointment of a trustee to have charge of the difference between the 80 and 75 cent rates.

The company was given thirty days in which to file an answer to the bill.

Shortly after 3 Attorney Meagher finished his arguments and Judge Scanlan announced that he would give his decision in the matter this morning.

OFFICERS TELL OF NORTH SIDE DIVES

"REPORTED TO REVERE."

Testify Before Inquiry They Personally Know of Mont Tennes' Gambling Places.

Two commanding police officials "who know" testified yesterday before the city civil service commission regarding conditions in the East Chicago avenue police district. They gave frank replies to questions on prevalence of vice.

Lieuts. John C. Dammann and Timothy C. Cullinan were the witnesses. Their testimony contradicts stories related by many police officials in the investigation of police protected vice.

Lieut. Dammann especially was familiar with practices of lawless saloons in the district, told of personal knowledge of gambling places, and gave out a list of disorderly houses obtained in his own personal investigations.

The lieutenant said he had made written reports to Inspector Revere on his personal saloon inspection trips, and had turned in the names of saloons where unescorted women were seen by him.

"You made no arrests in these places?" Attorney William W. Wheelock, chief counsel for the commission, suggested.

"My orders were to get the names of saloons where these women hang out and report them to the inspector," the witness said. "I did that."

Women in Fifteen Saloons.

Q.—How many saloons in your district are frequented by this class of women? A.—I should say fifteen or twenty to my own knowedge.

Q.—Do you mean you made a personal inspection of these places? A.—Yes, when I was on the night watch I made the rounds of as many of these places as I had time to about midnight or a little later.

The witness then drew out a notebook and offered to name all saloons where he had found unescorted women—all which, he said, he had reported to the inspector. He read a list of eighteen places in North Clark and Wells streets.

The two saloons of Paul Schoop at 415 and 421 Wells street were mentioned by the police official as especially vicious.

"I wouldn't trust that fellow for anything," was the way the witness "sized up" the saloon man.

The witness then told of knowing about the operation of four gambling places, all said to be under supervision of Mont Tennes.

"How do you explain one man's interest in so many gambling places, if he has not got a so-called 'stand-in' with the police officials?" asked the attorney.

"I don't know anything about that," the witness said.

"I know," he said, "that both uniformed men and plain clothes men have had instructions often from me to watch for all law violations and arrest all violators of every police regulation—no matter what it is."

Cullinan Tells of Vice.

Lieut. Cullinan testified to much the same conditions. He added the efficiency clerk at the station keeps a record of all resorts and "shady" hotels in the precinct. Attorney Wheelock requested that this record be sent to the commission. Asked concerning his own part in vice regulation in the district he said he had done no regulating, adding:

"The inspectors have been directly charged with regulation of that sort."

The witness asserted the courts had not cooperated with the police in attempts to drive out disorderly women.

"The Chicago Avenue court has held that the mere arresting of women without escorts in saloons is not conclusive evidence that the women are disorderly characters," he said. "They ask policemen to show that the saloons are disorderly places. I sent men out and they visited some of these places and were solicited by the women, but even then this was not considered sufficient evidence in some instances. I tell my men, though, to keep hammering away and make arrests whether they result in convictions or not.

"If the courts and the prosecuting machinery cooperate with the police it is an easy business to drive out most any kind of vice."

Vice Investigators Slugged.

Attorney Wheelock said friends of police officials under investigation were responsible for injecting violence into the investigation, and charged that two commission investigators had been slugged and efforts had been made to intimidate others by threats. One slugged investigator is "Monk" Coburn, former jockey, who was one of Inspector Nicholas Hunt's witnesses in the murder of Vincent Altman, for which Maurice Enright was convicted. Coburn's jaw is broken. Mr. Wheelock said two investigators would appear on the witness stand later.

An argument was made for separate trials of four west side commanding officers facing charges of neglect of duty and inefficiency. The four are Inspector Charles C. Dorman, Capt. William J. Flunkett, and Lieuts. William D. Ambrose and Thomas J. Howard.

The commissioners refused the pleas for separate trials. The commission also refused to grant a request for names of all witnesses who will appear against the accused men and for more specific charges in the accusing counts.

Sergt. Duffy and a squad of Harrison street station detectives captured forty-two white men and negroes in a gambling raid in the afternoon in a pool room and billiard hall at 420 South State street. The police charged that the men were shooting craps. At the station John Bernard, a white man, was booked as keeper. All arrested men were released on bonds signed by a professional bondsman.

I. A. C. PICKS MEMBERS' TICKET.

Illinois Athletic Club Will See Sharp Rivalry for Offices—Both Sides Push Campaigns.

Candidates for the "members' ticket" were nominated last night by members of the Illinois Athletic club to oppose the "regular ticket" when the annual election of the club is held on Nov. 28. The nominations follow: President, Charles J. Webb; vice president, Commodore William Y. Perry; secretary, Maurice L. Caton; treasurer, R. C. Keller; directors, Charles P. Wilt, H. L. Wiley, J. C. D. Clark, Harry Moir, and William Vierbuchen.

How to Save.

In order to save regularly, system is necessary. Systematic saving can best be accomplished by making regular allowances from the weekly or monthly income for deposit in the savings bank. The household expense account book prepared by the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 111-117 West Monroe street, is based on this principle, and will materially assist any one to save. Copies furnished free on personal application.—Adv.

Prize Winning Paintings at Exhibition of American Artists.

"Towering Trees" by Daniel Garber, of Philadelphia.

Daniel Garber, winner of the Peter Palms gold medal and $1,000, is a brilliant young landscape painter, only five years out of the schools. He studied first in Cincinnati and afterward at the Pennsylvania academy, where he won the Cresson scholarship in 1905. In 1909 he took the First Hallgarten prize in the National academy exhibition, and in 1910 he won an honorable mention at Pittsburgh.

John C. Johansen, who takes the Harris silver medal and $500, was born in Copenhagen in 1876, studied art first at the Art institute and lived long in Chicago, where he has taken many honors. The Friends of American Art bought for the institute his Venetian painting, "The Piazza of San Marco," and the Municipal Art league owns one of his pictures. A few years ago he removed to New York.

Margaret F. Richardson, winner of the Harris bronze medal and $300, is a newcomer in the hall of fame. Beyond the fact that she paints and teaches in Boston, the authorities are silent in regard to her.

Frederick F. Fussman, who receives the Martin B. Cahn prize of $100 for the best picture by a Chicago artist, is a young and well known Chicago painter, chiefly of figures out of doors, who has contributed to most of our recent exhibitions.

W. D. Goldbeck, who receives an honorable mention, is also one of our younger group of figure and portrait painters.

SUBURBS IN TRACTION TRUCE

MARKS TEMPORARY LULL.

Comerford Says Final Peace Is Doubtful; Cars Running in Three Days.

At last there is a truce between the County Traction company and the village of Cicero. Suburbanites no longer will be forced to resort to bus lines and other ancient methods of travel to reach the car lines running into Chicago.

A temporary lull in the warfare between the western suburbs and the traction company was arrived at last night. The village board of Cicero granted permission to the company to operate its cars within the township on the understanding that the permit may be revoked at any time without notice.

The traction company has promised to have the cars running within three days, and will operate without a franchise.

End Two Nights of Argument.

The decision of the village board ended two nights of argument. It started on Monday night and proceeded with objections and proposals without an agreement until early in the morning. Then the weary village fathers made short work of the problem.

The traction company was granted the right to lay its tracks across the viaduct of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad at Fifty-second avenue and to connect with its tracks west of Hawthorne, which has been without street car service for eleven months.

In return for this permission it was understood the traction company will grant a 5 cent fare through all parts of the township and to other suburbs. President George Schmidt of the car lines promised to open up the West Telfth street, Ogden avenue, Forty-eighth, and Fifty-second avenue car lines within the week.

Other Suburbs Expected to Join Pact.

It is thought probable the other western villages, which in the spring joined with Cicero in tearing up the tracks of the company through the suburbs, will join in the truce.

"This agreement is only a temporary truce and will give the residents transportation in the winter months at least," said President George Comerford of the Cicero village board, "but I can see no permanent solution of the situation. We have talked of granting a ninety days' truce, but at the meeting thought it would be better to give the company the right to operate until we saw fit to stop the service. This truce may last a week, a year, or longer."

OPEN AIR SCHOLARS FROLIC.

Children Rehearse Opening of Elizabeth McCormick School Today—Eskimo Costumes Defy Cold.

Cold and the snow held no terrors for more than a score of children, dressed in Eskimo costumes, who yesterday practiced the part they will play today at the opening of the Elizabeth McCormick Open Air School No. 2. The children gathered on the roof of the Hull House Boys' club, rehearsed the exercises, and romped and played, unmindful of wintry blasts. Today the school will be opened with appropriate exercises, followed by a reception. The trustees and directors of the Elizabeth McCormick memorial fund and the superintendent of the Chicago public schools will be in charge.

Milk Fraud Inquiry Today.

The special committee appointed by President Bartzen of the county board to investigate an alleged attempt at bribery in connection with county milk contracts will hold its first session in the board rooms this morning.

ALL EVIDENCE BEFORE JURY IN WILLISTON BRIBERY CASE.

Twenty-five Residents of Gary, Including Bankers and Editors, Defend Character of the Accused Man.

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—All the evidence in the Williston bribery case has been submitted to the jury. At the morning session twenty-five prominent business men, bankers, editors, and professional men from Gary testified that the character of Williston was above reproach. More than 200 people were here from Gary.

Williston was on the stand for a short time. On cross examination he was asked by Attorney Parker of South Bend, special representative of Gov. Marshall:

"Is it not a fact that you were drunk in Chicago when your child was born?"

"You are a liar," Williston replied.

This caused a commotion in court, but Judge Van Vleet soon restored order.

The defense rested at 2 p. m. and the state began introducing character witnesses. Eight residents of Louisville, Ky., testified as to Dean's character. Arguments will be heard tomorrow, each side being limited to four hours each. The case will go to the jury about 6 o'clock.

Williston's wife and 3 year old child arrived here last night. Mrs. Williston was not permitted to take the child into the courtroom.

CHURCH FIGHTING AUTOISTS.

Board of Deacons Adopts Resolutions to Be Sent to Council After Church Approves.

A resolution condemning reckless automobile driving and a recommendation to the city council that action be taken toward lessening automobile fatalities was drawn up last night at a meeting of the board of deacons of the North Shore Congregational church. The resolution will be voted on by the congregation of the church at next Sunday morning's service.

HELD FOR HARBORING ALIEN

LOST ON THE CITY STREETS.

Police Find Young Swedish Woman in Place.

Charged with harboring Alma Peterson, a 19 years old Swedish girl, in a disorderly house at 3021 Dearborn street, Mrs. Roberta Drew, negro proprietor, yesterday was arrested.

The Peterson girl, five days after she arrived from Sweden, disappeared from the residence of her uncle at 6436 Carpenter street. The guardians of the girl, who is an orphan and unable to speak English, appealed to the police and a dragnet search was made through the vice district. She was found in the negro resort. The Drew woman was held at the Harrison street police station in default of $3,000 bond. Her case will be tried in the Harrison street court today. She did not deny the charges when placed under arrest.

The arrest of the Drew woman was delayed, owing to the difficulty in understanding the Peterson girl's story. An interpreter was finally employed and she recited how she had been led into the immoral life by the Drew woman. According to her story to the police, she became lost on the street after returning from Argo, Ill., on the night of Oct. 14. A negro man whom she met directed her to a hotel at Twenty-fourth and State streets and registered her at a hotel there. The next day as she was leaving the hotel she was accosted by the Drew woman, who took her to her resort at 3021 Dearborn street.

Alarmed through the publicity given the case by THE TRIBUNE when the girl was being searched for, the Drew woman took her near her uncle's home in an automobile, she said, and then left her. However, after her life of shame she was afraid to return home and went back to the resort.

APPROVES PLAN FOR $3,104,720 WATER SYSTEM IN STOCKYARDS

Improvements of the water system in the stockyards district, the aggregate cost of which will be $3,104,720, were approved yesterday by the council committee on water department.

Rehabilitation Twenty-second street station	$ 320,000
Roseland feeder main	424,000
Forty-seventh street feeder main	55,000
Two engines Roseland pumping station	270,000
Western avenue tunnel	611,000
Western avenue pumping station	1,100,000
Western avenue feeder mains	324,720
Total	$3,104,720

"I have not figured it down exactly," said City Engineer Ericson, "but this should supply the district amply for the next ten or twelve years."

Chairman Frank J. Wilson was authorized to confer with Public Works Commissioner McGann as to necessary action by the city council.

ARREST TWO GIRL RUNAWAYS.

Police Also Catch Darce Davis in a South Side Flat with Peoria Young Women.

Mabel Keagle, 15 years old, and Viola McDonald, 18 years old, both runaways from Peoria, Ill., and Darce Davis, 24 years old, were arrested last night in a flat at 520 West Seventy-ninth street on complaint of the McDonald girl's parents.

Take Man; Identified as Swindler.

A short time after Detective Sergeants O'Malley and Howe of the detective bureau arrested Phillip Rand, 29 years old, he was identified by H. Finegold, 836 South Marshfield avenue, as one of two men who four months ago swindled him out of $400 in a fake jewelry deal.

HIS MONEY SAFE; TURNS OPTIMIST

Joseph Mittelmeyer Intrusts Savings to "The Tribune"; Will Bank Today.

ASKS REPORTER TO DINE.

Tells of Career in America; Arrived in Chicago with Only 25 Cents.

When Joseph Mittelmeyer, the happy possessor of the refound $870, was seen yesterday after he had left his work it developed that he had not yet deposited his money in a bank. Reminded of the danger of keeping the cash on account of the publicity given to his case, he decided to bank it at once. But, as all the banks were closed, he requested that it be locked up in the safe of THE TRIBUNE. There the money now rests.

Mittelmeyer insisted upon taking the reporter home for supper, and Mrs. Mittelmeyer proved to be a hostess of culinary ability, kindly disposed toward newspaper men.

Children Talk Two Languages.

The two children—Elinor, 8 years old, and Marx, 7 years old, both pupils of the Wentworth school—told of their school work and answered questions put to them either in English or German as seemed demanded. Mr. Mittelmeyer took pride in showing a set of furniture of his own design and workmanship, made of black walnut and finely inlaid with maple, ebony, and mahogany, the design as original and agreeable to the eye as the best Roycroft work and the workmanship speaking of a patient application that reminds of the days of the guilds.

Reaches Chicago with 25 Cents.

Mr. Mittelmeyer landed in Halifax with $1.25 in his pocket upon immigrating. He spent $1 on the return half of a railroad ticket to Chicago he bought from a tramp and started on his trip provisioned with bread taken along from the steamer. That was the year of the world's fair, and when he walked down Halsted street somebody pointed out the stockyards to him as the exposition buildings. They looked grand enough to him. In 1897 he became naturalized and while on his wanderings as an artisan he met his future wife in San Francisco, asked for her hand after two months' acquaintance, and thereby secured the companion who has since safely guided him through lighter and darker days.

Crushed in Elevator Shaft.

Delos Lamb, 40 West Seventieth place, was seriously injured yesterday in an elevator accident in the Harris Trust company building, 115 West Monroe street. Lamb was oiling mechanism in an elevator shaft when a counterweight crushed him against the cement floor, cutting off his left leg.

ORGY REVEALED IN LORIMER CASE

POLICE BODY AIDS HIM.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

If Policeman P. J. Keeley be truly representative of the police force of Chicago, and the testimony he gave yesterday before the senate Lorimer investigating committee be correct, the people of this city have a grave problem upon their hands in connection with their police organization.

Policeman Keeley told the committee how he got witnesses drunk and drank with them, took them to disorderly houses, and even investigated one of these houses with a view to providing graft for his superiors. He told further that the expenses of his trials for perjury growing out of the Lee O'Neil Browne case have been or will be paid by the Police Protective association.

On his first trial Policeman Keeley was convicted of the charge; on his second he was acquitted. He was dismissed by the civil service board for drunkenness. State's Attorney Wayman appearing against him. Subsequently the board reinstated him, no one appearing to prosecute. The detective showed a marvelous memory in some respects and a woefully bad one in others.

Say Browne Solicited Vote.

Preceding Policeman Keeley was Representative Charles Naylor, who said he was solicited by Browne to vote for Lorimer, but did not do so. The witness was a member of the party which initiated the "joke" that a number of Democrats were going to vote for Albert J. Hopkins, and thus brought Roger Sullivan with some big black cigars to Springfield in a hurry.

Mr. Marble put in evidence the court records to show that a deposit of $500, made in St. Louis by Representative H. J. C. Beckemeyer on Aug. 7, 1909, could not have been obtained from an estate settled in St. Charles, Mo., and distributed by order of the court on Aug. 14, 1909.

Policeman Keeley told the committee of the numerous drinks of whisky Beckemeyer, "Bruce" Welch, a friend of Beckemeyer, and himself had on the first day they appeared before the grand jury. By the time midnight rolled around Beckemeyer was under the influence of liquor.

The three called a cab and were driven to a place the policeman knew. Keeley did not advise the state's attorney's office where he and Beckemeyer were going. Consequently, he was the only representative of the state's attorney acquainted with Beckemeyer's whereabouts that night.

Tells About "Instructions."

According to Keeley, he received several specific instructions as to his treatment of Beckemeyer. The first was from Assistant State's Attorney Arnold, who told him just before Beckemeyer appeared before the grand jury: "Take this man out and treat him right and bring him back at 2 o'clock." That night Mr. Wayman said to him: "Take these men (Beckemeyer and his friend Welch) anywhere they want to go, even to the La Salle hotel."

Beckemeyer drank before 2 o'clock five whiskies and three bottles of beer, and the witness three whiskies and parts of three bottles of beer. Beckemeyer said to Welch: "They are trying to get me to tell something over there that I don't know anything about." Welch replied: "If you don't know anything, why don't you keep your mouth shut!"

The witness added that he told Beckemeyer that while with him he was not to talk. He insisted this was in accordance with his instructions, but when pinned down by Attorney Marble admitted these were only general instructions with respect to witnesses and had not been given him specifically with respect to Beckemeyer.

"How often did Beckemeyer tell you he did not get any money voting for Lorimer?" asked Senator Kern.

"He told me more than ten times," replied the witness.

Keeley declined to say Beckemeyer was intoxicated when he went into the grand jury room and there made his confession, in spite of the mixture and amount of whisky and beer he had imbibed.

"The more whisky he got," said Keeley, "the more worried he seemed to be." The witness added: "Beckemeyer wanted a drink every time he saw a sign."

"Were you at all under the influence of liquor?" asked Senator Kern.

Told to Let Beckemeyer Drink.

The policeman asserted Mr. Arnold told him to let Beckemeyer have all the drinks he wanted, only stopping him from getting into a condition which would be remarked by the grand jury.

"They left it to your wise discrimination," observed Senator Kern, "to gauge that he was not too drunk?"

"Yes, sir," said the policeman.

"And you were willing to be a party to that kind of infamous scheme!" exclaimed Mr. Kern.

"Well, I am sorry I was," responded Keeley. "I got my instructions."

"Did you protest to anybody against that course of procedure?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"If you understood an effort was being made to 'railroad' an innocent man to the penitentiary, why didn't you ask to be relieved from that kind of work?"

"Maybe that was good policy to do at that time. But I can give no reason why I did not."

Also Took Out "Joe" Clark.

Policeman Keeley said when he was directed to take out Representative "Joe" Clark Mr. Arnold told him to "be careful and not get him so drunk the grand jury would notice it." After Beckemeyer finished his testimony before the grand jury Arnold said to Policeman Keeley.

"Say, you have fixed that one all right. He has told his story and I won't forget it. You take him out and treat him right. I'll see you in the morning."

Returning to the Beckemeyer incident, Attorney Marble asked: "Did you understand by the words 'treat him right' that it meant to get Beckemeyer drunk?"

"No, sir," was the reply.

"What did you understand those words meant?"

"Get him so he would talk," said the witness.

Mr. Marble read the testimony of Keeley in the Browne trial. Then the witness said by the words "treat him right" he understood he was to get Beckemeyer drunk, and he did so. Keeley said he so testified, but he did not know it was in the record that he got him (Beckemeyer) drunk.

Tells About Attorney's Fees.

Asked about the attorney's fees, the witness replied the bill of James J. Brady, his attorney in his first trial for perjury, was $650 and that of Erbstein $800. Part of this had been paid by the police organization, which would pay all. Part of the money also had been advanced by his brother-in-law.

The policeman got considerably tangled up in connection with his relation of his various conversations with Sidney Yarbrough and Beckemeyer. The former, who was in his charge, told him he proposed to commit perjury for the benefit of White. Senator Kern promptly asked Keeley how long he had known Yarbrough. The witness said he never had met the man before that day. Yet Yarbrough made this confession to Keeley, knowing he was a representative of the state's attorney's office! In spite of his position, the witness did not report the conversation to the state's attorney. He said he started to do so, but Mr. Wayman refused to listen to him.

"Did you ask anybody to send you back to your station?" Mr. Marble inquired.

"No, sir."

"Were you kept in the state's attorney's office as a spy by Mr. Erbstein?"

"No, sir."

Tells Attorney Erbstein.

Policeman Keeley remained on his detail at the state's attorney's office for three weeks or so after his conversations with Beckemeyer and Yarbrough. He was subpœnaed as a witness on May 23, 1909, but says he first told Erbstein about the Yarbrough and Beckemeyer statements on Aug. 2 or 3. He said at first he told the lawyer at Father Greene's residence. Then he said it was at his own house.

"I think you testified you were trying to keep Beckemeyer from drinking?" Mr. Marble suggested.

"Yes."

"And yet you bought more drinks for him?"

"Well, he said he had to have a drink and I bought it for him."

NEW POISON CASE CLEWS SOUGHT

QUESTION BOYSEN AGAIN.

Undertaker Admits He Became Ill While Eating at the Prisoner's House.

Police Capt. Harding and Coroner Hoffman were busy yesterday taking statements in the Vermilya case in preparation for the inquest on Arthur Bisonette's body Friday morning.

The coroner sent Detective Sergt. George Scrivner to find a Mr. and Mrs. Dorn who formerly lived at 2904 Groveland avenue, in order to inquire into the circumstances of their 18 year old daughter's death. It is said the girl died of gastritis after she had several quarrels with Mrs. Vermilya.

Infanticide May Be Charged.

Infanticide—the strangulation of her stepgranddaughter—may be added to the list of crimes charged to Mrs. Vermilya if the authorities develop any fear she will escape conviction on the charge of poisoning Bisonette.

If the new charge is brought the body of Mrs. Lillian Vermilya will be exhumed. She was the wife of Fred Vermilya, stepson of the prisoner. Lillian Vermilya died on June 21, 1906, ten days after a child was born to her, in Mrs. Louise Vermilya's former house at 2916 Groveland avenue.

The death certificate gave "nephritis and blood poisoning" as the cause. The child disappeared. Fred Vermilya charges his stepmother killed it.

Undertaker Charles C. Boysen, in a statement to the coroner, admitted he had become violently ill after eating ham and eggs at Mrs. Vermilya's house.

Boysen Questioned Again.

"It has been said you were engaged to marry this woman," said the coroner.

"I pledge you my word or honor as a man that is not true," Boysen replied.

"We have been told you were jealous of Smith's attentions to Mrs. Vermilya."

"I pledge you my word of honor I never saw Smith but once until the time of his death."

"Had you ever threatened to shoot Smith?"

"No, I did not. I saw Smith only once, as I passed him and Mrs. Vermilya on the sidewalk," Boysen said.

Given Revolver by Doctor.

"It is alleged Smith said he had a revolver he was carrying as aself-protection against you."

"I remember Dr. Hertel called on me and said: 'Here is a revolver Mrs. Vermilya don't want in the house.' I took it and it has been lying in my desk ever since."

"Did you ever get stomach ache while lunching at her house?"

"Once I had some ham and eggs. Before I finished eating I began to suffer pain."

"Do you remember whether you saw the pepper box there?"

"I never saw the pepper box there. She always peppered everything at the stove."

Mrs. Vermilya is not expected to be well enough to attend the inquest on Friday.

TRY POLICEMAN AS ROBBER.

Case of Patrick Conboy Continued by Judge Caverly Until Tomorrow.

Policeman Patrick Conboy was arraigned before Municipal Judge Caverly at the Chicago avenue court yesterday on a charge of robbing Michael J. O'Brien, 11 East Delaware place.

O'Brien testified that Conboy held him up at the point of a revolver a week ago Monday night and took $3 from him.

TEXAS BANKER'S WIFE FLEES FROM SANITARIUM AND ELOPES

Mrs. John B. Snead Believed to Be on Her Way to Europe with Ranch Manager's Son.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—Banker John B. Snead of Amarillo, Tex., arrived here today to find traces of his wife, who escaped from a sanitarium in Fort Worth last Friday and eloped with A. G. Boyce Jr., son of the owner of the Capitol cattle ranch, the largest in the world.

Boyce and Mrs. Snead are believed to be on their way to Europe and a dispatch from Fort Worth states that Boyce drew out $40,000 cash from a bank there just before their departure, and obtained foreign exchange for $61,000.

Snead is about 50 years old and his wife is 35. They have two children. Boyce is a handsome bachelor, a few years younger than Mrs. Snead.

Snead expressed a willingness to pay $500 for effective help in finding his wife and Boyce. It is believed they have left St. Louis and that he obtained a clew which he will follow further.

'VICE ENEMY' FACES U. S. AGENTS

Hadrian H. Baker Forced to Explain Use of $1 Subscriptions Sought by "Vigilance Committee."

Hadrian H. Baker, 4648 Vincennes avenue, yesterday appeared before Gen. James E. Stuart, postoffice inspector, to explain why he was sending out circular letters asking for $1 subscriptions to suppress vice.

Baker's communications came from the "First National Vigilance Committee," the membership of which, he explained, must be kept secret to be effective.

The inspector was assured the money was being used for carfare and other work incidental to investigation of vice conditions—also that the contributions so far had not been particularly large.

Fire Near County Jail.

The monotony of life in the county jail was interrupted yesterday by a scare when a fire attacked the building at 9-11 West Michigan street, half a block away. The building is occupied by the Massey Vise company and the Ollett Light company. The fire started on the fourth floor. The loss was about $10,000.

Earrings

The earring has returned to its former place among jewels and is now worn by women of fashion and refinement.

The barbaric custom of ear-piercing, which no doubt caused the passing of the earring, is no longer a necessity.

A new clamp—ingenious and simple—permits the wearing of a jewel on the ear with perfect security and comfort.

Our stock has just been enriched by some particularly attractive pendant earrings of diamonds and pearls set in platinum mountings.

BOOST AND KNOCK CHICAGO'S PAPERS

CRITICISM BY RIDGWAY.

Magazine Man Says Press Could Throw Away Bad Matter Without Loss.

Chicago daily newspapers were boosted and knocked last night at the seventh annual harvest home dinner of the Chicago Advertising association at the Auditorium hotel. They were held superior to all other Chicago advertising media by V. L. Price of St. Louis, vice president of the National Candy company. The criticism came from E. J. Ridgway, president of the company which publishes Everybody's Magazine, who declared that the Chicago papers should dispense with a certain amount of objectionable advertising matter in their columns.

Mr. Price, who is a recent convert to the value of newspaper advertising through the success of a campaign he now is carrying on in Chicago and other cities, declared that his company was capturing the candy goods trade of the city through well placed advertising in the neswapers and street cars to the exclusion of all other media.

Newspapers Made Good.

"We chose the daily newspapers after a thorough canvass of the situation," he said, "and after we had concluded that the circulation of the national magazines was too restricted among the purchasers of our goods to create the demand for them which the retail dealers might expect from our advertising promises. We are having a sucessful advertising campaign, and it is that which makes me talk tonight upon our 'capture of Chicago.'

"I am not prepared to say that successful advertising cannot be done through other kinds of publications and by other methods. We chose the method by which we thought we would get the best results and act fairly and honestly with the retail dealers to whom we are trying to sell goods.

"We chose the newspapers and told the dealers our advertising campaign would create that demand, and it has come true. There must be honesty in the copy as well as in methods of salesmanship and advertising, and that we have tried to live up to in every regard."

Plea for Clean Advertising.

Mr. Ridgway pleaded for clean advertising matter. He declared the public could cleanse the advertising columns of every publication and ruin all publications which did not live up to an ideal standard in this regard. He emphasized to the women present that they could greatly assist in the campaign for clean advertising by keeping publications which print offensive advertisements out of their homes.

"I am setting no standards in this regard," he said. "I will say that recently I was mortified to discover that the publications I represent had different standards of advertising. I found that Everybody's would accept an advertisement that the Butterick publications would refuse, so you see my house is not yet cleaned.

"Since I have been in Chicago I have made a study of your daily newspapers to see what the character of the advertising copy accepted by them is like."

Percentage of Bad Advertising.

Mr. Ridgway then presented his objectionable advertisement figures for the Chicago newspapers, saying he adduced them from his inspection of the newspapers. The percentage of bad advertising he says he found, which would not be accepted by any one of a dozen national magazines, follows:

The Examiner	14%
The Record-Herald	6½%
The Tribune	5%
The News	2½%
The Post	None
The American	14%
The Journal	26%

"In no instance do I find that the objectionable advertising in the Chicago newspapers' columns reaches a sufficient amount to break the publishers if thrown out entirely," he added. "The Tribune, the Record-Herald, and others would not notice the difference in their advertising receipts if they would throw out altogether this class of advertising—and what a standard it would be. In our own experience we believe that for every line of bad advertising that we have thrown away we've had ten lines come back from good, honest, legitimate business concerns who admired our stand for clean advertising."

Storm Spreads Snowy Mantle Over City's Thoroughfares.

ALDRICH LAUDS MONEY PLAN; SAYS IT WILL BENEFIT WEST.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—Currency reform and the proposed change in the banking system of the country, as outlined by the national monetary commission, was the central theme under consideration by the transmississippi commercial congress which convened today.

The principal address was delivered by former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, chairman of the monetary commission, who explained the proposed plan, especially in its effect on the people west of the Mississippi river.

He was positive the people of this section would derive great benefits from the proposed change in banking conditions. He explained how the small banker would be given independence and enlarged credit.

Referring to the criticism that possibly the proposed national reserve might be dominated by political influences, Mr. Aldrich said no sensible plan for the reorganization of the country's banking system could be controlled by politics.

"Neither can it be dominated by Wall street, or any clique in New York or elsewhere," he said. "This plan should appeal to the farmers of the west because so many of them are now stockholders and depositors in banks."

Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war, made an address during the day, in which he said that "a public forum for free discussion of vital subjects, such as this congress, is preeminently important."

WOMEN PLAN WAR ON TUBERCULOSIS

FRAUD AT AN ELECTION.

Thirty-eight Ballots Found in Box After Thirty-five Delegates Had Voted.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—War on tuberculosis was declared today by the health department of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs.

This decision was taken after Mrs. John Worthy, chairman of the department, had conferred with Dr. W. A. Evans, former health commissioner of Chicago. It is believed the federation, now in convention here, will indorse the action of its health department.

At the conference with Dr. Evans the department agreed to recommend taking a census of the tuberculosis cases of the state with a view to providing for them. Every little club in every little town is to make inventory of the tuberculosis cases of the public institutions of its community and report them to the state tuberculosis society. In the opinion of Dr. Evans this will be an important step in blotting out the disease.

Dr. Evans Asks Women's Aid.

"It is my sober judgment," said Dr. Evans, "that we are not going to get the tuberculosis problem solved until you women take it up. In doing this you will place humanity under obligation to you. You will go a long way in helping solve the world's problem.

"I believe the most urgent need is for hospitals caring for the later cases. That at least would provide for the softer side for the humanities. But the second need is for sanitaria.

"The function of a sanitarium is first to teach. Not so much to teach the sick how to get well as to instruct the well how to remain so, to teach the curative powers of God's own agency, and from that a greater trust and respect of the powers of nature. The great crying need of children is not open air nor a cold room for a school, but for a better system of ventilation and hygienic appliances than now prevail for the great mass of children."

"The fast pace of parents means the slow pace of a child at school," he said. "We are living in an age of alcoholism, automobiles, and affinities. From the tree of unfit parentage falls much of the speckled fruit of childhood. Decay, disease, ignorance are serpents which creep into the child's intelligence and destroy it. In the conservation of children we save them from the cradle to sweet 16 and then we neglect them when they need conservation most. I want not only to talk for suffrage, but to go to Springfield and help get it. When women vote childhood will have a friend at the polls."

Speakers at Night Meeting.

Miss Florence Holbrook, principal of the Forestville school of Chicago, spoke this evening on "Woman, the Teacher"; Dr. Julia Clark Strawn on "Woman, the Physician"; Miss Mary Bartelme on "Woman, the Public Guardian"; Miss Lillian Blythe on "Pigeon Raising"; Mrs. Ella W. Peattie on "Woman as a Journalist"; Mrs. Catherine Stoneman Long on "Woman as a Home Builder," and Mrs. Pauline Palmer on the "Woman in Art."

Mrs. George P. Vosbrink and Mrs. Frederick Dow were nominated for delegate to the biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in San Francisco in May.

When the ballot was taken there were discovered to be thirty-eight votes and only thirty-five voters. The decision was postponed.

'LIT UP'; WARM; SHEDS CLOTHES

If the sale of the brand of whisky dispensed in certain barrooms in Crystal Lake, Ill., ever becomes general it would do much to ameliorate the rigors of the climate in the middle west.

Emil Kirch, farm hand, took some of it yesterday just before he boarded a train for Chicago. When he arrived here he was so "lit up" and warmed up that he felt positively suffocated in his clothes, notwithstanding the snow outside.

A policeman found Emil in a washroom of the new Northwestern railroad station, clad only in a happy smile and the circumambient atmosphere. He said the Crystal Lake whisky "het up" his blood.

ASSEMBLY QUITS; STATUTES IN PERIL

was sent to the clerk's desk and read, while the anti-Deneen members laughed.

The house resolution in the intervening moments had been sent over to the senate chamber. Lieut. Gov. Oglesby was presiding over a vacant chamber. Not a senator was in the capitol building. Acting under the authority which is said to have been granted to him by unanimous consent of the senators last week the lieutenant governor banged his gavel and declared the sine die adjournment resolution adopted.

Thereupon appeared Secretary Whittaker with the prorogueument message. The lieutenant governor decided not to receive it at first, inasmuch as he ruled that the senate had adjourned, and Secretary Whittaker carried it back down to the second floor. A few moments later Oglesby sent down and asked the governor to send back the message and was about to have it spread upon the records, when the governr sent a messenger to the senate and asked that it be returned to him, in order that the record of the transaction be maintained in perfect form.

Not in Senate Journal.

The lieutenant governor requested a receipt for the same, and therefore the prorogueument document does not appear in the senate journal as having been received or offered.

It is in the house journal, however, having been read at large, and with it the business of paying the legislators an extra per diem on the books as having followed the reading of the governor's communication.

The amusing angle of the controversy and its denouement became pronounced tonight when the positions of the contending parties changed materially. Gov. Deneen, it is whispered, hopes the sine die adjournment was valid and stands as such, while the legislative contingent which has been belligerent is prepared to contend that the general assembly has been actually prorogued by proclamation of Gov. Deneen, and for all practical purposes, such as the election of a United States senator, should there be a vacancy prior to Jan. 8, 1913, is in perfect legal and constitutional condition to proceed with a senatorial election, inasmuch as it is still in constructive session.

The point made politically is that if there has been a sine die adjournment there is no question of the ability of the governor to appoint a United States senator in case there is a vacancy, and if there has been a prorogueument or an "adjournment" by direction of the governor, it will be a case to be determined subsequently by the committee on privileges and elections of the United States senate, should such a contingency arise. It is believed in state administration circles that this particular point has not entered into the developments of today in Springfield.

It is understood that the constitutional point involved in the pending Supreme court case never has been tested in the Supreme court, and this is admitted by the defenders of the custom which has obtained in the legislature.

The failure of Speaker Adkins and the house organization to rally 102 members into Springfield for the purpose of voting on the three pending appropriation bills and the subsequent sine die adjournment leaves the extra session employes with their pay still coming to them.

The situation leaves the state capitol building without a roof on the dome as a result of the storm last month. The dome is covered with tar paper, which is not guaranteed beyond three more weeks. Chunks of the dome blew down into the first floor of the capitol during the storm last Saturday.

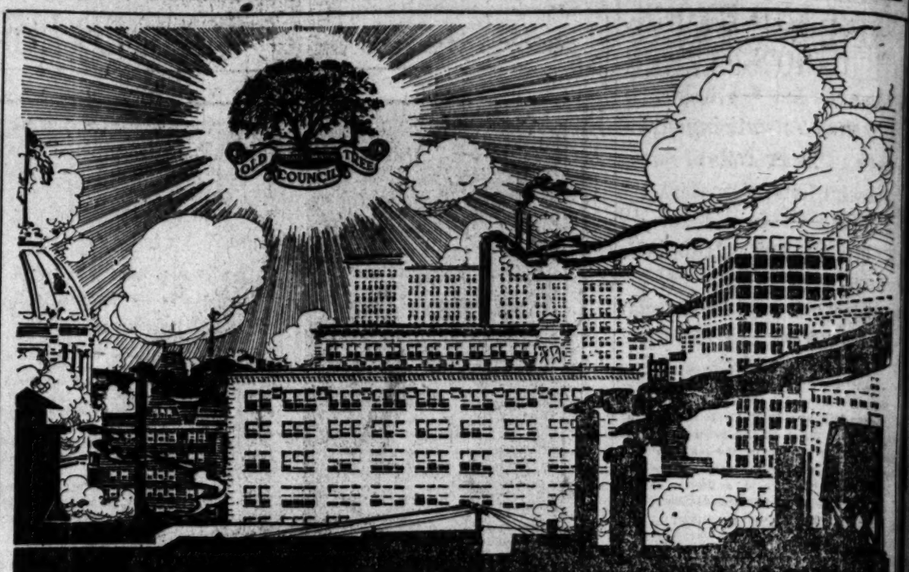
When they appear it simply announces the fact to you that your skin is lacking in the proper heat and nourishment supply. Some specific with heating properties is required to help the nourishing properties to penetrate through the outer layers of skin down to the fibrous tissues where the evil begins. Experiments were made some time ago, and the best specific known today is thermodized jelly. Get an ounce and a half of your druggist and apply in the morning after a thorough scrub with warm water. The results are apparent from the first. In the course of a few weeks the most stubborn wrinkles, double chin, blackheads, etc., will be—if not totally eradicated—at least so diminished and retiring that you will be joyfully enthused over this treatment.—Advt.



OLD COUNCIL TREE BOND

Is becoming a big factor in business. Merchants are rapidly learning the value of a good bond paper to back up their advertising. Heretofore thousands of you have absolutely ignored the importance of letterheads and high-class office stationery.

If you advertisers answer inquiries on any old letterhead you happen to have handy you are killing the efficacy of your advertising. You are saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung.

Remember that your follow-up system is as important as the original advertising. Every letter you write must help to strengthen the impressions you create. OLD COUNCIL TREE BOND is not only a powerful aid to the follow-up system but in fine letterheads is an advertising campaign in itself.

Buy it in bulk and make your office stationery uniform, refined, dignified, classy, attractive and impressive. Many a big business can be built up on this basis, and if you are inclined to doubt the statement, try it on your next order.

Telephone to our Chicago office, Central 6186, and have our representative call on you with samples of OLD COUNCIL TREE BOND in various beautiful shades. It might strengthen your views regarding the value of letterheads.

GREATEST RUG SALE ON RECORD

LOWEST PRICES EVER QUOTED

Sale prices hold good all this week. Come today if at all possible. Patterns are limited. Come early.

Chicago House Wrecking Co.

Open daily from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Come Saturday afternoon, if you can't get away until then.

How They Were Bought

Our Rug Buyers have just returned from New York City. The sale was held by the largest and most reputable rug manufacturers in the world—Alexander Smith & Sons, 105 5th Ave., New York, N. Y. The sale lasted from Tuesday, Oct. 31, to Saturday, Nov. 4. During these five days many million dollars' worth of rugs were sold under the hammer. We procured many thousands of rugs, special care being given to attractiveness and real worth. Most of these rugs were bought at less than cost of manufacture.

How They Will Be Sold

Every Rug of this Immense Purchase will be opened and put on display as quickly as it arrives. Thousands are coming in daily. In many cases there are but three or six rugs of a pattern. The early buyer gets first choice. Being located out of the "High Rent District," our selling expense is reduced to the minimum. You benefit by our buying as well as our sales methods. We share all our bargains with our customers.

The Smith Mills are located at Yonkers, N. Y. Their rugs are accepted as standards of quality by dealers the world over. Our buyers, who have been through these immense mills, are enthusiastic over the high quality of the materials used in manufacture, the permanent richness of the colors and the magnificent new designs.

WE attended the auction for YOU. We bought the best lots of these standard quality rugs for your use and benefit. You may never again have the rare opportunity now offered you. A small deposit will hold any rugs you want for future delivery.

There is no attempt at deception through artificial or subdued means of lighting. You can see exactly what you are going to get—shades and colors will appear exactly as they will in your own home. This assures you of permanent satisfaction.

Greater Sales of Poslam Than Any Other Skin Remedy

Ask any leading druggist—retail or wholesale—throughout the country which remedy for skin diseases he sells most of. "Poslam," he will reply unhesitatingly. And if he has seen its wonderful work in healing aggravated and distressing skin affections—which so many druggists save an opportunity to observe—he will state the reason; because of real and positive merit and its vast superiority over all other methods of treatment.

On its merit alone, Poslam has become the remedial success of the century, quickly eradicating deeply-seated diseases which have been endured for years. It stops itching at once. All eczemas, acne, tetter, barbers' itch, scaly scalp, pimples and all skin disorders yield to it readily.

If you need a remedy for any skin affection, minor or virulent, employ the most successful one, the one surest, most dependable, the genuine Poslam, which may be obtained for 50 cents from the Central, Economical, Public and Independent drug stores; drug depts. The Fair and Rothschild's, or any druggist.

For free sample write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th street, New York City.

CHINA'S FATE IN ONE MAN'S HANDS

Yuan Shi Kai May Become the Premier or President, as He Wills.

REBELS CALL ON GENERAL

Strong Man of Far Cathay Asked by Leader of Revolutionaries to Assume Chieftainship.

PEKING, Nov. 14.—Yuan Shi Kai has been offered the presidency of the republic of China. The offer has come from the rebel general, Li Yuen-Heng, and, in a way, offsets the government overtures that he take the monarchical premiership.

The fate of China, in so far as the form of government is concerned, seems to lie with Yuan Shi Kai. Organizer of the original modern army of the Celestial empire, the admitted "strong man" of far Cathay, he is in position to recommend and enforce the abdication of the 5 year old emperor and take his place as chief of the great monarchian empire. His intention is in doubt.

Yuan Shi Kai in his conferences today with the prince regent, Prince Chun, the acting premier, Prince Ching, and other members of the nominal cabinet took occasion to point out the insecurity of that office, the retention of which depends upon the caprice of the national assembly. Yuan Shi Kai, if he accepts the premiership at all, desires a fixed term of office, and he so stated to the regent. But he must obtain this through the national assembly, as an edict would be likely to arouse suspicion.

There is another possibility—Yuan Shi Kai may be considering the alternative of a republic and may himself recommend the abdication of the emperor.

Fear of Manchu Intrigues.

He reports that the rebel leader, Gen. Li Yuen-Heng, said he would obey his orders if Yuan would consent to become president, but would not recognize him as a Manchu premier. In his opinion it would not be difficult to reconcile the provinces, most of which are giving the strongest evidences of a desire for peace. The complete constitution already pledged would satisfy the revolutionaries, except for the fear that Manchu intrigue would begin immediately arms were laid down.

One of the prominent members of the national assembly today informed a foreign legation attaché that a majority would prefer to reorganize the government on the lines of a republic.

Financial stress is being felt by the administration. The board of finance has only about $300,000, while the late empress dowager's hoarded silver and gold is not thought to amount to more than $3,000,000, the palace, it is said, having contributed largely to famine funds and other charities, as well as for the Hankow and other campaigns.

American Guns Cover Amoy.

AMOY, Nov. 14.—The arrival of the American cruiser Saratoga, the monitor Monterey, and the gunboat Quiros, and the British torpedo boat destroyers Janus and Virago this morning helped to restore confidence.

The republican tricolor waves over the city. There is no disorder.

Mukden Leaves Empire.

TIEN TSIN, Nov. 14.—Mukden, in Manchuria, has proclaimed itself independent of the Peking government. A provincial autonomous government has been formed under charge of a viceroy.

AUTHOR OF "QUO VADIS" SHOT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VIENNA, Nov. 14.—A dispatch from Lemberg says that Henryk Sienkiewicz, author of "Quo Vadis," was shot while shooting pheasants today. The shooting was done by another party, who aimed at a pheasant. Some of the shot lodged in the novelist's forehead near the left eye, and his knee also was injured. He is in a hospital at Warsaw.

Bride Found Dead on Wedding Morn.

WEDDING BELLS RING KNELL FOR BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM.

Cries for Help of Couple Locked in Gas Filled Room Drowned by Clangor from Church Across Street.

Church bells at Holy Innocents church announced the approaching marriage of Frank Mycek to Stella Gera yesterday morning. They were in reality sounding the death knell of the two, for across the street Mycek and Miss Gera were being slowly asphyxiated in their future residence at 1414 West Superior street. Owing to the clanging of the church bells they were unable to make their cries for help heard.

Their bodies were discovered by Adolph Mycek, brother of the groom-to-be, and Miss Stepka Giza, who was to have been bridesmaid at the wedding. Mycek and Miss Giza had called to take the bride and groom to the church.

Mycek, who resided with his brother at 1135 West Chicago avenue, had left home before 7 o'clock, as he and his fiancée wished to make a visit of inspection to their future residence before the wedding.

Miss Giza, with whom Miss Gera resided at Huron and Noble streets, and Mycek's brother were to call for the two at their Superior street residence at 9 o'clock.

The church bells were just ringing as Adolph Mycek and Miss Giza left to call for the bride and groom-to-be. When they arrived at the Superior street address they found Jan Gniadek, a groceryman at 727 Noble street, pounding on the door.

Forcing their way into the room, the three found the bodies dying near the threshold, where the victims had vainly tried to get air. Gas was pouring from a leak in a fixture in a corner of the room.

The key had been twisted almost double by Mycek and Miss Gera in their frenzied efforts to unlock the door. The girl's bridal veil was clutched tightly in her hands and was torn down the center. Pieces of a chair and battered walls showed how the prisoners had tried to attract attention.

Four Thousand Countrymen in Dakota to Go Back to Help the Sultan.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14.—According to the newspapers Great Britain, France, and Russia have assured Turkey that they will not allow the Italians to bombard Smyrna, Saloniki, or Beyreuth or to blockade the Dardanelles.

The government has issued a statement contradicting its announcement that thirty Italian warships had been sighted in the Ægean sea.

Turks' Fire Improves.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, Nov. 14.—The attack upon the trenches at Tripoli on Monday was carried out by the Turks without the aid of the Arabs. Their artillery fire was much improved in accuracy and the loss to the Italians was seven men.

One thousand large water tanks have been dispatched from Naples to Tripoli. It is understood that this is in preparation of the advance into the interior. The Turks are reported to have abandoned their headquarters at Ainzara and to have transferred them to Gargaresch.

Torpedo Boat Bombards Fort.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TRIPOLI, Nov. 14.—An Italian torpedo boat has explored the coast as far as the Tunisian frontier. It bombarded the Turkish port of Forona. The garrison fled.

NO OVERTURES TO UNITED STATES.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—The state department has heard from Turkey or Italy nothing that would suggest an extension of the good offices of the United States to terminate the war since the notification from the Italian government of the annexation of Tripoli.

That notification was accompanied by an intimation that the good offices of any of the signatory powers of The Hague convention would be welcomed.

As it was conditioned upon the acceptance as a fact of the annexation of Tripoli, the state department did not feel free to move in the matter, for any such overtures by the United States to Turkey would fall within the category of intervention, which the state department has resolutely refused to undertake.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LOURENZO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa, Nov. 14.—The Rev. A. J. Douglas, bishop of Nyasaland, has been murdered, according to a report from the governor of Nyasaland. A Portuguese official is said to have shot the bishop following an altercation at Kanjo, on the Portuguese side of Lake Nyasa. Three women in the bishop's party returned to Likoma. The British resident at Kutakoa is investigating the matter.

WARM WELCOME FOR DR. ELIOT.

Parliamentary Arbitration Group in Paris Gives Cordial Reception to American Peace Advocate

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The parliamentary arbitration group in the senate chamber today gave a cordial reception to Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university.

Baron d'Estournelles de Constant presided and expressed the felicitations of the group over the American educator's work in the interests of peace, and the attitude of American universities toward the extension of the policy of arbitration in the settlement of the quarrels of the world, as proposed by President Taft.

Responding, Dr. Eliot declared the campaign for arbitration was making great progress in the public opinion of America. He is on his way to the orient to study under the auspices of the Carnegie peace foundation.

RUSSIAN WARNING TO PERSIA.

St. Petersburg Dispatch Says That Activities of Treasurer General Are Odious to Czar.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Daily News in a despatch from St. Petersburg says that it is understood that Russia has directed minister Poklevsky that as soon as a responsible ministry has been formed at Teheran to notify the cabinet that further exercise of the authority of treasurer-general Shuster within the Russian zone will be regarded as an unfriendly act.

AMERICAN BALLOONIST MIX SAID TO HAVE DROWNED SELF.

Overcoat with Farewell Note Found on Channel Boat in Which He Had Been a Passenger.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—It is reported here that Edgar W. Mix, the American balloonist, committed suicide Sunday night by jumping from a channel steamer. The report was made to United States Consul Mason in Paris by the American consul, James B. Milner, at Calais, who in turn received the information from the French maritime inspector.

The boat from which Mr. Mix is supposed to have jumped was the mail steamer that left Dover, England, at 11 o'clock Sunday night for Calais. Mr. Mix's overcoat, containing a letter to the captain of the boat and 12 shillings, was found.

Mr. Mix had been chosen to represent the Aero club of America at the international aviation congress at Rome on Nov. 25.

MAINE SUNK FROM OUTSIDE?

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The outside bottom plate of the Maine at frame 28 on the port side has been found to have been blown up and folded upward and over toward the keel, overlaying the inner bottom where the six inch magazine rested. This would seem to afford the strongest evidence of an external explosion. At a point about 100 feet aft from the bow a body was recovered in the boiler room. It is that of a man about six feet three inches.

NEW SPEED RECORD:

Fastest Long Distance Train in the World

The Great Northern Railway established a new record recently by making a run from Seattle to St. Paul with eight cars of silk and other merchandise in forty-five hours and sixteen minutes.

This is two hours and fourteen minutes faster than the fastest regular train (The Great Northern Fast Mail) in service between these terminals, and is thirteen hours and forty-four minutes faster than the fastest passenger train. A new coast-to-coast record (Seattle to New York) in conjunction with other lines was made possible through this great performance.

This remarkable record could only be made over a perfect road-bed. Ninety-pound rails, double track in the mountains, gravel and rock ballast and block signals are the factors that enabled the Great Northern to do this, and to operate daily the Fast Mail—St. Paul and Minneapolis to Seattle—the fastest long distance train in the world.

This is the logical route over which to buy your tickets and ship your freight and express.

PICKERING'S CASE CAUSES BIG ROW

HEARING SET FOR TODAY.

Williams Says Springing Protest Just Before Game Is Unsportsmanlike.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—Whether Capt. Pickering, full back of the University of Minnesota football team, will participate in the game with the University of Wisconsin on Saturday, whether the game will be played and whether football relations between the two universities are to continue, probably will be decided at a conference to be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. G. W. Ehler of the University of Wisconsin athletic committee arrived today and protested Capt. Pickering, alleging that he has played professional baseball.

No protests have been lodged against Halfback Stevens, who, according to dispatches from Madison, also was to be protested along with another Minnesota player on the same grounds.

At the meeting held late this afternoon no decision was reached. James Paige, acting dean of the law department, and chairman of the Minnesota eligibility committee, tonight refused to make any statement concerning probable action.

"I decline to discuss the matter," he said, "as we are in the midst of the conference, and it will not be decided until tomorrow."

May Cause Big Split.

According to Dr. Williams, Minnesota's coach, the protest against Pickering, if sustained, may mean the cancellation of the game and the breaking of football relations with Wisconsin.

"If Wisconsin has any evidence against Pickering," he said, "it must have had it all fall and waited to spring it on Minnesota four days before the game in order to cripple and break up our team. That is not the spirit of sportsmanship and purity in athletics.

"If the Wisconsin authorities take any such unsportsmanlike attitude they are not the kind of people Minnesota cares to compete with. Rather than stand for any such unfair tactics, I have no doubt Minnesota would be in favor of cancelling the game and dropping Wisconsin altogether.

No Counter Protest.

"As for the statement that Minnesota has been contemplating charges against Moll and another member of the Wisconsin team known to have played professional baseball last summer, it is untrue. One of the principal benefits which is supposed to be derived from the conference is that all eleventh hour protests and counter protests be abolished."

"The matter is entirely in the hands of the Minnesota council," said Mr. Ehler tonight, "and we do not wish to give any information on the subject. We have turned over all our material to Minnesota and the matter finally will be decided tomorrow. It is simply up to Minnesota."

PICK NEIL SNOW AS OFFICIAL FOR YALE-PRINCETON CONTEST

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—In choosing officials for Saturday's annual game athletic authorities of Yale and Princeton have gone into new fields for material. Perhaps the principal surprise was the naming of Neil Snow, a western man, for head linesman. Snow is well known as an official in the west and won his college letter in football, baseball, and track athletics at the University of Michigan. This is his first eastern appearance. Carl Williams of Pennsylvania is appointed umpire. He never before worked in a big Yale match. The other officials are Langford of Trinity as referee and Costello of Cornell as field judge.

"Pudge" Heffelfinger arrived from St. Paul to assist in the coaching. There are sixteen tutors here now. The coaches ordered a fifteen minute session against the freshmen and a fifteen minutes' drill against the scrubs. While Capt. Howe remained in the play the regulars rammed two touchdowns through the scrubs, Dunn, the full back, shooting thirty yards through center for one, and Sheldon, who replaced Avery at left end, picking up a fumble and chasing twenty yards for the other. Avery and Bomeister again changed places at end, Dunn returning to full back.

At Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Princeton eleven was sent through an extremely long practice. There was a hard scrimmage, which lasted over an hour. The greater part of the practice was devoted to building up an offense, which department is the coaches' greatest difficulty at this time. The scrubs repeatedly held the varsity and broke up plays. Andrews and Dewitt showing up well at kicking. Aughan, Hart, White, and Dewitt were not in the scrimmage during the entire time, but were given a rest and substitutes were sent in to take their places. Hammond and Dunlap were in at end, but Mott later took his place and put up a snappy game. Farr was in togs today for the first time in several weeks. He still limps and will hardly be able to play on Saturday. Pendleton ran the team at quarter today and he looks like the choice for the Yale game.

At Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Coach Haughton made another shift in the order of the Harvard varsity line today on the eve of the game with Dartmouth. Storer, the regular center, being changed to tackle to fill the hole there, while Parmenter, a sub center, is now at the pivotal position. Fisher was back at guard. The work was light, a scrimmage with the scrubs for half an hour and a short signal drill being the order. Campbell, the left half, who has been out for some time, was back in the lineup and will play on Saturday, while Felton, the star punter, who did a good deal of kicking, will also play. The varsity held a long signal drill tonight in the gymnasium.

MICHIGAN CRIPPLES RETURN.

Craig Back in Togs, While McMillan Is Expected Today—Heston and Garrels to Assist Yost.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Another day of cold weather and snow made Ferry field too hard for any real work. As a result the major part of the day's practice was the after dinner session in the gymnasium, where Yost lined up the team that will face Penn on Saturday, running through signals. At present it looks as if the entire bunch of cripples will be able to start, and, unless the continued cold weather and hard field cause injuries early in the game, the Michigan first team may be able to stick through the game. Craig was out in football togs today and McMillan is expected tomorrow.

Willie Heston and Johnny Garrels, two of the greatest Michigan players, and Hal Weeks, a former half back, today responded to the call of the Michigan alumni, temporarily deserted their positions in Detroit, and passed the day at Ann Arbor helping Yost to whip his eleven into shape.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—The University of Pennsylvania football team today held its final practice on Franklin field in preparation for the game with Michigan on Saturday. The squad will leave tomorrow at noon for Detroit, where it will be quartered at the Detroit Country club until the day of the game.

REFUSES CO-EDS URBANA TRIP.

Dean Potter Tells Northwestern Girls They Will Not Be Allowed to Accompany Football Team.

More than 200 young women students at Northwestern university have lost in their efforts to gain permission to accompany the football team of their school to Urbana on Saturday, when it plays the University of Illinois team. Formal announcement of this was made yesterday after they had appealed to President A. W. Harris, the head of the school. Last week the young women went out on the campus and other places and sold over 200 tickets. They fully expected to be allowed to go themselves until Miss Mary Potter, dean of women at the school, informed them they could not make the trip.

A petition was then presented to President Harris. He called in Dean T. F. Colgate, head of the college of liberal arts, and they decided to uphold Dean Potter in her ruling.

Bad Weather Again Prevents Scrimmage Practice at Ithaca.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The elements again baffled the Cornell football squad today and instead of the scrimmage which the coaches had hoped for, the best that could be done was the working out of a series of new plays which are likely to be sprung in the Chicago game on Saturday.

These plays were first explained in a blackboard talk and subsequently put into execution in the signal practice. It is thought the Ithacans will use some of them on Saturday.

O'Rourke, left guard, was the only absentee from the lineup. It was explained there was nothing much the matter with him, but hard work in the last few weeks has worn him out a bit and Trainer Moakley said a rest would do him good.

In O'Rourke's place Delano, who was a regular member of the team last year, was tried. The remainder of the Cornell lineup was Eyrich and Fritz, ends; Munk and Champaign, tackles; O'Rourke and Munns, guards; Jessel Whyte, center; Butler, quarter back; O'Connor and Whyte, half back, and Underhill, full back.

In addition to the signal work Coach Walder took O'Connor, Whyte, and Underhill off on one side and tried them out on line plays, getting into the work himself and mixing it up with the men. The team will hold a hard practice tomorrow and leave for Chicago Thursday night.

STAGG PUTS MAROONS TO TEST.

Coach Stagg put his Maroons through another day of hard work yesterday, in which they showed a great improvement in open field work. To have a "look-in" for Saturday's game with Cornell, however, Stagg says they must show far greater strength in every department.

Stagg was particularly disappointed with the work of the line and its weakness in tackling. This has been the greatest fault during the entire season, and even constant hammering has failed to bring any marked improvement. The entire squad, subs and all, took part in the work yesterday. The practice was a scrimmage with the freshmen, in which the varsity and scrubs alternated in opposing the first year men. No attempt at scoring was made, but the freshmen gave the regulars a hard run.

In the scrimmage Davenport showed well at half, breaking through the yearlings with little difficulty. Paine's attempts at forward passes were somewhat of a failure, showing that a hangover from Saturday still lingers about the squad. The players were kept on the field until long after dark.

CHICAGO CUEIST TAKES GAME.

Harris Defeats Reynolds of Kansas City, 50 to 38, in the National Three Cushion League.

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.

Pittsburgh	3	3	.500	Philadelphia	0	3	.000

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—A. J. Harris of Chicago defeated Fred Reynolds of Kansas City, 50 to 38, in 82 innings, in tonight's game of the National Amateur three cushion billiard league. Harris' high run was 6, and that of Reynolds 4.

New York, Nov. 14.—In a game played in Brooklyn tonight in the three cushion National Amateur Billiard league, Charles Warren of Boston defeated John Huking of Brooklyn, 50 to 31, in 118 innings. Warren made two runs of 4 and one of 5. Huking made two runs of 3.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Hughes [45] defeated Jenkins [42], 48 to 29 in the three cushion optional ball tournament at Foley's. Wood [50] and Van Hafften [47], tonight.

Newman [47] defeated Holly [43], 47 to 37, in the three cushion tournament at Stillson's, and Mack [45] defeated Skitch [47], 45 to 39.

George Sutton defeated Joe Capron, 500 to 285, in a 500 point match at 18-2 at his Wabash avenue rooms yesterday. The former champion averaged 55 10-14, with high run of 131.

Gould and Parks [44] won from Fisher and Wagner [39], in the three cushion Derby at Mussey's, by 2 points. Tonight Alexander and Hayward [44] vs. Sayles and Rogers [44].

In the straight rail tournament at Bensinger's Monroe street rooms Nickey [140] won his first game of the tournament, defeating Mace [150], 140 to 146.

Shaw was ill and unable to meet White in the second block of their pocket billiard match at Hemmer's new room. They will play 100 balls tonight.

Forker was sick and unable to appear in the three cushion tournament at Weeghman's. Chapman and H. Goodman [37] vs. Scott and Perry [36], tonight.

Thomas Hueston, former three cushion champion, won both games at Weeghman's rooms, defeating Julius Krulewich, 50 to 37 in 83 innings in the afternoon, and Klatcher, 50 to 44 in 79 innings at night. Hueston will play Wally White this afternoon, and Becker at night.

Gotch to Wrestle Asbell.

One of the largest wrestling cards ever staged at the Chicago Athletic association has been arranged for Saturday night by H. H. Latham, chairman of the athletic committee, and Martin Delaney, director of athletics. Gotch will appear in a handicap match agreeing to throw Jim Asbell of Joplin, Mo., twice in thirty minutes. Mahmout will take on Marvin Plestina, the Austrian strong man who scales 220 pounds. Yussiff Hussane will meet Frank Dalkus, a Lithuanian heavyweight, and Ernest Kartje will tackle Tony Ball, the Lithuanian middleweight.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

JUST S'POSIN' THE CASE.

If every man were square, lad,
Less would our troubles be;
We'd take a stranger at his say,
Not come back with "Show me!"
To "get it straight" would dwindle to
A commonplace affair;
No Ananias club could thrive
If every man were square.

If every man were square, lad,
A bet you'd dare to make,
Assured the other had no cinch,
No padlock on the stake;
The "cut and dried" thing would not then
The credulous ensnare;
If every man were square.

If every man were square, lad,
How space could be conserved!
Much room is lost in housing folks
Irregularly curved.
To be "packed close as sardines"
But illy would compare
With how they'd stow an audience
If every man were square.

If every man were square, lad—
But wotinel's the use?
Hypotheses are flimsy texts,
Soon frazzled by abuse.
The topic's yours to daily with
If in it there's more "wear";
I quitclaim, with no "rights reserved"—
THIS, lad, is on the square.

If boxing has been deprived of a foothold in England, as seems to be the calamity, the natives can blame their tolerance of a few foreign bounders—Australian and American—whom they suffered to come among them with their improved methods of getting the money and getting it quick. The attempt to "stage" the ill assorted match between Johnson and Wells in the face of an adverse sporting opinion was the beginning of this seemingly successful anti crusade. (Now please don't hyphenate "anti" and "crusade.")

O, yes, Carl Morris he came back
Amid reverberating clack.
He came back just like the cat
To where he was—but where was that?

Where was he ere he wandered hence—
Ere Flynn kicked holes in his defense?
Did you regard this precious lot
The makings of a champion—what?

Now tell us who this Geyer is,
Who doggedly accepted his,
And stupidly came back for more—
Now where did HE tend bar before?

And in the teeth of the blizzard comes the election of officers of the Delavan Lake Yacht club. This deepens the impression that one has to have a lively imagination to maintain a summer home at one of those inland wet spots.

H. Orville ("Pat") Page's bubbling optimism stands out in sharp relief against the background of his superior's gloomy cynicism. At least it did yesterday. Naturally we have not lampooned the surrounding territory this morning, as this is a day job. It may be that the pair have switched attitudes since the night before last.

But—and there being no point in assuming a jollity when we have it not—if the Maroon can even furnish common amusement for Cornell, form and football are total strangers.

When they came in Mr. McClure said, "Hemp, you certainly play the civil war game." "How so, how so?" asked Hemp, biting early.

"Why," said Mac, "you went out in 61 and came home in 65." TED.

Board of Education Passes Resolution Shutting Off Game at Cleveland—Students Ask Favorable Action.

BY PREP.

Oak Park's high school team, prospective champion of the Cook County High School Football league will not take an eastern trip or even a jaunt outside of Cook county this year, unless the board of education of Oak Park can be induced to reconsider a resolution passed yesterday which prohibits the team from engaging in athletic contests outside of the county. Petitions were started last night in the hope of having the board's decision reversed.

Girl students rallied to the assistance of the team and started the ball rolling with a petition diplomatically polite, but strongly worded. These will be distributed through the suburb today, and it is expected by tonight the list will be long enough to stagger even the most stony hearted.

Oak Park already had made arrangements to go to Cleveland to play the champions of Ohio in a contest scheduled for Thanksgiving day. If the protests fail the Buckeye team will be asked to come here.

Trier, the star end of last year's team, has made up his back work and will be eligible to compete against Hyde Park at Marshall field on Saturday morning. Coach Zuppke said yesterday that Trier probably would play at right end. Gill and Timme, who have been used alternately in this position, are out of the game owing to injuries. Gill sprained an ankle in yesterday's practice, while Timme is suffering from a badly cut hand received in the scrimmage drill.

Lake completed arrangements for a game with Danville High school on the latter's grounds on Thanksgiving day. Negotiations are on for a contest between Bowen and Princeton, Ill., on the latter's field on Turkey day.

ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

Fred Smith of the Remnants in the Sheridan Bowling league set a new season's record for his league last night when he averaged 229 for his series against the Reidsmas. His games were 211, 231, and 245. The Reidsmas managed to pull the first game out of the fire before Smith caught his full stride, the Remnants winning the other two games, their last total being 1,001. Samuels averaged 206 1-3 for the losing side.

Crescents made a gallant stand against the Lord Egerzons in the North Chicago league, but lost two games after taking the opener. Both clubs averaged over 900. City Champion Bob Kirch was another star performer of the night, with an average of 207 2-3 on the Alvord team in the North Chicago.

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

Alec and Robert Taylor were visitors in the city yesterday. The former, for many years at the Exmoor Country club, is now at Cincinnati with the Losantiville club. He will leave tomorrow for his winter engagement at Coronado Beach, Cal. Robert, who is located at St. Paul, will later go to Coronado.

Crafts W. Higgins, editor of the Golfers' Magazine, is ill at the Hahnemann hospital with pneumonia, but last night was reported as getting along well. Mr. Higgins, who is one of the best posted men on the rules of golf in this country, was planning to start on a trip to the Pacific coast, but was stricken last Sunday.

HARRY FORBES WINS BY SKILL.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Harry Forbes, the veteran bantam from Chicago, defeated Charlie Goldman of Brooklyn tonight in their ten round fight at the Royal A. C. in Brooklyn. Forbes' work in the early part of the contest entitled him to the decision, although Goldman nearly had him out in the last round. Forbes landed cleaner blows and was shifty on his feet. Goldman was strong, however, and waded right in, taking plenty of chances in order to attempt a knockout blow.

Leach Cross Victor Over Maloney.

New York, Nov. 14.—Leach Cross won over Tommy Maloney, both local lightweights, in a ten round bout here tonight. Maloney was sent to the floor with a right smash to the jaw in the first round, but was up quickly. He fought savagely to overcome the advantage this knockdown gave Cross, but was unsuccessful.

Clabby to Meet Arthur Cripps.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Word comes from Australia that Jimmy Clabby's first opponent in Sydney will be Arthur Cripps, the former Australian champion middleweight. They will meet in a twenty round bout at the stadium this month.

Ross Outpoints Morris.

MINORS READY FOR MEETING

VIGOROUS FIGHT PROMISED.

Many Leagues to Protest on "Optional Agreement" Practice.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 14.—A majority of delegates to the 1911 convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues arrived early tonight on a special train from St. Louis. The delegation was met at Austin by a local committee and after a reception by Gov. Colquitt was escorted to San Antonio.

The opening session will be held tomorrow at 10 o'clock. Preparations for the meeting were made aboard the train by the board of arbitration. A vigorous contest is promised by opponents of the "optional agreement" practice. It is contended that present conditions permit cornering of practically all available talent. In the fight against the optional agreements are the Pacific Coast, Texas, Western Canada, Southwest Texas, and Wisconsin-Illinois leagues.

Joe Gardner, owner of the Dallas club in the Texas league, will advocate a stronger central government for the National association with a president who will devote all of his time to the interests of the minor leagues.

Among those who arrived tonight was President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals. President Murphy will go hunting on the Taft ranch in southwestern Texas after the convention adjourns.

MILWAUKEE HAS WORLD'S CHAMPION BASEBALL BUG.

J. J. Lawres in Seventeen Years Gathers Record of 17,000 Players in Forty-two Volumes.

BY SAM WELLER.

The world's champion baseball bug hails from Milwaukee. He came into Chicago yesterday with a grip full of samples of his wares, which have been collected since the spring of 1894, and before he becomes a neurotic, he hopes to sell out and give all of his time to his job on the railroad. Seventeen years of "doping" the national pastime has weighted him down with trouble and care, for, although he began as a vest pocket authority on baseball arguments, his hobby grew year after year, until now he has forty-two volumes of stuff and it takes him three hours a day to keep abreast of the times.

This fan has the records of 17,000 different ball players in his books and can answer anything that has happened in baseball for the last seventeen years. The fan's name is J. J. Lawres, and he takes some pride in being considered an authority on the game. He has furnished information to baseball publications so often that now he gets letters almost daily asking him to decide arguments. Valuing his time at 25 cents an hour, he estimates it has cost him over $3,000 to collect his data. In the whole time he has been able to sell only a few records and thus get back a few dollars to reward him. But he thinks he has answered 10,000 questions on baseball for nothing.

Mr. Lawres' hobby has now reached the point where he must stop or give up his job, and he's unable to decide if there's merit in the saying: "If baseball interferes with your business, give up your business."

COMPLETES PLAN FOR GIANTS.

Business Manager Bancroft Arranges Four Games in U. S. Before the Team Goes to Cuba.

New York, Nov. 14.—Frank C. Bancroft has completed arrangements for the New York Giants' trip to Cuba. A special train will leave New York tomorrow, arriving at Jacksonville on Thursday. The Giants will play in Jacksonville Nov. 17, Miami Nov. 21 and 22, and Key West Nov. 24. They will take the steamer that night, arriving at Havana on Nov. 25. Mr. Bancroft has arranged twelve games with leading Cuban teams, the party returning home in time for Christmas. The party consists of Bancroft, Manager McGraw, and Players Mathewson, Crandall, Wiltse, Wilson, Hartley, Devlin, Doyle, Fletcher, Herzog, Becker, Devore, Paulette, and Latham.

APPEAL TODAY TO SAVE TRACK.

Members of Washington Park Speedway Club to Wait Upon South Park Commissioners.

In the hope that the speedway in Washington park would be saved, a committee of nine members of the Washington Park Speedway club was appointed last night at a meeting of the organization to wait upon the south park commissioners this afternoon and urge that the old course used for many years by amateur drivers be preserved. The committee consists of the following residents of the south side: E. R. Johns, chairman; Ira J. Mix, John R. Thompson, William J. Davis, George K. Cornell, A. A. Lawder, Fred Halsey, H. P. Kenney, and John Dempsey.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MELBOURNE, Nov. 14.—Jack Donaldson of South Africa won the world's championship professional sprint races here today from A. B. Postle of Australia. Postle won the 80 yards sprint in :07 4-5, but Donaldson took the 100 and 110 yard dashes, the former in :09 3-5 and the latter in :10 4-5. The races were run on the grass.

YANKEE TURFMEN LIKED IN ENGLAND

Americans Have Made Themselves Popular by Good Sportsmanship.

MUCH COIN GOES ABROAD.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The American racehorse owners have made themselves popular in England by their good sportsmanship and the fact their horses are out to win on every occasion. The American trainers also equally are appreciated and nothing would please British sportsmen more than to see an American owner and trainer win the Derby. Joyner would receive applause from his many new found friends if he were to lead out a horse that could win the premier race of the world.

This is not only my own feeling but that of a number of British sportsmen, and the idea came into my head of expressing this opinion through meeting a well known English racing man who are extolling the Americans' good sportsmanship, both on British and French racecourses, where the Frenchman, who is a true sportsman at heart, is delighted with the fair run he always gets for his money when he buys a ticket on Vanderbilt's, Whitney's, Keene's, or Belmont's horses.

Of course, Richard Croker won the Derby some few years ago with Orby, but then, although he lived most of his life in America, we look upon him practically as an Irishman, and I should like to see either Mr. Whitney, Mr. Keene, or Mr. Belmont lead in a Derby winner.

Great things are expected from Shilling, the American jockey. I am told by persons who know him he will make Maher sit up, and as the latter is now topping the list of winning jockeys Shilling must be "some" rider. All I can say is that among the sportsmen of Great Britain there is no such thing as jealousy. We like to see the best man win all the time at racing, boxing, or any other game, no matter what his nationality is, and that is, if I may say so, where I think we lead the world in sport, for we love sport first, and there is never a question of prejudice as to race or creed.

We on the other side are benefiting greatly by cruel, vindictive laws which prevent the American public from enjoying one of the greatest sports in the world, that of racing. I believe practically every big stable in America is being shifted over bodily either to England or France, along with jockeys, horses, trainers, stable lads, and chunks of the owners' dollar bills wherewith to pay the piper, and in many cases the owners and their families. Of course, this is all fine for us, but what about the effect on America? Even from the monetary point of view this must surely be a serious matter.

I suppose the money these American owners and their followers will spend in Europe must run into millions of dollars. I wonder what your chancellor of the exchequer, or whatever you call him here, thinks of it. Personally, I regard the whole thing as a serious matter. It is an insult to the liberty of American people and also a heavy loss to storekeepers and traders of all kinds, for the racing community in any country spends ten times more money on everything, from clothes to hotel bills, than any other class of people.

ASKS PRIMARY TO NAME PRESIDENT

SEES DANGER TO PARTY.

Says Republican Organization Will Be Disrupted by Forced Precinct Fights.

Amendment of the Illinois primary election law, establishing a presidential preference primary and direct election of delegates to national conventions, was urged by Medill McCormick yesterday, in a letter to Gov. Deneen.

The present arrangement, which makes precinct committeemen principal factors in selection of delegates to national conventions, Mr. McCormick, who is a manager of the La Follette campaign, declares is neither logical nor useful. He asserts the Republican organizations of whole counties and congressional districts will be disrupted under the existing system. He said the voters, in order to express their views regarding the presidential nomination, will have to select precinct committeemen favorable to Senator La Follette or President Taft.

Outlines Progressive Stand.

A letter which Walter L. Houser, national director of the La Follette campaign, sent to Roy O. West, chairman of the Republican state central committee, is embodied in the letter Mr. McCormick wrote to the governor. It outlines the stand progressive Republicans have taken on the presidential primary question.

Mr. McCormick urges the governor, should he call a special session of the legislature, to include in his call for such a meeting a recommendation that the primary election law be amended so that it would provide:

That delegates to the national convention may be elected directly by the voters in the several congressional districts and in the state at large.

Refers to Primary Act.

In his letter Mr. McCormick also said:

"In response to the popular demand, in 1910 the legislature of Illinois passed a primary law providing for direct nominations for state, municipal, and county officers. But as a concession to certain discredited and reactionary leaders an exception was made of delegates to national conventions.

"The method of selecting delegates to the national convention, as provided in section 10 of the primary election law, passed last year, is neither logical nor useful. It has neither the merit of the new method of direct nomination nor of the old method of nomination by delegate conventions.

"The precinct committeemen are made the agents for the selection of delegates to the congressional and state conventions, which in turn select the delegates and alternates for the national convention.

Precinct Fights Party Peril.

"Thus the precinct committeeman, whose principal and proper function is to represent the party organization in the counties in which they are resident, become the all important factors in any campaign in which a contest is made for delegates to the national convention.

"In the present instance the existing Republican organization of whole counties and whole congressional districts will be disrupted and possibly overturned. This not necessarily in the interest of the party in the counties or the congressional districts, but because the Republicans of Illinois, in order to send delegates to the national convention who will represent their views as regards the presidential nomination, must select precinct committeemen favorable to Mr. La Follette or Mr. Taft."

William Jennings Bryan, three times Democratic candidate for president, came to Chicago during the day and announced that never, no, never again, will he be a candidate. Mr. Bryan said election returns of last week indicate no landslides for either party.

"Republican gains in the east indicate the predatory interests are lining up back of the president and that every inch of ground will have to be fought," he said. "We have another session of congress, which will affect the campaign materially.

"My sympathies are with La Follette in his fight against the standpat element of his party," Mr. Bryan said.

Gov. Hiram W. Johnson of California has notified local progressive Republicans that he will come to Illinois in December and make a number of speeches. Emmet Newton of Springfield, Mo., came to Chicago during the day and made plans to open headquarters for Champ Clark, mentioned as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

MAGILL OPENS SENATE FIGHT IN HOME TOWN OF PRINCETON.

Aspirant for Cullom's Place Assails Aldrich Tariff Law and Declares for Direct Vote.

Princeton, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—State Senator Hugh S. Magill, progressive Republican candidate for United States senator to succeed Shelby M. Cullom, opened his campaign here tonight. Most of those present knew Mr. Magill personally, this being his home city, and gave him an enthusiastic send-off.

Senator Magill assailed the Aldrich tariff law as indefensible and said the time has come to end government by special interests.

The Lorimer case received attention, and the senator pledged support to the proposition of the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

EXPECT DOWIE IN ZION CITY.

Objection Made to Cement Sidewalks on Ground He Might Object to Them.

Rupert Devereux, a member of the old Dowie faction in Zion's affairs, yesterday filed a petition with the Zion City board of alderman objecting to the proposed construction of cement sidewalks there, on the ground that Christ never walked on cement, and therefore "would avoid Zion City on the Savior's approaching second coming to earth."

The petition also related that the late Alexander Dowie never walked on cement. He also is expected to return to Zion City. One of Devereux's followers recently attempted to get some word from Dowie by sleeping three successive nights on his grave.

Overseer Voliva returned to Zion City yesterday from Erie, Pa., after completing plans for enlarging the new pipe organ for the tabernacle. The new plan calls for more than 1,000 extra pipes, making 5,000 in all. The organ will be larger than the one in Salt Lake City.

DEFEAT FOR COMMISSION RULE.

Council Bluffs Returns 300 Votes Against Proposition to Change Form of Government.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Nov. 14.—A proposition to govern the city by commission form of government was today defeated by about 300 votes. Only about 50 per cent of the normal vote was cast.

BUILDING TRADES DIVISION DOOMED?

Labor Leaders at Federation Meeting Say Department May Be Abolished.

LONG IN BAD REPUTE.

Tampa Conspiracy Convictions Stir Delegates; Pledge Support to McNamaras.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—That the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor is likely to become a matter of history with the adjournment of the present convention was predicted today by labor leaders.

This department has been in bad repute for a long time. Several organizations have refused to pay their per capita tax, which means the leaders say, that the death knell of the department has been sounded.

Throughout the afternoon groups of delegates discussed the building trades division. None had a good word to say for it. John Donlin, international president of the plasterers, was emphatic in his denunciation of the department.

"This convention will surely abolish the department," he said. "It has made so many rotten decisions and arrogated to itself so much power that the whole layout has become a source of annoyance to the American Federation of Labor."

Refuse to Serve on Committee.

Last year the carpenters and International Association of Steamfitters were expelled from the building trades department. When William D. Huber, president of the carpenters, was appointed to the building trades committee today by President Gompers, he refused to serve.

"Inasmuch as the carpenters are not a part of the building trades department I must decline to serve on the committee," he said.

President Gompers said if the convention would support him in his decision that he would decide the declination was not made on good grounds.

Tampa Case Stirs Council.

The recent conviction for conspiracy of three officers of the Cigarmakers' union at Tampa, because they advised their fellow workmen not to return to work, was condemned by the executive council.

President Gompers sent a telegram to the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles today acknowledging receipts of a message from the indicted brothers. The Gompers message says the McNamaras may be assured of the labor delegates' belief "in your innocence of the crime with which you have been charged, and to pledge to you our continued moral and financial support, to the end that your innocence may be established."

PRISON TERM FOR LYNCHER.

Newark, O., Man Must Serve Year for Complicity in Killing Anti-Saloon Detective.

Newark, O., Nov. 14.—Imprisonment for one year and three months was the sentence pronounced today by Judge Weigandt upon Frank Graef. Graef pleaded guilty yesterday to manslaughter in connection with the lynching of Carl Etherington of Williamsburg, Ky., anti-saloon detective, more than a year ago.

HEALTH MENACED BY STRIKE.

Removal of Garbage Accumulations in Streets of New York Will Take a Week.

New York, Nov. 14.—It will be a week, according to an official estimate, before New York rids itself of the garbage which has collected in its streets during the six days of the garbage collectors' strike. Street Commissioner Edwards has 2,500 men at work, or more than the number of strikers. The strike has cost the city so far $136,700, and some 2,000 men their positions. No violence to speak of interrupted the work of the strike breakers today.

M'NAMARA CASE LIKE A SNAIL.

Three Jurors Impaneled After Day's Session—Eight Talesmen Excused Twelfth Yet Under Fire.

Los Angeles, Cal. Nov. 14.—By twists and turns the McNamara case slowly forged ahead today, weathering snags, old and new, until the inventory of the day disclosed at adjournment three sworn jurors. Eight talesmen were passed for cause by both sides and a twelfth man passed by the defense though still under examination by the state.

Common Sense Complexion Methods

(From Popular Topics for Women)

That you are either "born with" a good complexion or else you are not has been proved a foolish statement over and over again by women who have changed an almost repulsive skin into a beautiful complexion by the use of pure coleated balsam. In the beauty columns of this magazine we have continually "sung the praises" of coleated balsam. This is an unadulterated chemical product which has been known to accomplish wonders in the way of beautifying complexions ever since it was first put on the market. It acts upon sallowness, pimples or liver spots almost electrically. So drastic and speedy is its corrective effect that already the number of its friends is legion. The women I know whose complexions are really good and healthy do not abuse their faces with cold creams and lotions. They use a real specific like coleated balsam. An ounce and a half purchased from your druggist will clear your face beautifully.—Advt.

RESULTS ARE WANTED.

The mayor is the city's chief executive.

If he can guarantee prompter results by turning over the drawing and execution of harbor plans to his subway commission, well and good.

At this stage of the interminable fight for this urgently needed and now perfectly simple public improvement—the north basin harbor—no one is disposed to squabble about methods, so long as they are honest, equitable, practical, and speedy.

What the city wants is results. There should be a complete and well considered plan and work under way by next spring.

THE ASSEMBLY ADJOURNS.

Gov. Deneen got the useless special session out of the way and, although the legislators seem to think that the manner of their going was important, it was immaterial. The main thing is that they went. No one particularly cared whether they took the elevator or were dropped out of the window.

They "saved face" by not giving recognition to the executive secretary who carried the proclamation of prorogation until after a sine die adjournment resolution had been passed, but the relation between cause and effect was too obvious.

A useless legislature has done the one thing requested of it. It has quit.

TIPPING AGAIN.

Whenever the subject of tipping is brought up the hotel and restaurant proprietors arise as one man and say that it is a "necessary evil," or that it is necessary without being an evil. If they mean that the propensity to give tips is about as little governed as the itch to receive them they may be right, but their expression would come a little nearer their thought if they said it was a profitable and pleasant evil—to the proprietor.

The economy of restaurants has been so twisted that the guest hires and pays the waiter and the proprietor furnishes the food and plates. The guest seems to want it that way. He wants the waiter to work for him and look to him for his pay. It might be a more logical working out of the system if the guest brought his own waiter in with him. So far tipping may be necessary, but there is nothing necessary in the small brigandage which releases squads of uniformed magpies to pick small change out of the patron's pocket without serving him in any particular.

NEW CIVIC INSTRUCTION.

A fund, to which the widow of the late E. H. Harriman has contributed largely, has been raised in New York to finance for a period of five years a school for the study and administration of public business.

This another step is taken away from the dark ages of spoils feudalism in our public service—another step toward efficiency in public business, common sense and common honesty in public administration.

There is little reason to doubt that, if the new school is well made, it will be a permanent establishment. It is greatly needed. We are moving rapidly away from the system by which men were kept in public service on account of their political efficiency. We must complete the advance by providing trained men and trained critics of trained men for our public service.

The New York bureau of municipal research has been doing a great work in challenging administrative waste in New York City, and our own recently founded Bureau of Public Efficiency has begun to do the same work for Chicago. But these are critical institutions. We need institutions or courses of training in established schools to train men in public administrative work.

The workers' free school of municipal government is another interesting experiment in education. This is a Chicago enterprise. Its purpose is to instruct members of the wage earning class in subjects of municipal government and administration, and its head, Prof. Kennedy of the University of Chicago, in his inaugural statement gave a more specific significance to the experiment by prophesying that the wage earner is soon to gain ascendancy all over the United States—in Chicago within six or eight years—and needs therefore to prepare for its responsibilities.

Whether Prof. Kennedy's prophecy is accurate or not, there can be no question that the legitimate weight of the wage earner in public affairs is growing, and that with this influence comes enlarged moral and social responsibility. No class is now properly trained in citizenship, and certainly the want of civic enlightenment and of proper standards of responsibility displayed in the labor union government of San Francisco indicates the need in some communities, at least, of a toning up of the wage earning class as well as any other. In other communities, such as Milwaukee, its accession to power has raised the whole level of local government and the lesson of these two contrasting cases is plain.

Of course, some day we shall have no need of such a private enterprise as the workers' free school. The useful and extremely important instruction it plans to give will be given to all classes, for all classes need it, and it will be given as a part of our public education.

Meanwhile may Prof. Kennedy's project thrive.

THE RENEWED SOUTH.

The most remarkable economic achievement now under way in the western hemisphere and perhaps in the world is that of what we in the north know too vaguely as the "New South."

THE TRIBUNE has called attention again but recently and with all possible emphasis to this great phenomenon which is illustrating once more the splendid practical energies, the courage, the faith, the efficiency, the industry of the American people.

Those who read Senator Fletcher's interview in yesterday's TRIBUNE must realize that what THE TRIBUNE has said of the new south, or rather, we should call it, the renewed south, was not exaggerated, and that our urgent appeals to our capitalists, our merchants, and our manufacturers to develop relations with this great, growing and thriving new business empire are well founded and opportune.

We hear of the hustling northwest, and of the strides of Canada. But let us look to the south, where in a vast region, blessed as few on the face of the earth are blessed, with resources of rich soil, mines, and water power, the abilities of the American people are again exerted to write another world astonishing chapter of material development.

All this is not hyperbole, and any one who has studied the situation, especially at first hand, will realize that Senator Fletcher's striking summary is more than justified.

Northerners ought to visit the south, and our great organizations of business ought to lose no time in allying themselves in generous coöperation with the Southern Commercial Congress for the advancement of our mutual interests and for their multiplication.

It is time for us to correct our foolish vague notion that the south is still backward. It is rising like a young giant from the prostration of the civil war. It is time to get rid of the foolish idea that the south is a region of heat and fever. As Senator Fletcher points out, sanitary science has abolished the worst terrors of the tropics in Panama, and sanitary science has abolished them in the subtropical south. While we are shivering in the blasts that Canada sends us out of her long winter we might think of the south, with a climate of spring.

The old slogan of Greeley may well be amended to "Go south, young man!" Senator Fletcher says that out of 621,000,000 acres in the south only 25 per cent is under cultivation. Modern agriculture will do wonders with that. Modern methods will do wonders in manufacture, and commerce, and mining. The renewed south is the land of opportunity.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

Readers are requested to ask questions, which will be printed with the answers. Dr. Evans will not prescribe.

CHEATING ONESELF.

WITHIN the last few days we have had three articles advising the use of instruments of precision—thermometers, hygrometers, and scales. People judge of temperature by the "feel," and that method often misleads. They guess at how much they eat. They think they are dieting, when they are gorging.

They sometimes diet by eating two meals a day, and then do harm in two ways: First, because the total quantity of food taken in the two meals exceeds the quantity formerly taken in three; second, because an overheavy meal clogs the system worse than the same amount of food in two meals.

There are scores of ways in which people cheat themselves. The well to do cheat themselves by thinking that they ventilate well. Their houses are usually worse ventilated then the poor man's house. They have more than their share of colds and pneumonia and nearly their share of consumption in consequence.

The soft, flabby woman stirs around the house a little, walks to the automobile or to the car, rides around a while and cheats herself into thinking she is exercising enough to burn up the waste in her body and keep her muscle fiber in tone.

A filter is put in the house and neglected until the filtered water is higher in bacterial count than ordinary water. Yet the family cheats itself into thinking security is had.

A restaurant or hotel puts in fine furnishings in the dining rooms and the customers cheat themselves by inferring that the kitchen is clean or the food is properly handled.

A school board puts in a system of ventilation which throws into a given space 2,000 cubic feet of air per person per hour and cheats itself with the idea that it is giving the students ventilation.

A man with pain cheats himself with morphine. A man who cannot sleep cheats himself with bromide. Many of the health movements go at the form rather than the substance.

In contagion we watch the place and the thing rather that the man. We sprinkle a little disinfectant around and let the man go downtown on the cars.

IN CASE OF ASTHMA.

"I have had asthma one year and use asthmatic pestilles, which relieve me, but give me headache and do not cure. Is there any cure?"

REPLY.

There are cases of asthma due to nasal polyps and similar removable causes. These get well promptly when the cause is removed. Cases in which no cause can be found are more difficult. Change of climate relieves some of these cases. Have your physician study your case carefully.

GUARD FROM INFECTIONS.

M. B. A. writes: "Is there any hope of a 9 year old girl outgrowing sugar diabetes? She has had it four years, goes to school all the time, feels worse in the spring of the year, has been under the care of a good doctor, but he says he cannot cure her. His only hope is to keep her up until she outgrows it."

REPLY.

There is not much hope that a 9 year old girl will recover from diabetes. The most hopeful sign is the length of time she has been sick, for diabetes is generally fatal in a shorter time in children. Have her lead the most normal physical life possible. Guard her against all kinds of infections, especially colds and tuberculosis. Follow your physician's advice.

PLACE FOR HAY FEVER SUFFERERS.

"Can a person troubled with hay fever find relief in California?"

REPLY.

No. If the case is one of genuine hay fever, no country is better than the Lake Superior region.

DOES NO HARM.

F. P. A. writes: "Being very stout, I am obliged to give up bread and eat only toast in my dieting. Toast, however, has a very constipating effect and to counteract that I have to chew senna leaves every night. Will you tell me whether it is harmful to chew four or five senna leaves every night, swallowing only the juice?"

REPLY.

I should say that it would do no harm.

SUNLIGHT IN BEDROOMS.

E. M. writes: "Are bedrooms with northern exposure, that never have the sunlight, any less healthy than those that do, provided they are well ventilated from the outside?"

REPLY.

Bedrooms which get no sunlight are not as healthful as those which do. If the ventilation and cleanliness standards are raised high enough the harm from lack of sunlight is negligible. If the sunshine standard goes down and the ventilation and cleanliness standards do not go up to a compensating degree the harm is material. A bedroom getting no sunlight will be safer if it has plain walls without moldings or shelves, doors and windows without projecting frames, rounded corners, hardwood floors, and simple furnishings. The windows should be thrown up and the room aired out during some part of the daytime. They should be open during the hours of sleeping.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright, 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

LADY PAUL, who has just been condemned by the English courts to pay damages of ½ cent to her husband's sister, the fascinating but somewhat notorious Mrs. Thomas James Atherton, is the wife of Sir Aubrey Paul, fifth baronet of his line, and is a daughter of the celebrated Polish violinist, Wieniawski.

One would have imagined that after all the disagreeable newspaper notoriety which Mrs. Atherton had received in connection with her divorce case from Col. Thomas James Atherton of the Twelfth Lancers, in her suit for breach of promise against Lord Churston, and her citation in at least two other divorce cases she would have been rendered impervious to criticism. But she seems to have taken offense at the remark made by her sister-in-law, Lady Paul, to the effect that she had been turned out of the Savoy hotel at Cairo by the management, and she accordingly sued Lady Paul for impugning her character, associating in the suit her brother, Sir Aubrey Paul, as responsible for his wife's utterances.

While the jury returned this minimum verdict of damages against Lady Paul, it further intimated its opinion that she had much excuse for her uncomplimentary references to her sister-in-law by placing the burden of the costs of the trial upon Mrs Atherton. The latter fortunately is well able to pay these, having an independent income of some $25,000 a year.

The Pauls of Gloucestershire, who have nothing in common with the similarly baroneted Irish Pauls of County Carlow, are a Cromwellian family, and through the marriage of Dr. John Paul, a physician of Salisbury, to the only daughter of Samuel Snow, one of the leading bankers of London, became identified with the firm which from that time forth was known as Snow, Paul & Co. Their son was created a baronet in 1821 by reason of his eminence as one of the leading bankers of the city of London. His eldest son, however, the second baronet, brought the fortunes of the family to grief. In 1855 the great banking house of Snow, Paul & Co. closed its doors with liabilities of several millions of dollars and relatively few assets. No sooner had an official investigation of the affairs of the bank commenced than warrants were issued for the arrest of Sir John Paul on the charge of innumerable frauds, including the forgery of the signatures of many of his customers and relatives to the documents deposited by others in his bank.

Sir John, who up to that time had enjoyed a great reputation in religious circles and who had been one of the most respected members of London society, a county magistrate and deputy lieutenant, was arrested at his fine country seat near Reigate. Driven to the railroad station, he arrived there just as the train was leaving. His captors, who were not in uniform, thrust him into a first class carriage and were about to follow, when the obsequious railroad employés, thinking that these two rough looking strangers were intruding upon their popular and revered local magnate, pulled them back and held them until the train had gone.

The consequence was that Sir John got clear away and for forty-eight hours lay lost in the house of a friend in London. Ultimately, by the advice of his family, he drove down to the Bow street police station and surrendered himself.

He and his partners were each sentenced by Judge Aldersin, father of the late Marchioness of Salisbury, to fourteen years' transportation—that is to say, shipment to the convict settlements in Australia and Tasmania in slow sailing vessels, cooped up in iron cages between decks, like wild beasts rather than human beings.

Sir John not only survived his punishment, but on liberation on ticket of leave was married for the third time to a lady who is said to have been the daughter of one of the chief warders of his Tasmanian prison. He survived until 1868.

His dishonesty had the effect of ruining not only most of his former customers but likewise his sisters, who had left their entire fortunes in his hands. One of them was married to Edward Fox-Fitzgerald, only son of Lord Edward Fitzgerald, and another to Francis George Hare, father of the well known Augustus Hare, the author, who was the mentor of the present King of Sweden thirty years ago and who has left such interesting reminiscences.

One of the most extraordinary incidents in connection with the Hare family was the suit for libel brought against Augustus Hare by his reprobate brother, Francis Hare.

Their sister, Esmeralda Hare, the heroine of Edmond About's well known novel, "Tolla," a member of the Roman Catholic Order of the Bleeding Heart, died at a house in Brook street, London, with every appearance of having succumbed to poison, and on her deathbed she is said to have told the nurse who was attending her that she owed her death to Francis. Augustus repeated this charge in private letters to some of his intimate friends. One of these letters fell into the hands of Francis, who immediately began suit for libel against his brother.

When the case came up for trial at Guildford the judge declined to try it, on the ground that he never had known of an action for libel by one brother against another brother arising out of a suggestion that the former had murdered their sister. He insisted on the affair being settled out of court. Augustus agreed to withdraw the imputations, and the case fell to the ground.

Francis Hare, once an officer in the Second Life Guards, had been obliged to leave the army, owing to his forging names of brother officers to promissory notes on which he obtained money. For the honor and credit of the regiment the matter was compromised by the victims, and no criminal prosecution took place. Francis Hare's accomplice in the matter was a Frenchwoman, wife of a man who was serving time in the French galleys for forgery, and when her husband died she became Mrs. Francis Hare.

Old Lady Seafield's will must have been a cruel disappointment to the present earl and chieftain of the clan of Grant. It had generally been understood that she had left him the entire estates formerly belonging to the earldom and which had been bequeathed to her, without condition, absolutely, by her only son, the eighth Earl of Seafield, the present earl being the eleventh of that ilk. It was widely published on both sides of the Atlantic at the time of her death that he had inherited the entire property which had thus reverted to the earldom.

This is not the case. She had left all her property in the hands of trustees, who are specifically barred from paying to the present earl, or to his successor, an allowance of more than $20,000 a year from the property. Meager provision also is made for his brothers and sisters, one of the latter having recently gone on the stage as a member of the Gayety theater chorus in London. The trustees are forbidden to pay any one of them an allowance in excess of $1,500 a year.

The new earl may also occupy the ancestral castle, known as Cullen House and Castle Grant, only by the permission of the trustees, and for such time of the year as they may determine upon. The remainder of the estate is to be held in trust until all the incumbrances thereon (which at the time when the old Countess of Seafield succeeded to the property amounted to over $5,000,000) have been completely wiped out and if that can be accomplished before the death of the present earl the trust is to be continued until his demise.

When that takes place the estates, which are supposed to yield an annual revenue of nearly $400,000, plus the accumulations accruing during the lifetime of the present earl, are to pass to his successor in the earldom. Provision is made for entailing the entire property with the earldom.

The latter, like a number of other old Scottish peerages, passes through the female line in default of male issue, and as the present earl has an only daughter and no son the earldom of Seafield and the Seafield estates will go to her, and she will thus become Countess of Seafield in her own right.

The earldom of Seafield, the viscounty of Reidhaven, and the baronies of Ogilvy, of Deskford, and of Cullen, all of them Scotch honors, will go to her, the barony of Strathspey, which is a peerage of the United Kingdom and therefore heritable only in the male line, going to the earl's brother, the Hon. Trever Grant, who now makes his home in New Zealand.

The trustees, consisting of The Mackintosh, Sir Reginald McLeod, Capt. Baird, and others, are authorized to make provision for the future Lord Strathspey in that event.

The Friend of the People

THINKS THE CORRESPONDENT MISTAKEN.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On Oct. 28, at 10:35 o'clock p. m., I had occasion to take the Evanston train at Edgewater station. The train was so crowded there was not comfortable standing room. It consisted of but two cars. The guard evidently was a new man, as he had no uniform or badge. I was crowded near the door, so that the guard continually yelled directly in my ear. I remonstrated, whereupon the guard became abusive, told me he was not talking to me, that if I had any kick coming I had better make it "down there," and continued his shouting louder than ever, as if to inform the crowded car that he was master of the situation. Not being in the habit of quarreling with street car men, I desisted, and, admitting my defeat, remained quiet until my station was reached. The car was No. 772; time, 10:35 at Edgewater. J. L. B.

There must be some error in the information furnished, inasmuch as the trainman on car No. 772 was one of our old men, whose record is very good, and on being interviewed, he stated he knew nothing of any such occurrence as reported. Your correspondent also states there were only two cars on the train, whereas we find there were four cars. We have checkers who take the time and loading in every car during the twenty-four hours, and these sheets show that the service after 10 o'clock provides ample accommodation.

On the date in question we had four car trains out of Central street, Evanston, from 9:47 p. m. to 10:27, and before and after that time they were all three car trains. There were no two car trains on the Evanston division.
B. I. BUDD, President.

NO EXTRA STATIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Can you advise me as to the construction by the Northwestern elevated road of extra stations at Berwyn and Thorndale in Edgewater when the elevation of the tracks between Wilson and Calvary is completed? There is great need for these extra stations, owing to the great distance between Argyle, Edgewater, and North Edgewater stations.
TRACY FIELD.

This matter was gone into very carefully with a committee some months ago, and it was clearly shown that the stations were not required at either one of these points, and the delay caused by stopping trains at these places were stations installed, would lengthen the running time and materially inconvenience patrons north of that point.
B. I. BUDD, President.

LOCAL SERVICE ON N. W. "L."

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have noticed several complaints in your columns against the Northwestern elevated express service, and I wish you would find out why we get such poor local train service between Belmont and Wilson avenues during rush hours. During the summer the service is pretty good, but as soon as the cold weather starts patrons have to wait from ten to twenty minutes for a local train when changing at Belmont. And in cold weather it certainly is not pleasant. More local trains should be run, or the little shed on the station should be kept warmer.
J. M. BARNES.

The local service on the Northwestern between Belmont and Wilson avenues during rush hours gives an interval between trains of five minutes, and before and after rush hours, six minutes.

On Nov. 3 there was a serious delay on the union loop, due to a disabled train, and also due to a boat being stuck in one of the bridge draws, all of which disarranged the service very seriously. Ordinarily the interval of five minutes should give ample accommodation.

The waiting room at Belmont avenue is heated with electric heaters, and the platform man at that point is instructed to see that they are turned on when necessary.
B. I. BUDD, President.

THROUGH ROUTE NO. 1.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Some time ago an announcement, apparently from authoritative sources, was made to the effect that as soon as track connections in the loop district could be built a through street car route would be established connecting the north and south side lake shore districts by sending the Jackson park car to Devon avenue, via North State, Clark, and Evanston avenue, thus giving the people of the north side access to Jackson park, one of the most beautiful in the city, also the Field museum.

More recently it was announced that a connection would be made between the Indiana avenue-Fifty-first street car line and the North State-Clark-Evanston. This line stops in a residence district on the south side, near Washington park, which already is surrounded by street car lines and is so located as to be immensely patronized by residents of the district, while Jackson park is surrounded by other than residences practically on three sides and affords ample space for thousands from distant parts of the city.

Are we to have two connections between the north and south side? If only one, by all means let it be the one that "hugs the shore," thus giving the people toward the lake on either side a chance to travel from one to the other without covering unnecessary miles involving several transfers.

The Jackson park-North State-Clark-Devon is one of the most desirable routes suggested, and as the connections seem to be completed, can we not expect it soon?
J. A. C.

Through route No. 1, which will afford connection between the north and south sides of the city by way of Indiana avenue and North State street, will be ready for operation, so far as the Chicago Railways company is concerned, as soon as a new curve can be installed at Evanston avenue and Surf street, where the wide cars of the Chicago City Railway company cannot pass safely. The curve has been made and will be installed within a few days. It will also be necessary to widen the tracks slightly on the State street bridge.

The through route connecting Cottage Grove avenue and North Clark street is awaiting the completion of the La Salle street tunnel and the construction of tracks on Harrison street.

The Chicago Railways company is glad to announce that the Western avenue extension, running from Roscoe street on the south to Lincoln avenue on the north, will be operated beginning next Thursday, Nov. 16.

LAKE AVENUE PAVEMENT.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I would like to call attention to the condition of Lake avenue. Since it was paved the sand covering which was put on to work into the blocks has now been on for over a month from Fifty-first street nearly to Forty-ninth street and is mixed with tar, which makes it almost impassable. On wet days in some places it lies an inch deep, in other places three inches, and no doubt it should be scraped off at this time. Last week one man with a hoe scraped some into heaps and left it, and it is now being scattered by wagons and automobiles.
J. H. SCHROEDER, 5029 Jefferson avenue.

The superintendent of the sixth ward advises me that Lake avenue from Oakwood boulevard south is now being cleaned, and the work will be finished within a few days.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

ARMY NEEDS.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In your editorial of Nov. 10, "American Policy in China," you state: "We should let it be known at once and unmistakably that our policy is clear and that we are ready to back it."

If we are to have policies, then, and are to back them, would it not be well to provide the force to do it with? The congress is now considering the passage of a law providing pay for the national guard—and the guard is certainly deserving of pay, but there are not lacking members of the guard itself who are doubtful as to whether this legislation will do much more than add to our military expenditures. It is in line with all of our past piecemeal military legislation—the remedy does not go to the root of the trouble, and until this is done nothing will help.

Without going into details, it may be said that two fundamental requirements are necessary to remedy the present deplorable conditions. These are: Such an organization as will enable us in time of peace to be ready for war; and the provision of the necessary men—trained in time of peace—to complete the organization. We lack both: both would have to be provided after the crisis came, and at what cost of human life and treasure the most cursory study of the history of our past wars will serve to demonstrate. To provide the first of these requirements is simple, will cost comparatively little, and it is hoped that congress will soon provide the necessary legislation. The second is more difficult because it will cost money. To provide it, it will be necessary to form a reserve, and that is something that we have never yet done. Up to the present time we have preferred to pay for our wars after they were fought in the form of pensions, rather than to attempt to prevent them by providing the means for the prevention beforehand.

Our regular army has been, and is now, like an animal in a treadmill—performing one continual round of daily drills and instruction without making any progress. The 20,000 men discharged annually, after having undergone a training for three years, go out into civil life and the government has no claim upon them, should their services be needed. It is said that they will volunteer when a call for volunteers is made. An investigation made during the Spanish war showed that less than 1 per cent did so. Suppose these 20,000 men who are discharged annually were enlisted for a period of ten years, contracting to serve with their regiments for three years at the present rate of pay, and then to go into the reserve for the remaining seven years for a payment of $2 monthly, to be paid semi-annually, in return for which they would be required to report their residence at stated periods and attend a camp of instruction of two weeks once in two years. The increased cost would be less than $4,000,000 annually when completely in operation.

With a fighting organization and these men being trained to go into it, we would be accomplishing something; should a crisis come, the organization and the men would be at hand—a trained force large enough at least to enable us to call out and train volunteers. The same should apply to the national guard. It is computed that the contemplated pay for the guard will cost the government between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000 annually, and with questionable results. Unless coupled with the formation of a reserve, it should not be passed.

BLANKET YOUR HORSE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Accuse any person of cruelty and he is pretty certain to resent the compliment. And yet how many people in our city daily countenance acts of cruelty and neglect to our four footed friends without making the least effort to lessen the burden of those who cannot speak for themselves. Are not such people accessories after the fact, morally at least if not legally?

Winter is at our door and with the inclemency of the weather added precautions are necessary for the welfare of the patient horse, who, in addition to being overloaded, overdriven, cruelly jerked, and improperly shod, is often exposed for long periods of time without adequate covering. Newspaper, butcher, and grocery drivers are conspicuous offenders along this line.

Societies for the prevention of cruelty are necessarily limited in dealing with this city wide evil, but if the general public would coöperate more freely in reporting such cases, either to the societies or, better still, directly to the employers, it would have a most wholesome effect, as most of these drivers are provided with blankets which they are too lazy to use and few team owners care to have their stock abused.

Again the method of blanketing, especially in the case of coal teams, is often a mere makeshift, the blanket being doubled up and thrown on the rump of the animal when common sense demands that it cover the breast and shoulders to be of benefit. Driving with the blanket on is obviously the lazy man's job and is worse than useless.

The automobilist finds it to his advantage to protect his inanimate motor in cold weather, in default of which he suffers an immediate damage; but the driver is less careful simply because the damage is more remote in time. Who will help in safeguarding the wonderful, delicately adjusted, and sentient machine of man's best friend?
HUGO KRAUSE,
Secretary the Anti-Cruelty Society.

COMPETITION AND CO-OPERATION.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Unrestricted competition is the mother of trusts; unrestricted coöperation is the father of high prices. Unrestricted competition means the survival of the strongest, the weaker competitors being given a choice between selling out and bankruptcy. It is bound to end eventually in monopoly. Coöperation means a reduced cost in manufacturing and distribution, but unrestricted and unregulated coöperation means that all the saving accrues to the monopoly. Prices instead of being reduced are steadily raised, as there is no limit to human greed. Unrestricted competition is shamefully wasteful of energy, time, and money.

All persons and corporations doing interstate business should be compelled to sell their products at a uniform price to all customers, the prices differing only in different localities by the difference of freight rates to such localities and according to the quantity purchased. All special or preferential discounts and confidential prices should be illegal. In other words, all interstate commerce should be on the same basis as interstate railroad rates. In self-defense trusts would be compelled to keep their uniform prices at so low a figure that no small competitor could profitably do business, and yet by their own immense organization they could make a reasonable return on the capital invested.

TENDENCY TO HOPE IN CITIES

C. R. Woodruff Sees Better Feeling in Municipalities.

POINTS TO LOCAL ELECTIONS.

Urges Cure for $200,000 "Expense" Accounts for Candidates.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 14.—"The most notable tendency in American municipal life is that toward hopefulness," said Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia, secretary of the National Municipal league, in an address on "American Municipal Progress" before the annual convention today.

The increasing tendency toward an expansion of municipal functions, a simplification of the machinery of city government, and the greater use of the direct primary and methods of controlling public service corporations, Mr. Woodruff regarded as the more important progress of the year.

Suggests Remedy for Election Peril.

Chicago and Philadelphia were pointed to as evidences of the wider use of the municipal primary. Secretary Woodruff referred to the reported use of sums as large as $200,000 by candidates in Chicago.

The progress of Socialism was reviewed by the speaker. The tendency of the Socialists to raise class distinctions has kept them from working with other municipal reformers, he said.

Warns Against Socialist Cant.

"It is too soon to estimate the true value of the Socialist movement in the city," said Mr. Woodruff. "If the Socialists will place the emphasis upon the many excellent features of their platform, and eliminate the idea of class distinctions, and will offer to work with all other citizens, irrespective of party, who have for their object the advancement of high ideals in city life, they will contribute an earnestness and an aggressiveness of great value." Secretary Woodruff said the work of civil service reform in municipal affairs had scored a victory in the defeat of the so-called "Gaynor charter" in New York.

CHILDREN SPEED NEW CARDINALS

THOUSANDS BID GOOD-BY.

Churchmen Thank the American People as They Depart for the Eternal City.

New York, Nov. 14.—Six thousand children sang "Bon Voyage" in St. Patrick's cathedral today to Archbishop John Farley of New York and the Most Rev. Diomede Falconio, apostolic delegate to Washington, who sailed for Rome, where they will be elevated to the college of cardinals.

Thousands of parishioners lining their route from the cathedral to the Hudson river waved them farewell; an escort of fifty officials and monsignori of the diocese accompanied them to the river and aboard the steamer Rosedale, where 500 clergy and 1,000 laymen crossed the Hudson with them to the Jersey shore.

Thousand Witness Departure.

At Hoboken the cardinals-designate boarded the Kronprinsessin Cecilie, following a farewell reception on the Rosedale. As the liner made its way down the bay, the Rosedale lingered beside it to the narrows. The liner strayed from the beaten path to skirt as closely as it could the Staten island shore, where thousands watched it steam out to sea. On a hill at New Brighton a wig-wag operator signaled the cardinals-designate a message of farewell.

Two hours before the Cecilie backed into the Hudson, St. Patrick's cathedral was crowded with children bearing papal flags. Following the benediction of the blessed sacrament, the children sang "God Bless Our Cardinal."

This was followed by the recitation of the Itinerarium, or prayer for the journey, and the cadinals-designate with their escort of fifty walked from the sanctuary through the aisle to waiting carriages which took them through Fifty-first street to the river. The services were confined to children.

Praise for American People.

"I have been for some time among the American people," said Archbishop Falconio, "and I admire and love them for their intelligence, their warm hospitality, and their loyalty. My heart goes out in thanks to them for this magnificent farewell; my blessing is upon them."

ENGINEERS TO INVESTIGATE RAILWAY TRAIN LIGHTING.

Railroad Electricians' Association Names Committee to Make Special Study—To Report at Convention.

A comprehensive investigation of methods of improving railway train lighting is to be made during the coming year by the Association of Railway Electrical Engineers. The investigation will be made by a committee appointed at the annual convention of the association. C. R. Gilman, electrical engineer of the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railway is chairman.

This committee on illumination is to study all phases of the question as applied to railway stations and buildings and passenger equipment. The report will be presented at the next annual convention, which it has been decided to hold in Chicago next October or November.

The semi-annual convention will be held in Atlantic City in June. The association now comprises 800 members. It has been organized four years.

Coffee Spanish Cream

1 tablespoonful vanilla.
2 eggs.

Soak gelatine in one-half cup cold coffee five minutes. Place on stove one cup coffee, two-thirds cup milk; when boiling add yolks of eggs well beaten. Cook three minutes, then add sugar and dissolved gelatine and salt. When cool stir in whites of eggs beaten to stiff froth. Flavor with vanilla. Mold and serve with whipped cream.

A Daring Book On Advertising

Secrets Never Before Put in Print

We have issued a book which tells, for the first time, the main reasons for our success.

It is startling in its frankness, daring in its revelations, long considered too valuable to print.

The ideas in the book came from a thousand sources. But we garnered and sifted and filed them.

The ways in which we employ them will give you new respect for this Agency's efficiency.

Part of the book deals with Strategy—the very climax of salesmanship-in-print.

This is the science of doing, by clever maneuvers, what used to be done by sheer force of attack.

National distribution is attained in a month. New products are made immediately profitable. Advertising is relieved of nearly all its uncertainties.

The book also tells how we get information.

Old-time advertisers merely guessed at what would lead people to buy. They learned trade conditions through costly mistakes.

Now the wise reconnoiter. They make an actual canvass of dealers and users instead of depending on theory, guesswork and chance.

This book tells how men have won millions in this way, without any risk at all.

It also shows how one may profit by other men's experience.

Most selling ideas have been tested out. Most of our problems have been somewhere solved, most of the pitfalls discovered.

What folly it is to grope in the dark when one may be guided by recorded facts.

A thousand concerns have contributed to our storehouse of ideas. This book gives an insight to it.

Any man with a selling problem is welcome to this book. And every such man should have it.

The ideas it reveals are of wide application. They will better your qualifications.

It will lead to better advertising. And better advertising always leads our way.

Cut out this reminder; put it in your pocket. Then, when convenient, write us for the book or phone Randolph 2284 for one.

JEFFERY FARNOL and "THE ROAD"

The success of "The Broad Highway"—and it was a very great success—was due to its appeal to our sense of Romance and Adventure. There is a suggestion about the open road as of something about to happen, a suggestion which Farnol develops most happily, for something does happen.

And so his short story, "The Journey's End," is a story of this same road, or the end of such a road, and the end of a journey thereon, and of a wanderer and what he found at the journey's end. This is the first short story Jeffery Farnol has published since his book made him known. It is a good short story, one of the good short stories in the November CENTURY, but by no means the only one. "Straight Golf," "Syndicating Sarah" and "His Unquiet Ghost," the latter by Charles Egbert Craddock, help to make a most promising start for the eighty-third volume of the

THE marriage of Miss Hazel Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Ford, 4623 Drexel boulevard, and Joseph Stephen Wilson took place last night at 8:30 o'clock in the Kenwood Evangelical church, the Rev. Albert Joseph McCartney officiating.

Miss Alice Heath was the maid of honor and Miss Miriam Patterson and Miss Louise Dinning of Omaha were the bridemaids. Eugene Edward Ford was the best man with Harry T. Smith, J. Thompson Benedict, C. Lewis Woodruff, and Jack Wiley as ushers. Mrs. Frank S. Lewis of Toledo and Mrs. Otto E. Esthoff of Chicago were the matrons of honor.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with lace, the entire bodice being of the lace embroidered in pearls. A veil of Brussels lace, fastened with orange blossoms and pearls, was worn and the bouquet was of white orchids and bouvardia. The maid of honor wore white chiffon trimmed in lace and worn over white satin with a border of orchids. She carried lavendar orchids. The matrons of honor and bridesatin with pink satin trains covered over white satin with pink satin trains covered with white lace. Bands of lace and white aigrettes were worn in the hair and old fashioned bouquets of pink bouvardia were carried.

A reception followed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ford, where the decorations were in pink roses and southern smilax. At the church palms and white chrysanthemums were used. After a wedding journey to the east Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home at 4444 Drexel boulevard. They will receive after Jan. 1.

Another Chicago girl soon will join the group of young women who have gone from this city to China or some part of the orient as brides. The marriage of Miss Eunice Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Cartwright, 3056 Palmer square, and Dr. H. E. Eggers will take place today at the residence of the bride's parents. Only the immediate relatives will be present. After a ten days' visit in Wisconsin the bride and groom will leave for Shanghai, where Dr. Eggers will have charge of the department of pathology at the newly founded Harvard Medical school of China.

The date for the marriage of Miss Philomene Garvy, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Garvy, 429 Arlington place, and Alfred Edward Walsh of Davenport, Ia., has been set for Thursday, Nov. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kean Earle (Henrietta Holmes Robertson) have returned from their honeymoon and are established in their apartment at 5333 Jefferson avenue. Mrs. Earle will be at home informally to her friends this afternoon. Mrs. Earle's mother, Mrs. Marshall Fuller Holmes, 360 Normal Parkway, will have as her guests next week Mrs. Curtis B. Hoppin of Washington, D. C., and will give a luncheon in honor of Mrs. Hoppin and Mrs. Charles Sharp of Oklahoma on Monday, Nov. 20.

Mrs. John Summer Runnells, 1315 North State street, gave a luncheon yesterday complimentary to Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page of Washington. Mrs. Bryan Lathrop, who is Mrs. Page's hostess, had a tea for her guest on Monday.

Cards have been issued by Mrs. William Phillips and Miss Elizabeth Patterson Phillips for a reception to be given between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 22, at their residence, 1217 Michigan avenue.

Mrs. Hess-Burr will serve as accompanist for Edmond Clement, the French tenor, when he gives the program at Mrs. John C. Black's evening musical on Saturday evening next at the Blackstone hotel. Mrs. Hess-Burr and Mrs. John Sidney Burnet also are to give the program at the musical tea which the board of managers of the School of Domestic Arts and Science is to give on Friday following the Thomas concert.

Mrs. E. C. Dudley, 1345 Astor street, was hostess at a tea given on Monday complimentary to Miss Annie Kelley of Cambridge, Mass.

Invitations have been issued for a luncheon to be given on Monday, Nov. 20, by Miss Frances Louise Birney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Birney, 3839 Monroe street, in honor of her cousin, Miss Belle Mansfield of Newark, N. J., and Miss Leonore Ray, one of the season's debutantes.

Miss Elaine Vera Walter, 4730 Malden street, gave a luncheon yesterday for Miss Elizabeth Huette of Kentucky, who is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. John Gaffney of Montrose boulevard.

Mrs. Daniel J. Quinn, 902 Diversey boulevard, entertained yesterday for Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Bailey, who expect to leave this evening for their future residence in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Kreissl (Frances Cooke) have taken an apartment at 517 Barry avenue.

The women of Trinity Lutheran church of Oak Park will hold their annual sale at Nakama hall, Oak Park avenue and Lake street, this afternoon and evening. Mrs. H. E. Jenkins will have charge of the fancy work booth. Mrs. H. C. Kionka and her class, the King's Daughters, will have a tissue paper booth. Mrs. A. E. Munsterman has the aprons. Mrs. Charles Schneider and the adult Bible class will have the home made candies, and Mrs. Peter Steger will sell the prize bags. A hot supper will be served from 6 to 8.

Gertrude Henius Will Wed.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Rapley Holmes, who is the lonesome "Slim" Hoover in the "round-ups" in which the original "Slim" coined the phrase "Nobody loves a fat man," last night proved that there is nothing true about the expression. Miss Gertrude Henius of Chicago, the leading woman of "The Round-Up," announced that she and "her Slim" are engaged. Their marriage is a question of a few weeks.

The couple first met early in August, and within a month they were quietly engaged.

"Rap" Holmes tips the scales at nearly 300 pounds. Miss Henius is 5 feet 6 inches and weighs just about 200 pounds less than her prospective husband.

Miss Henius is the daughter of Dr. Max Henius, a specialist of Chicago. Until last night Dr. Henius and his wife never had seen their prospective son-in-law. They journeyed all the way from Chicago to meet him and they put their "O. K." on him.

Honor Lawyer 80 Years Old.

Benefit Carnival at Evanston.

Sixty Evanston young persons will take part in a carnival at the Evanston Country club tonight for the benefit of the Illinois Children's home.

The entertainment, which is given under the auspices of the Armour circle, consists of a series of tableaux portraying the works of Charles Dana Gibson and others.

Among those taking part are R. S. Tuthill Jr., Henry Slaughter, Harry Hunter, Miss Katherine Harper, Miss Margaret Armour, Miss Gladys Burns, and Miss Mary Glenn. Miss Pauline Dole is managing the production.

Builder Calls Suburbs Unsightly.

Most of Chicago's suburbs are unsightly, unattractive, and repulsive to the sense of artistic beauty, according to George Maher, one of the leading architects of Chicago and designer of many of the homes in Kenilworth. He spoke before a meeting of the Illinois chapter of the American Institute of Architects at the Art institute last night.

"Glaring mistakes have been made and the lack of beautification in the residence communities of this country has caused travelers to shun our cities," Mr. Maher said. "Despite the fact that the hardships and difficulties encountered by the pioneer have been outgrown, there is an unfortunate and disagreeable neglect of system and attractiveness in city building."

A resolution was adopted pledging the chapter to assist Building Commissioner Ericsson in his campaign against the overloading of floors in downtown buildings and factories.

The following delegates were chosen to attend the national convention of architects to be held in Washington from Dec. 12 to 14: Peter B. Wight, H. B. Wheeler, Elmer C. Jensen, George Maher, Webster Tomlinson, and C. H. Prindeville.

MRS. A. J. GRAHAM.

Mrs. A. J. Graham is one of the women interested in the annual bazaar to be given for the benefit of the House of the Good Shepherd on Nov. 28 at the convent in Grace street. Many interesting features have been planned by the women in charge.

Council Acts for 1,000,000 Women.

About thirty women, members of the executive committee of the National Council of Women, representing over 1,000,000 women in the United States, opened the nineteenth annual meeting of the committee yesterday at the Auditorium hotel. Gov. Deneen, who was to have made the welcoming address, sent a letter of greeting.

Addresses of welcome were made by Mrs. Ella V. Work of the Woman's Relief corps, Mrs. Israel Cowen of the Council of Jewish Women, and Mrs. Ella S. Stewart of the Illinois Woman's Suffrage association. At the opening meeting of the convention members of the council were asked to interest the women whom they represent in woman suffrage and in the prevention of infant mortality.

Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCulloch spoke for woman suffrage and Dr. Caroline Hedger made an address on "Prevention of Infant Mortality."

"We murdered 1,875 babies in Chicago last summer when we allowed that number to die from one preventable disease," said Dr. Hedger. "And then many of us try to sit back and face that situation. Most of those babies were bottle fed, and those that were not were given such tidbits as sauer kraut and sausage. We support day nurseries, although such institutions are a shame to any nation. We need them under our present system, but we must change the system.

"We are letting thousands of babies die yearly from preventable diseases. Horrible as that murder is, and impossible as it is for us to face that slaughter, the babies who survive are the more unfortunate. We must begin a campaign of education for the mothers of these babies."

"Don't deal with babies in car lots, as in the case of the day nurseries at the present time," said Dr. Hedger. "They don't come that way. Each and every baby needs a mother to make it thrive."

She also described the public school system of today as "a hopper" wherein the children were placed and later, when found delinquent from poor health, thrown back into the next hopper to start over.

Following the regular program, memorial services were held for Mrs. Lillian M. Hollister, the late president of the National council.

"Play Makes Children Behave."

Do you want to make your hot headed, disobedient, naughty child good and amenable to every command?

If you do send her out doors and let her become an expert at skipping rope. She will come back and do everything you ask of her. Or if your boy flies into a rage when you tell him to go to the grocer's let him go out and make himself an expert at baseball or basketball, and in the future he will obey.

This was the advice given by Prof. Allan Hoben of the University of Chicago to members of the study class of the Chicago Woman's aid, which met yesterday in Isaiah temple.

"It is the defective person who most easily flies into a rage," said Prof. Hoben. "Harmony of mind and body comes only with organized play, and there is absolutely no method like play to take out hotheadedness."

He said a man's work should be carried on in the same spirit as play.

"Work shouldn't be a thing so absolutely solemn," asserted Prof. Hoben, "and a man who works shouldn't always walk on the flat of his foot. There should be an outcropping of one's play in one's work. We should emulate the sportsmanlike attitude of our former president, when he sent the telegram, 'We have beaten them to a frazzle.' It showed he was willing to go into a fight and that his interest was not divided. Just such a message might have been sent after a football game.

"The danger is that we do not respect play sufficiently to guarantee a spirit of justice. It is a matter of regret that the desire to win often overshadows and perverts the sense of justice. Usually this degradation of play is to be laid at the door of a morally incompetent director."

Art and Travel Club at Musical.

Eighty members of the Tuesday Art and Travel club were entertained at the Hotel La Salle with an opera musical lecture on "The Koenigskinder," following which a luncheon was served. At the same place a business meeting of the Retail Druggist Women's association was held for the purpose of arranging a program for the winter season.

Bridge Party to Aid Home.

There is to be a charity bridge whist party at the residence of Mrs. Thomas W. Ritchie, 5324 Madison street, next Thursday afternoon, for the benefit of the Convalescent Home for Women and Children. Mrs. Ritchie is president of the home.

Meetings and Entertainments.

FELLOWSHIP HOUSE WOMAN'S club will celebrate "Child Welfare day" tomorrow. Dr. Caroline Hedger will speak.

LADIES' AID SOCIETY of the Forty-first Street Presbyterian church will hold its annual bazaar in the church parlors tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. A turkey dinner will be served from 6 to 8 p. m.

LINCOLN CENTER will give the second of the series of lectures by Maurice Browne tomorrow morning. The subject will be "Ibsen, the Master Builder."

LINCOLN PARK POLICE Social and Benevolent association will hold its first reception and ball tonight at the Lincoln park refectory.

OAKLEY WOMAN'S CLUB will meet tomorrow afternoon at the Oakley Settlement house.

OTIS SKINNER DRAMATIC club will give a three act farce called "Three Acts" at the Church of the Redeemer, Warren avenue and Robey street, tomorrow evening.

PRESS CLUB will give a luncheon today to Arnold Bennett.

Arnold Bennett Chief Exhibit at Art Institute Reception.

THERE was an opening day crowd at the Art institute. In the center of it was Arnold Bennett, reputed by some critics to be the greatest living English novelist.

Mr. Bennett was making superhuman efforts to establish a speaking acquaintance with the twenty-fourth annual exhibition of American art. The crowd was striving with equal persistence to grasp Mr. Bennett firmly by the hand and tell him how welcome, thrice welcome, he was to Chicago. Being vastly superior in numbers, the crowd succeeded.

Under the kindly guidance of Charles L. Hutchinson, head of the art committee, Mr. Bennett entered the north end of the exhibit about 4 o'clock. The author is a medium sized man with a combative mustache, a terse upper lip, and an extremely long chin. Under ordinary circumstances he would be inconspicuous. His picture, though, has been published so frequently since the announcement a month ago of his American tour that apparently no one had the least difficulty in recognizing him. A casual observer would have guessed the crowd had been training for the event.

The novelist paused before a misty scene in Tuscany, the work of Oliver Dennett Grover. He studied it closely for two minutes. Then the crowd arrived, headed by an enthusiastic woman in black velvet.

"O, Mr. Hutchinson," she exclaimed, "isn't this Mr. Bennett?"

Mr. Bennett smiled graciously. Fatal smile!

"I'm so glad to meet you," voiced the enthusiast, grabbing him by the hand.

"Mrs. Blump-blump," explained Mr. Hutchinson with a tardiness excusable by his apparent vagueness as to the enthusiast's name.

Mr. Bennett smiled again, shook hands, and started to resume his study of the scene in Tuscany.

"And Mr. Blump-blump," continued Mr. Hutchinson, politely and imperturbably. The novelist nodded.

"How do you, Mr. Blump-blump?"

"How do you do? How do you do? How do you do?" The hand which penned—unless Mr. Bennett employs a stenographer—"Clayhanger" moved briskly up and down. When Mr. Bennett shakes hands he really shakes—there is no languor or reservation about it. A First ward aldermanic candidate couldn't do it more heartily. And he shook hands many times before the end of the trip, for the crowd, having found him, made haste to improve the opportunity.

"I'm fond of exhibits," Mr. Bennett remarked aside to an unofficial escort who had slipped in beside Mr. Hutchinson. "I never miss one when I can help it. You see so many new things. Now, take this interior—it's good, but it's a rank imitation of Sar—how do you do? Yes, I had a pleasant trip, but the train was late. Now, this interior, as I was saying—How do you do? No, only a few days. This interior—Yes, yes, I met him in New York. Nice chap. O, you're him. I beg pardon. My mistake. Meet so many people, you know. This interior—" But what Mr. Bennett had to say about the interior was lost forever.

In one of the south rooms Mr. Bennett's eye was caught again—this time by Margaret F. Richardson's portrait of Asa H. Paige. He had almost seen it when a woman in purple—Mrs. Bryan Lathrop—was stopped by Mr. Hutchinson. Mrs. Lathrop introduced Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, who is visiting her.

Mr. Bennett was pleased to comment on Mr. Page's success as "a writer of sea stories."

Between the south room and the Hutchinson gallery Mr. Bennett met Mrs. T. B. Blackstone, Mrs. Chauncey Blair, Mrs. John C. Black, Mrs. Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, Mrs. Harry Pratt Judson, and at least fifty others. It was with a barely perceptible sigh that he stepped into the almost deserted Hutchinson gallery. But the only words which escaped him were:

"The old masters weren't so bad after all, I guess."

An hour later the whilom unofficial escort spoke with Mr. Bennett at the Blackstone hotel. The visitor did not ask him how he liked America, American women, American novels, or American hotels. Mr. Bennett's recent performance had shown plainly his answer would be either uninterestingly complimentary or dissatisfyingly indefinite. He was asked whether, as a "six best seller," he deliberately catered to the public, and Mr. Bennett answered:

"I do not. When I finished the 'Old Wives'—what do you call it, 'Old Wives' Tale'?—well, when I finished that book we all thought it would be a failure. It was a success. It's been that way with everything else. I can't write for the public, because I don't know what the public wants, and in my opinion there are few authors who do."

"Then, Mr. Bennett, what do you think of American art, as judged by the exhibit this afternoon?"

The author cogitated deeply.

"Really, old chap," he said, finally, "you'll have to excuse me. You see, I only remember one picture. It was by a chap named Grover—a scene in Venice, I believe. Struck me as being rather good."

News of the Theaters.

As Usual, Music Wins in "Gypsy Love."

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MISS SYLVA sang and a big orchestra played Mr. Lehar's seductive music; many slim girls danced and smiled diligently; humor was suggested by Mr. Bickel and other clowns; brilliant dresses were worn; there were flowers and applause; and thus "Gypsy Love" was projected at the Chicago Opera house last evening as a pleasant item in our present scheme of entertainment.

It was somewhat of a revel in its way, with Romance, that auspicious queen of childish joys, figuring as the death's head at the feast. Violently amorous Roumanians dressed up like something on a Christmas tree leave me strangely unmoved; their passionate protestations, couched in no matter what vocal and lyric beauty, tire this austere and prosaic middle west disposition. Even when the handsome tenor assumes an easy posture upon a café table with one shapely leg wagging to and fro and warbles of love, gypsy or otherwise, agitation eludes me. So I am not equipped to write of the words of this opera except to say that they express in rather commonplace fashion the rather florid emotions of light opera. Accompanied by rustic bridges, garlands, and all night restaurants in Budapest, they fulfill, no doubt, their function. I do, however, know a wheeze when I hear one, and the Smith brothers in their endeavor to adapt "Gypsy Love" to this environment succeed in offering a wheeze every now and then. "Personality," says Mr. Bickel in one of the more frivolous moments of the play, "personality is like feet. It grows on you."

I am further mortified by my technical ignorance of music in the matter of "Gypsy Love." Entirely surrounded by musical critics last evening, with Mr. Gunn engaged elsewhere, I experienced a feeling of isolated incompetence. It seemed, however, to an untutored ear that Mr. Lehar's score, like Mr. Augustus Thomas' plays, was both good and popular. The tin pan tinkle of American light music was absent, and yet the tunes—Mr. Gunn will shudder at that—were swaying and pretty and easily retained. The inevitable waltz was present vaguely when Mr. Lehar's other achievements in that line are recalled, but it was followed by encores and encores, entirely unaided by the ushers. Miss Sylva was, speaking safely, in fine vocal fettle. The part was well written to display the brilliant timbre of her voice, and she was there too, with the rich, untrammeled histrionism for which she is admired. The English text gave her an opportunity to display her beautiful enunciation, and the auditor was able to follow comfortably the many delicate inflections of tone, the subtle emphasis of diction—in short, all the factors that contribute to the complicated art of lyric declamation. Her voice possessed last evening that vibrant sustaining of the tone that gives the impression of an unbroken thread of melody, the secret of which—as Mr. Gunn might say—is breath control. In the everyday vernacular she sang sweetly, and she was wholly justified in her gracious acknowledgment after the second act of the unequivocal demonstration which followed her efforts.

Mr. Alfro, the tenor, sang beautifully, too, with an accent, and he was classified between the acts by the musical cognoscenti as a tenor, very, very, good indeed. He had nice hair and nice teeth and nice legs, and he was much in earnest in his pursuit of Miss Sylva, who, though of noble birth, had gipsy proclivities. Mr. Carl Haydn was the baritone rival, and he, though a bit gewgawed as to costume, lived down his plumes and aigrettes and figured definitely in the troubled romance. A graceful blonde sprite with a sense of comedy, Miss Dorothy Webb, danced and talked delightfully, though she was handicapped in that office by a Shakspearean buffoon who was most depressing; and Miss Frances Demarest appeared as a reptilian quasi-adventuress.

That handsome and elegant lady moved enticingly through the performance, and I should commend her efforts even though her husband, Mr. Joseph Smith, had not telegraphed me from New York a request to do so. She was one of the most pictorial and attractive elements of the play. The chorus background was easy to look upon, being modest of feature, form, and behavior; and it was expensively and fascinatingly dressed. In fact, it was the most satisfactory chorus observed here in many seasons, though it marred the melody now and then with indiscretions. Mr. Wood's production was lavish, and Mr. Marion's evolutions and pictures were the prettiest and least falsely pretentious I have seen in comic opera.

Society at "Gypsy Love."

Not many stars who come to Chicago can claim the devoted admirers that follow Marguerita Sylva. She counts her close personal friends in Chicago in goodly numbers—friends who always delight in making her visits to the city delightful. Therefore there was some reason in her little confession, "I don't know why I do, but when I come to Chicago I feel I am coming home, which she said from her bower of roses and chrysanthemums with which these admirers had showered her at the close of the second act.

In the well filled seats and boxes were many well known Chicagoans. Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Crane were early arrivals, Mrs. Crane wearing a gown of combined lace and green chiffon. Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Letts came a bit later, Mrs. Letts' evening gown covered with a long black satin coat.

Then came Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hotz, the latter in black satin and silver, and in the meantime the twenty-five guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Breitung were gathering to claim their party seats, well down in front.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, in black satin with white, and Miss Caroline Kirkland were members of an interesting box party, and down in the seats Mr. and Mrs. John De Koven Bowen were among those who braved the early snow storm for the opening performance. Mrs. Bowen wore a beautiful white fur coat over her evening gown, a coat which swathed her slender figure from throat to toe.

Miss Dorothy Kohl and Miss Caroline Kohl were in the house, and Mrs. A. H. Dainty was another guest of the evening.

New Play for Drama Players.

The Chicago Theater society has accepted for production under its auspices a play entitled "Gold," by Mrs. Ancella Hunter of Los Angeles. This drama, with Robert Herrick's and Harrison Rhodes' "The Maternal Instinct," and a third piece still to be selected, will represent the talent of the native born playwright in the repertory of the Drama Players during their ten weeks' repertory engagement here under the guarantee of the society.

"Gold" is regarded by the directors of the Chicago Theater society as a work of stark sincerity and grim power. Its point of view is akin to that of Zola or Balzac. Its story shows the greed of money as transmitted from a miserly father to his three daughters; in one of them the taint is repeated as mere avarice; in another it becomes harsh social ambition; in a third it is manifested as the lust of the flesh.

Plans for Chicago Missions.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—With the completion of the money appropriations to the special fields the board of home missions and church extension concluded its business this evening. Tomorrow the board will be entertained by the University of Denver and will attend the ceremony of breaking ground for the new sciences building.

The board of foreign missions, which is made up of the same bishops and district representatives as the home board is, with the addition of the officers of the board of foreign missions, which will take the place of the officers of the home board, will convene Thursday morning in Trinity church.

Appropriations affecting Chicago and vicinity were made as follows: Chicago city missions, $2,400; Bohemian and Hungarian work, $1,700; deaf mutes, $1,200; French, $600; Italian, $2,000; Polish, $500; Swedish, $1,000; Ottawa, Ill., French, $100; Joliet, Ill., Italian, $500.

Considerable excitement prevailed when Bishop David H. Moore of Cincinnati stated that he had received a telegram at 3 o'clock in the morning stating that the Alexandria apartment building in Cincinnati, in which his family and the family of Bishop J. M. Walden lives, was on fire, and that his household effects, including his library, were destroyed. He was excused from further attendance on the committee meeting and took the first train for Cincinnati. Bishop Walden's flat in the apartment building, the telegram said, had not been damaged. A second telegram, received after Bishop Moore's departure, stated that the damage caused by the fire had not been of a serious nature.

City Presbyterians at Banquet.

Contributions amounting to $50,000 were pledged toward the enlargement of the scope of work of the Winona Lake assembly at the banquet in the Hotel La Salle last night of the Presbyterian denomination of Chicago.

Similar meetings will be held in St. Louis tonight and Louisville tomorrow night for the purpose of reorganizing the assembly and to arouse interest in the work among Presbyterians of the middle west.

The expense of the Hotel La Salle banquet was borne by William ("Billy") Sunday, revivalist, and E. O. Excel, evangelistic singer. The principal speaker of the evening was William Jennings Bryan.

Dr. Henry Webb Johnson of South Bend, Ind., is chairman of the committee making the appeal to the church for funds. He is assisted by Dr. S. C. Dickey, general manager of the assembly; Dr. George Stuart of Cleveland, Tenn., and Frank D. Main of Pittsburgh.

A telegram was read from Evangelist Sunday from Wichita, Kas., saying: "I give $5,000. The great Bible conference is the Gibraltar of Christianity and the Waterloo of false doctrines." John M. Studebaker wired from South Bend that he would give $10,000, and Prof. E. O. Excel pledged $5,000.

Bishop Muldoon at Elgin.

"If you save your soul, you are a success. If you bury your soul under a load of sin and crime in the grasp for wealth and power, your life is a failure."

So spoke the Rt. Rev. Bishop P. J. Muldoon of the Rockford diocese in addressing a confirmation class of eighty at Elgin yesterday.

"If we waited until we earned the gifts of the Holy Spirit we would never get them," he said.

The bishop touched upon many subjects in his address. He strongly advocated state wide response to efforts of Catholics in Freeport to support the orphanage there.

Woman and Her Interests.

Naming the Girl Child.

[Copyright, 1911, by Laura Jean Libbey.]

THERE'S nothing more cruel than to give a girl a name which her girl friends can twist into a ridiculous nickname. This causes her no end of mortification, not to say downright grief. A good name is a priceless jewel.

We can turn these words round a bit and add that a bad one costs its owner dear. If a young man is invited to meet a girl friend at your home—Miss Lilly So-and-so—he immediately conjures up in his mind a fair, sweet maiden with eyes of tender blue and a halo of golden hair. Unless he has a strong attraction elsewhere, he is most eager to meet the maiden with the flower cognomen.

Should you ask him to be presented to Miss Abigail Storms, he will at once see before him, as in a glass darkly, the vision of a tall, thin, angular female, sparse of locks and sour of visage. He makes all sorts of excuses to avoid her. Why he should be tortured into playing the agreeable for an entire evening, though at the request of an intimate friend, when he might spend the time indulging in a little romance that had instantly woven a fairy spell around him the evening before.

Walking home from his office, he had espied as pretty a girl as his eyes had ever rested upon; she was tripping hurriedly past him. Fate was kind to him in causing her to drop a ticket from a book which she was carrying in her hand.

It goes without saying that he returned it to the fair owner, noting that it read: "Good for one admission to the church fair, any evening, between such and such dates." He had been unable to forget the glance from a pair of demure eyes and the sweetest "Thank you very much" from a pair of lovely red lips.

Attraction goes where it is sent. He could not withstand the desire to haunt that fair the entire week. He had heard his sister mention that she was going. It was a happy thought of his, that perhaps she knew the owner of the blue-gray eyes. Unfortunately, she did not intend going until the last of the week. He was promptly on hand at the fair from the time the fair opened—patronized every booth and kept a sharp lookout.

The heroine of his fond imagination did not materialize. On the last evening of the fair his home folk were stricken with amazement to hear him announce that he was going there anyhow.

Almost the first person they encountered upon entering was the pretty girl whom he was so desirous of meeting.

He needed no second invitation. The name that fell upon his astounded ears as his sister introduced them was "Abigail Storms."

It does not always do to jump at conclusions if a hard name has been given to a girl. She may in nowise deserve it. Sly Cupid has it in his power to change it for her; but a husband is necessary in this transaction.

Every young man should remember that it isn't the name he is marrying—it is the girl. If he doesn't like the name of Abigail for his wife it wouldn't take much coaxing for her to consent to be called just plain Sweetheart or Dear One. It is of no especial interest that need concern the outside world as to what her name is.

How to Meet Her.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I want to make the acquaintance of a young lady. I am acquainted with only one miss who knows her, but I do not care to ask her to give me the introduction. I have learned that she would be willing to make my acquaintance and whenever we chance to meet she just blushes without a greeting. What should I do? PERPLEXED."

I think the best plan would be to manage to be with your friend when the girl is about. A clever chap like you, I feel sure, can readily manage a situation like this.

Did She Do Right?

"Dear Miss Libbey: About a year ago I kept steady company with a young man of 24. He came to see me regularly until my intended brother-in-law said something to him about me. Now he seems anxious to make up with me. I love this man dearly and yet am too proud to let him know. R. H."

Don't cheapen yourself by running after him.

Does Not Love His Wife.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 30, married five years, have three children, am a good father, but a poor husband, as there is no love in my heart for the mother of my little ones. My wife understands. There is a little widow whom I love. She is beautiful, only 25 years, was married three months, and buried her husband. ERNEST."

I am thoroughly disgusted with you! How would you have felt towards your father if he acted the part you are playing—the part of a coward and cheat and scoundrel. I need not tell you you are doing wrong; you know it. But I do ask you for the sake of your children to try to be decent.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1911: By Lillian Russell.]

NOTE—Miss Russell will be glad to answer question pertaining to womanly beauty. Libbey will reply to queries on social problems. Mrs. Eddington will give advice on housekeeping. Personal replies will be given if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed.

NO woman can truthfully say, "I do not care whether I am beautiful or not."

Every woman does care. The immutable laws of her being have made physical attractiveness as much a natural glory to her as strength is to man.

It is the plain woman to whom I address these words of advice and warning, but should beauty's self find a few useful hints I see no reason why she should not avail herself of them.

A great many ill tempered women—and men—are ill tempered because they are ugly. They may not realize always what makes them unhappy, but heavy indeed is the burden of ugliness and pernicious is its effect on their character.

An ugly child early begins to notice the difference in its treatment by strangers from that given to the pretty child, and when it looks in the mirror and is reminded of another far more lovely, disappointment begins to embitter its whole nature, as no one tells it how to make itself beautiful a melancholy shyness takes place of vivacity and ambition.

Often a girl becomes sarcastic, ill natured and envious; other faults follow and she becomes unhappy and morose, just because she feels that she has been given a handicap at birth. Every young girl should be told that no woman need be ugly if she finds her points of attractiveness that every woman has.

It is no sin or folly to long to be beautiful and the study of beauty points should be an acknowledged art by all to whom God has given an intelligent brain.

This old saying of the plain woman, "Well, I am as God made me" is a slander against her Creator. We are told that we are made in the image and likeness of God." What is more beautiful to contemplate? That likeness is not physical; it is spiritual. We are made in spiritual likeness of God; therefore our intellect and understanding is all that resembles our Maker, and if we do not bring out our best points we are not showing gratitude for our existence.

Babies have to be cared for and trained; no one thinks of neglecting them because "God made them helpless."

To bring out our best points of beauty of face, form, or intelligence is but a part of the duty we owe to our fellow creatures and to the best that is in us.

You will say, "Well, how can I make the best of myself?"

Woman's first duty is to make herself beautiful to see, and pleasant to hear, to be wholesome, talented, and learned. This means much thought and hard work. To cultivate one talent leads to several; the bringing out of one point is the discovery of many; start with any one of them and others will follow.

People often complain of men not marrying; alas, they forget how little women offer in exchange for marriage. Some women do not even try to be agreeable to look at, much less to live with. More men would marry if they could find mates; women who are helpful, amusing, or pleasing to the eye.

The mass of society is confusing; the brightly colored spots are the visible ones; the others are the background; so do not be content with the background; be prominent—prominent in character or individuality.

A woman can be visible by her virtue, her industry, her talent, or her beauty; only want of character can make her invisible. A woman should make the best of herself, inside and out.

To be healthy, beautiful, and agreeable is no disadvantage even in a learned profession.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

A. R.: Plain table salt sometimes removes a wart. Moisten the wart with water and rub table salt into it. Do this several times a day. Have your druggists put up a dram salicylic acid, and one ounce of collodion in a bottle with a small brush run through the cork. Apply this several times a day, but be exceedingly careful not to get any of this mixture on the surrounding skin.

HELEN B.: You can buy mascara at any drug store. Get it as near the shade of your hair as possible or a little darker.

DOLLY: Unless you dye your hair there is no way of making it darker. I do not advise any woman to change the color of her hair. No woman can dye her own hair properly, and hair that looks touched up at once proclaims her to be something that she is not. However, if you wish to change the color of your hair there are plenty of good dyes on the market.

Vaudeville Gossip.

The Farber Sisters, Walter Hampden, and Some Others.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

TWO pretty girls, Constance and Irene Farber, give a piquancy and daintiness to a bill at the Majestic this week that makes the most hardened vaudeville spectator that ever got inside of a theater sit straight up and rejoice exceedingly.

There's Billy Gould, who tells a lot of new stories so funny to the audience that the esteemed Mr. Gould has difficulty in getting through his act in the allotted twenty-eight minutes. There's a bit of grand opera splendidly sung by the Romany Opera company; Mrs. Gene Hughes, who does an exceedingly clever little sketch, funny all the way through, besides having a few words of wisdom judicially sprinkled around the edges. There's the little drama by Richard Harding Davis acted with such telling effect by Walter Hampden. Probably the cute little moral to the play, to the effect that the way to be rid of a blackmailer is to lead him around to a quiet corner and kill him, was lost on the madly applauding audience.

The small Farber girls launched no great psychological truth at their audience unless they taught that youth and daintiness are pleasant qualities and much to be admired. Miss Constance Farber, while apparently a young person and not before encountered on the vaudeville stage in Chicago, shows charming symptoms of becoming as amusing a comedienne as ever delighted an audience.

Nora Bayes, Mabel Hite, and Blanche Ring will do well to keep their garlands in a safety deposit vault in the future. Sister Irene is of the willowy, clinging, peach bud type that looks especially well in soft fluffy blue things and spot light. The soft fluffy blue type that bloom in the spot light will also do well to look carefully to their laurels and put out more press agents. The audience was especially delighted when the pleasing Miss Farbers did their dancing song, "Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines," but it also insisted on Miss Connie Farber responding to numerous encores after her whimsical little song, "I Just Met the Girlie That Married the Feller That I Was Going to Get."

Walter Hampden, another newcomer to our best vaudeville circles in Chicago, made Mr. Davis' canned drama "Blackmail" seem the most natural and plausible thing in the world. The solution of the old blackmail plot where a scoun-drel attempts to darken the happy home of a repentant and loving wife is at least handled in an entirely new and original manner by Mr. Davis.

Usually on the stage a blackmailer lurks around through four acts, makes everybody unhappy, drives the aged father to suicide, and sends the heroine down to the cold dark river, where she is only saved just as she goes down for the last time by the gallant hero. The villain keeps on blackmailing and messing things up clear through to the last curtain. He is permitted to walk peaceably off the stage and down to his dressing room, where he takes off his black mustache. Then while the property man slaps a trunk in the wings with a barrel stave the comic friend rushes in and yells "Heaven has judged him. He has just shot himself in the drawing room."

There is nothing like that in Mr. Davis' sketch. In "Blackmail" the beautiful heroine calls on a true hearted gent that once loved her madly, but who was cruelly jilted because she couldn't afford a touring car.

The true hearted gent has hidden his grief in the Klondyke and returned with $10,000,000 or $20,000,000. His old sweetheart tells him she is married and would be happy, but for a dark shadow that has fallen across her home.

A horrid monster who has been prying into her careless past has discovered a few things he thinks would prove more or less interesting to her husband. But he is willing to forget about it for $1,000 in hand paid. The unhappy lady begs that her former admirer will be so good as to loan her the $1,000.

The former admirer thinks a moment and then says he will do better than that; he will himself give the hush money to the unpleasant person who is causing so much trouble, and the beautiful lady weeps and exits.

The gentleman from the Klondyke settles the matter by calling the villain into his room, giving him the $1,000 and then filling him full of neat holes from a forty-four.

This would apparently leave the hero in an unpleasant position, but not so.

Before assassinating the villain the hero has the presence of mind to provide himself with two revolvers. Then he tells the clerk of the hotel to send up the house detective to be a hidden witness of an attempt at blackmail. The house detective talks more like the house physician, but he finally permits himself to be concealed in and adjoining room so as to overhear all that passes between the hero and the blackmailer. When the scoundrel appears the hero hands him the $1,000 and then shouts:

"What! Would you murder me," and fires two shots from one of his revolvers into the wall. The blackmailer tries to escape through a door in the door, but the hero grabs him by the coat tails, pulls him back, and shouts:

"You force me to defend myself," and thereupon forms himself into a firing squad and gently but firmly shoots the villain to death.

He throws one of the pistols at the feet of the deceased, and when the house detective rushes in, he says:

"I suppose you heard all. He tried to kill me. I had to shoot to save my life." And just as the curtain glides slowly down the house detective throws up his arms like the Count of Monte Cristo escaping from the sea and proclaims "Self-defense."

The audience applauds mightily, but probably more for Walter Hampden's fine acting than for the gentle teachings of the play. Assassinating villains with a forty-four is such a simple proceeding. Arsenic or ground glass would have been so much neater and seems to be more in vogue for fall wear.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand.

Marion Harland is recognized by the editors of every woman's magazine in the country as the greatest authority on all matters concerning housekeeping and homemaking. This great authority is to be absolutely at the service of The Tribune readers in helping them solve any problem of housekeeping. If you don't know what to do in regard to any household problem write to Marion Harland, in care The Tribune, and she will gladly help you.

Our Midweek Helping Hand.

Bedding Is Needed.

"I have supplied 'Mrs. H.' with rugs and pieces of carpet, which she received very gratefully. She seems to be a very deserving woman, and I am looking for bedding for her. I hope to be able to supply her with it, as this is her need just now. If I am not able to find any I shall let you know, that some one else may help her. Thank you for bringing me in touch with her. B. B. B."

A worker who "means business" whenever she puts her hand to the plow. Should she report inability to find the needed bedding, we shall make application to the "some one else"—name and residence as yet unknown.

* *

Outfit for Baby.

"I have in hand a baby's tin bathtub and some little odds and ends of clothing, in fact an almost entire winter outfit for some little boy about 3 or 4 years of age—a 'step' under my own 4 year old. I want them to go to some deserving person."

As long as babies come to homes where money is scarce and fathers "lose their jobs" in these so-called prosperous times, the gifts you put into our treasury will be most welcome. I hold your address and thank you for the privilege of doing it.

* *

Wants Magazine for Mother.

"My mother has been trying to get some of last year's Ladies' Home Journals for the sake of some articles in them. If any of your readers still have them and it is not asking too much, I really should like to get these back numbers of the magazine so that I could give them to my mother.

"YOUR LITTLE FRIEND."

The batch of magazines put at our disposal has been given away. There must be big bundles of others of the same sort waiting to be called for. This boy wants them for his mother. Send for his name and address.

* *

Twins, but No High Chair.

"May I ask if there is a high chair not in use. I have twin babies just sitting alone and am not able to buy a chair. It would be such a help to me! Would it be too much to ask for two? I do all the work and care for the babies, too. I shall be thankful if I may have one. I shall call for the chair if in Chicago. MRS. N. W."

One will almost surely be forthcoming. I wish I could guarantee two. The twinnies will have to take turns in the chair, if but one answers the mother's pathetic pleading. The pair would lessen her load by more than half.

Doll's Carriage for Child.

"Will you kindly print this letter? It may seem only nonsense, but my niece, who is with me, wants an English doll's carriage, one large enough for an 8-year-old girl to play with. She has wanted one and has pleaded for it for the last five years, and now her heart is almost broken because she can't have one. It seems nothing else will do. Her whole heart is in it. I simply cannot afford to get her one. The kind she longs for may be one that some little girl has outgrown and is tired of, and who may see this letter. I shall gladly call for it.

So far as rating the child's longing as absurd and your report of it to us as "nonsense," we enter fully into the importance of the situation. Christmas is too near for us to risk further disappointment to the baby. She wants that doll's carriage as much as the rich woman craves the motor car her John thinks a silly whim or her poorer neighbor a set of furs she is "just dying for!"

* *

Seeks Reading Matter.

"Will you please put a few words in the Corner and ask for reading matter for me, books and magazines? I shall gladly pay expressage for them. And when I have finished reading them I shall pass them on to some one else. MRS. M. R. C."

I "put in the few words" with hearty willingness. More and better words will accompany the contributions of books and magazines that will succeed your request. Unless one is a collector of rare editions it is folly to hoard books one will never reread. They are dead stock. Galvanize them into life by passing them along.

Needs Teacher's Bible.

"I know a young man in a county hospital—a shut-in, who never owned a Bible with a concordance. He mentioned to me that he might do some Christian work among the inmates of the place if he had a large, good type Bible. If you will send me the address of some one who has a teacher's Bible, I shall be glad to get it and send it to him.

"ALICE F."

The appeal will not need repetition. To put a Bible of good print and with marginal references, accompanied by a concordance, into this man's hands is the best kind of Christian missionary work.

What can we do for him besides sending the Bible? Think over the "case" and send for his address.

Chance to Aid Invalid.

"I have a brother, 74 years old, who has been laid up with rheumatism for eight years, unable to move hand or foot. His only pastime is reading and collecting cards, coins, and Indian relics. He would like to get a bookcase and an electric battery. I can give plenty of references, as he is well known. If any reader has a battery he would like to dispose of we should like to get it. My brother cannot sit up or even turn over, but must lie in one position continually. Please see if you cannot do something for his comfort. He would like to get views of airships and aeroplanes from those who can spare them. MRS. E. E. L."

Somehow that last sentence brings the pitiable figure upon the bed more clearly to my imagination than any other part of the sister's story. Tied to his pillow for life, his fancy revels in the daring flights of men who can go whither they please.

The bookcase means a set of shelves upon which the books, which are his very life, may be ranged.

We have other correspondents in Whiting, Ind. Will they look into the home of our interesting shut-in and forward our desire to mitigate the hardships of his present position?

"I have a number of nice woolen rags that I will divide with any one living near Chicago who will sew them together for me. I want to make a rug and haven't time to sew the rags myself. G. W. R."

"You have told me of a request for a piano from two little girls at Steger, Ill. We have a piano which we should be glad to send down there if you will give me their names. We have purchased a new one, and while our other one is restrung, it is not new, but would give them lots of enjoyment. I trust I have not deferred too long in writing about this request, as I want to be of service. N. L. C."

"I have lots of mechanical machine magazines and my mother has all kinds of women's journals to give away. WESLEY C."

This week we take our "toners" as the last course of our repast.

These are but earnests of the abundant giving to come.

ADMITS GAMBLING IN HOME, BUT JUDGE SETS HIM FREE.

Charge Against Clarence F. Drude of Selling Liquor Without License Also Dismissed—Accuser Is Held.

A quiet, family gambling party now and then was admitted by Clarence F. Drude, 27 years old, 4340 Prairie avenue, before Municipal Judge Sabath in the Hyde Park court yesterday.

But Drude denied selling liquor without a license, the basis of the charge against him. He was dismissed from custody and the hearing of the complainant, Joseph Thoney, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued until Nov. 22.

Thoney asserted he was invited to a game at Drude's flat, in which Drude, Mrs. Drude, Dr. Eleanor Emslie, Mrs. Adeline Barrow of 3731 Indiana avenue, and Ralph B. Bielsel played poker with a 50 cent limit.

At the end of the game, which lasted from 7 o'clock on Nov. 4 until 7 o'clock in the morning, Thoney was winner by $7. But he declared he paid that much more for drinks during the evening. Mrs. Drude being waitress.

CITY PLANS TO INVESTIGATE SPECIAL PARK COMMISSION.

Controller Traeger Will Conduct Inquiry Into Expenditures—Ald. Beilfuss Believes Accounts Are Straight.

An investigation was started yesterday into certain expenditures of the special park commission, which has under it the small parks, the city playgrounds, and the city forestry department.

Ald. Albert W. Beilfuss, chairman of the commission, declared last night that he knew of no specific irregularities or accounts that had been questioned, but that he had told Controller Traeger, who has the investigation in charge, that if there were such he wished a complete investigation made.

"The only thing I learned," said Ald. Beilfuss, "was that there were some teaming items it was thought did not exactly tally. I do not think there is anything wrong. I believe any discrepancies that may seem to exist will be swept away or come out as errors in bookkeeping."

SUMMER SUIT BRINGS ARREST.

Justin McDougald, son of A. W. McDougald, a Montreal banker, was arrested in Englewood yesterday. He attracted attention by wearing a summer suit. He will be taken back to Montreal, where, it is alleged, he escaped from a sanitarium.

He had previously attracted the attention of the police by ordering several hundred dollars' worth of clothing for himself and for Mrs. George Osborne Haynes of New York, whom he called an "Austrian princess" and said he intended to marry.

"My arrest is just spite work," he said in his cell. "My father doesn't want me to marry Mrs. Haynes and is taking this way to prevent our union."

NOTE—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. Miss Libbey will reply to queries on social problems. Mrs. Eddington will give advice on housekeeping. Personal replies will be given if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed.

No woman can truthfully say, "I do not care whether I am beautiful or not." Every woman does care. The immutable laws of her being have made physical attractiveness as much a "natural" to her as strength is to man.

It is the plain woman to whom I address the words of advice and warning, but about duty's self find a few useful hints I see upon why she should not avail herself of them.

A great many ill tempered women—and many are ill tempered because they are ugly. They do not realize always what makes them unhappy, but heavy indeed is the burden of ugliness and pernicious is its effect on their character.

An ugly child early begins to notice the difference in its treatment by strangers from that given to the pretty child, and when it looks in the mirror and is reminded of another how lovely, disappointment begins to embitter the whole nature, as no one tells it how to make itself beautiful a melancholy shyness takes place of vivacity and ambition.

Often a girl becomes sarcastic, ill natured and envious; other faults follow and she becomes unhappy and morose, just because she is that she has been given a handicap in life. Every young girl should be told that no woman need be ugly if she finds her perfect attractiveness that every woman has.

It is no sin or folly to long to be beautiful and the study of beauty points should be the knowledged art by all to whom God has given an intelligent brain.

This old saying of the plain woman, "Well, I was as God made me" is a slander against the creator. We are told that we are made "in the image and likeness of God." What is more beautiful to contemplate? That likeness is not physical; it is spiritual. We are made in spiritual likeness of God; therefore our intellect and understanding is all that resembles our Maker, and if we do not bring out our best points we are not showing gratitude for our existence.

Babies have to be cared for and trained; he thinks of neglecting them because "God made them helpless."

To bring out our best points of beauty of face, form, or intelligence is but a part of duty we owe to our fellow creatures and to God is that is in us.

You will say, "Well, how can I make the best of myself?"

Woman's first duty is to make herself beautiful to see, and pleasant to hear, be handsome, talented, and learned. This means much thought and hard work. To cultivate one talent adds to several; the bringing out of one point the discovery of many; start with any one of them and others will follow.

People often complain of men not marrying as, they forget how little women offer in exchange for marriage. Some women do not even try to be agreeable to look at, much less to live with. More men would marry if they could find mates; women who are helpful, amusing, or pleasing to the eye.

The mass of society is confusing; the bright colored spots are the visible ones; the others are the background; so do not be content with the background; be prominent—prominent character or individuality.

A woman can be visible by her virtue, by industry, her talent, or her beauty; only with character can make her invisible. A woman should make the best of herself, inside and out. To be healthy, beautiful, and agreeable is an advantage even in a learned profession.

Remember: To look one's best is not vanity, but self-respect.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

Plain table salt sometimes makes a wart. Moisten the wart with water and rub table salt into it. Do this several times a day. Have your druggists put up a dram salicylic acid, and one ounce of collodion in a bottle with a small brush run through the cork. Apply this several times a day, being exceedingly careful not to get any of the acid on the surrounding skin.

N. B.: You can buy mascara at any store. Get it as near the shade of your hair as possible or a little darker.

DOLLY: Unless you dye your hair there is no way of making it darker. I do not advise any woman to change the color of her hair. No woman can dye her own hair properly so that looks touched up at once proper for her to something that she is not, if you wish to change the color of your hair there are plenty of good dyes on the market.

Gossip.

Cain keeps on blackmailing and messing up clear through to the last curtain. He is permitted to walk peaceably off the stage and down to his dressing room, where he takes off his black mustache. Then when the property man slaps a trunk in the wings a barrel stave the comic friend rushes in and tells "Heaven has judged him. He has shot himself in the drawing room."

There is nothing like that in Mr. David Belasco's In "Blackmail" the beautiful heroine, a true hearted gent that once loved her, but who was cruelly jilted because he couldn't afford a touring car.

The true hearted gent has hidden his grief in the Klondyke and returned with $10,000,000. $10,000,000. His old sweetheart tells him she still loves him and would be happy, but for a dark shadow that has fallen across her home.

The horrid monster who has been prying into her careless past has discovered a few things which would prove more or less interesting to her husband. But he is willing to forget about it for $1,000 in hand paid. The unhappy lady begs that her former admirer will be as good as to loan her the $1,000.

The former admirer thinks a moment and then says he will do better than that; he will himself give the hush money to the unpleasant person who is causing so much trouble in the beautiful lady weeps and exits.

The gentleman from the Klondyke settles the matter by calling the villain into his room, giving him the $1,000 and then filling him full of neat holes from a forty-four.

This would apparently leave the hero in an unpleasant position, but not so.

Before assassinating the villain the hero has the presence of mind to provide himself with two revolvers. Then he tells the clerk at the hotel to send up the house detective to be a hidden witness of an attempt at blackmail. The house detective talks more like the house physician, but he finally permits himself to be concealed in and adjoining room so as to overhear what passes between the hero and the blackmailer.

When the scoundrel appears the hero taunts him the $1,000 and then shouts:

"What! Would you murder me," and fires two shots from one of his revolvers into the floor. The blackmailer tries to escape through a door, but the hero grabs him by the collar, pulls him back, and shouts:

"You force me to defend myself," and promptly forms himself into a firing squad and gently but firmly shoots the villain to death.

He throws one of the pistols at the feet of the deceased, and when the house detective arrives, he says:

"I suppose you heard all. He tried to kill me. I had to shoot to save my life." And just as the curtain glides slowly down the house detective throws up his arms like the Count of Monte Cristo escaping from the sea and proclaims "Self-defense."

The audience applauds mightily, but pays more for Walter Hampden's fine acting than for the gentle teachings of the play. Assassinating villains with a forty-four is such a wonderful deadening. Arsenic or ground glass would have been so much neater and seems to be in vogue for fall wear.

MISSOURI OUSTS HARVESTER TRUST

IMPOSES FINE OF $50,000.

Concern Allowed Until March 1 to Dissolve Connection with Parent Company.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 14.—The International Harvester company of America was ousted from the state of Missouri and fined $50,000 by the Supreme court today.

The court's decision sustained the findings of Special Commissioner Theodore Brace, who reported to the court that the company violated the common and anti-trust laws of Missouri.

The fine must be paid on or before Jan. 1, 1912, and if the International Harvester company of America proves to the court by March 1, 1912, that it has ceased all connection with the International Harvester company of New Jersey, which the court held to be unlawful, the ouster order will be suspended.

The harvester company must file proofs of its willingness to comply with the judgment of the court. The proofs must be approved by the attorney general.

Leaks Out in Advance.

The judges of the Supreme court are much wrought up over the "leak" in the ouster decision which permitted contents of the court's order to become known in New York and elsewhere an hour in advance of the court's sitting. Chief Justice Valliant, aided by Justice Lamb, has begun an inquiry in an effort to fix responsibility for the "leak."

The opinion found that competition was lessened and that practically all of the harvester business in the state was done by the respondent company. It held that it is contrary to the laws of Missouri for one company to conduct the business of another, as in this case the New Jersey company had no license to do business in Missouri.

Judge Graves in his opinion says:

"The respondent in this case was a part and parcel of this gigantic and nefarious scheme. For some years it has been the mere sales agent of the International Harvester company, the New Jersey company. It was licensed in this state to sell its own goods, but it is now selling the goods of another.

"As such party to an unlawful arrangement or combination it should suffer the penalties prescribed by our laws. I have indicated that we could temper justice with mercy. We have the right to oust it from the state and in addition to fine it. I think a conditional ouster should go and the respondent be fined $50,000 for its long and continued infraction of our laws."

Findings of the Commissioner.

A commissioner appointed by the state Supreme court found the International Harvester company guilty in September, 1910, of violating the Missouri anti-trust laws. The case was submitted to the Supreme court for affirmation last April. The effect of the decision is to prevent all the companies which make up the International company from conducting further business in this state.

Commissioner Brace in his report declared the International Harvester company, by reason of its enormous capital, $120,000,000, could not obtain a license in Missouri, so the International Harvester Company of America was organized as a selling agent and obtained a license, to evade the laws of the state, which barred the holding company from entering. He found that the International had practically a monopoly on the sale of binders in Missouri.

The taking of testimony in the suit began in May, 1908 and continued over a year. It was conducted by Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, then attorney general. The testimony in the case covered 1,600 type written pages.

The ouster suit against the company was brought under the common law and the Missouri anti-trust law, which are broader than the Sherman anti-trust law.

Moves Out of Kentucky.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Headquarters of the International Harvester company in this section has been moved from Louisville, Ky., to New Albany, Ind., just across the Ohio river.

By way of an explanation for the move, circulars published by the company today say:

"We could not remain in Louisville without being subject to a multiplicity of lawsuits. According to the laws of Kentucky, almost all that is collected for fines and penalties in certain cases goes to the lawyers and court officers. The law, therefore, makes it profitable for commonwealth and county attorneys to bring suits against large corporations."

M'CORMICK TALKS OF DECISION.

Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, made the following statement last night regarding the decision of the Supreme court of Missouri:

"From the brief press reports it seems that the court confirms the finding of Commissioner Brace, who decided against the company on technical grounds, but in his report expressly stated:

"'I fail to find in the evidence any other substantial ground upon which respondent's right, license, and privilege to do business in this state should be forfeited.'

"The evidence showed that no complaints had been made against the company by dealers, customers, or competitors, and it is evident from the decision that the Missouri Supreme court has no criticism to make of the company's business methods. We had hoped that the decision in this case would be based on the conduct of the company rather than on technical objections to its form of organization, for, after all, the fairness of prices and business practices is what chiefly concerns the public. We have earnestly tried to conduct our business so that it would meet the approval of our customers and at the same time comply with the varying laws of the different states.

"We cannot say what action will be taken until we have carefully studied the full text of the court's decision."

WORKMEN'S LAW HELD GOOD

Wisconsin Supreme Court Upholds Legislative Act.

STATE TO FIX THE DAMAGES.

Statute Itself Public Policy, Says Chief Justice.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—The Wisconsin Supreme court today sustained the constitutionality of the workmen's compensation law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

The law provides for the insurance of workingmen employed by corporations against injury. In case of injury damages are to be fixed by a state commission.

Case Comes from Milwaukee.

The case was that of Borgnis and others against the Falk company of Milwaukee, where the plaintiff, who had a long term contract of service with the Falk company, brought action to enjoin the company from electing to come under the law, because he claimed that if it made its election, he would be obliged either to quit his employment, or to submit to the law and lose his common law remedies in case of injuries received in employment.

Statute Itself Public Policy.

Chief Justice Winslow wrote the decision. In discussing the objection that the law is against public policy, the opinion says:

"A constitutional statute cannot be contrary to public policy—it is public policy.

"The contention that the statute is unconstitutional because it is against public policy amounts to nothing more than a contention that it is unconstitutional, hence we address ourselves directly to that question and thereby gain something in clearness of thought."

COMMERCIAL CLUBS LAUNCH FEDERATION AFTER BAD START

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Representatives of ninety-six commercial clubs of Illinois today launched a state federation after President Wheeler of the Chicago Commercial association came to the rescue and prevented a factional row. Downstate delegates feared that Chicago would attempt to control the organization.

At the outset it was apparent that the Chicago delegation could control the convention by force of members. President H. A. Wheeler announced that his organization would cast but one vote. With this announcement the downstate delegates were satisfied. Chicago was given but one office. It went to Edward E. Gore, secretary and treasurer.

President, D. H. Bathard, Peoria; vice presidents, E. H. Kinney, Beardstown; W. H. Van Valkenberg, Danville; R. K. Welch, Rockford; secretary treasurer, Edward E. Gore, Chicago; executive committee, T. H. Monroe, Streator; C. A. Kiler, Champaign; George Pasfield Jr., Springfield; Eben Rodgers, Alton; H. J. Cloyer, Quincy; George W. Mueller, Decatur; C. B. Fox, Belleville; Eugene Orendorff, Rock Island.

BUTTER RISE IS BOOMERANG; SKYHIGH PRICES UNTENABLE.

Board Makes 1 Cent Reduction—Eggs Maintain Advance—Potatoes Poor and Higher—Poultry Takes Upturn.

As had been predicted by conservative dealers, the butter market at Chicago could not be sustained at the high level enforced Monday and yesterday officials of the butter board announced a reduction of 1c a pound on all grades. Eggs were supported at their recent upturn and the market was fairly buoyant, with receipts of 2,598 cases.

Receipts of potatoes aggregated 146 cars, the largest total in several days, but their quality was poor and sellers secured an advance of 3c a bushel for fancy stock. The trade was active, with speculators making purchases for future consumption.

Another ½c advance was made in the price of spring chickens and turkeys were raised 1c a pound. Receipts were moderate and the trade was only fair. Cheese prices were advanced ⅛@1c a pound.

ROAD BUYS SITE FOR TERMINAL

Canadian Pacific Acquires Land on West Side for Its Freight Depot.

PRICE PAID IS $930,000.

Record was made yesterday of the purchase of 105 parcels of land on the west side, which are to serve as the new freight terminal of the Canadian Pacific road in Chicago.

Title is taken by the Central Terminal railway company, organized by the Minneapolis St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway company, the Soo Line, a part of the Canadian Pacific road, for the purpose of carrying out the project.

A stated consideration of $930,000 is given in the transfer to the Central Terminal company, and in connection with the transfer the Soo Line and the terminal company have given a mortgage to the Guaranty Trust company of New York to secure an issue of $20,00,000 first mortgage Chicago Terminal 4 per cent thirty year sinking fund gold bonds maturing Nov. 1, 1941.

Property in Two Tracts.

The property is comprised of two tracts, one being bounded by Colorado avenue on the south, Lexington street on the north, Walnut avenue on the west, and South Fiftieth avenue on the east. This will be used for auxiliary yards and track purposes.

The other tract, which will be used as the freight terminal, lies south of Twelfth street and west of Canal street to Clinton street extended, to a point 75 feet south of Fifteenth street, thence west to a point 160 feet east of Halsted street.

It is interesting to note, as indicative of the thrifty character of the people owning these properties, that the total incumbrance on them amounted to only $17,500.

Notice of the Soo line's purpose to establish this terminal was given last summer, when condemnation suits were filed to acquire the property, which the road had been unable to secure by private purchase.

Deal in State Street Property.

A notable deal in South State street property is the sale by Oliver & Co. to A. Stamford White, former president of the board of trade, of the property at the northwest corner of Seventeenth street, 100x150 feet, with thirty foot alley on the west.

The corner 75 feet, which has old improvements, is leased to Louis Goldberg, while the north 25 feet is under lease to Siegel, Cooper & Co. for stable purposes. The consideration is withheld, but the assessed value of the property is $70,000. The property backs up to Tattersall's and is in the zone where purchases amounting to several million dollars were made a few years ago by railroads for a big fruit warehouse project, abandoned later.

Mr. White, who is a believer in the new south business district, is the owner of the 73x170 feet at the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Twenty-first street and 75 feet in Indiana avenue, near Twentieth street, both of which were purchased by Oliver & Co.

$120,000 Lease Closed.

A notable lease has been closed by Beachey & Lawlor to George Knab, the restaurateur, of an L shaped store in the Beachey & Lawlor building at the northwest corner of Dearborn and Washington streets for ten years at a term rent of $120,000. Mr. Knab will expend about $20,000 in equipping the place and will put in a new mosaic floor and marble wainscoting.

Ten Acre Tract Sold.

An important industrial project is said to be involved in the purchase of a tract of about ten acres of land at the northeast corner of Seventy-sixth street and Irving avenue. The property, which extends from Seventy-sixth to Seventy-ninth streets, was first conveyed by the estate of Charles P. Dewey to Samuel H. Hodge for $22,000, and then by Hodge to the Baltimore and Ohio Connecting Railroad company.

James Cockburn, who recently acquired the sixteen flat building at the northeast corner of Greenwood avenue and Forty-fourth street, and the two story residence adjoining on the north from Gustav Friend and Julius Oppenheimer for $75,000, has sold the same for cash to Inez M. Cochrane, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000. C. T. Gilbert of Baird & Warner negotiated the sale.

Apartment House Sold.

Emil H. Swenson has sold to Kate E. Pardue the twelve apartment building at the southwest corner of St. Lawrence avenue and Fiftieth street with 65x135 feet of ground. The consideration is withheld, but the buyer assumes an incumbrance of $28,000. The sale was negotiated by R. G. Ingersoll of E. Orris Hart & Co., who also sold for Kate E. and Harry A. Pardue to Edwin H. Abbott the six apartment building at 5621-25 Kenmore avenue, subject to an incumbrance of $21,000. This property was recently purchased through the same firm for $40,000.

Ninety-nine Year Lease Made.

Edward Mendell has leased to Abraham Frank for ninety-nine years about 400 feet of frontage at Elston avenue, Addison street, and Kedzie avenue for a term rent of $100,000. The lessee will improve with stores and flats. The big plant of the Commonwealth-Edison company is near by and the company is building 250 dwellings for its employés. Marcus & Menx were the brokers.

Frederick A. Schmidt has sold to Myer Pollock the property at the southeast corner of West Madison street and Winchester avenue, 25x125 feet, with two story store and flat building, for $15,500. Mr. Schmidt has had the property continously since 1867. Nudelman & Co. were the brokers.

Miss Mary Buckingham and Clarence A. Burley have sold to Mary E. Stenson the premises 3415-39 Forest avenue, 215x124 feet, west front, with residence improvements, consideration being withheld. Mrs. Stenson gave trust deeds to secure $26,300 of the purchase money, five years, at 5 per cent.

The long term lease of the Hofbrau at 73-77 Monroe street by the Childs Restaurant company, which was published prominently yesterday as a piece of real estate news, was published in all its details in "The Tribune" of Aug. 19 last.

Put Off Torrens System Action.

After a long and spirited discussion the Cook county real estate board at its monthly meeting yesterday postponed final action on the Torrens question to the annual meeting of the board, to be held Jan. 12 next. Among the speakers at yesterday's meeting were Henry E. Coonley, Albert H. Tyrrell, R. G. Badeaux, Sheldon Haddock, Emil H. Schintz, A. D. Hines, Augustus S. Peabody, and John P. Foerster.

At the weekly luncheon the Torrens question was the topic of discussion in the way of questions asked Charles T. Farson, examiner of titles in the Torrens office by Mr. Coonley and Attorneys Harry S. Mecartney and Simeon Straus. The discussion was along technical legal lines for the greater part and Mr. Farson aroused considerable applause when he declared that once good property is registered you can't lose it by any defects of title. "We certify that you have it and if any mistake is made the burden falls upon the indemnity fund, and if that is insufficient on Cook county."

Pick Speakers for Banquet.

The following speakers were announced for the annual banquet of the board to be held at the La Salle Tuesday night, Nov. 28: Govs. Oswald West of Oregon, Edwin Norris of Montana, O. A. Eberhart of Minnesota, and J. H. Hawley of Idaho. Colvin B. Brown of the Panama-Pacific Exposition company also will be among the speakers, while the Rev. J. Hastie Adgers of the Edgewater Methodist Episcopal church will pronounce the invocation.

The chairman of the banquet committee is W. C. Regelin and of the reception committee Henry T. Carr.

LONG AND SHORT HAUL RULE GIVEN

RATE MUST BE ABSOLUTE.

Board Has No Authority to Fix the Charges Except on a Relative Basis.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—The majority opinion of the Commerce court, announced today in the transcontinental rate cases, holds that the long and short haul provision of the interstate commerce act is constitutional.

Judge Archbald, in an opinion concurring with the majority of the court as to the propriety of the granting of temporary injunctions against the orders of the commission, which he holds "were clearly invalid," says:

"I cannot see my way to go beyond this and declare the fourth section valid, on which, if anything is to be said, my opinion is to the contrary."

Final determination by the commerce court of the question whether the temporary injunction granted shall be made permanent probably will not be reached for several months.

Holds Fourth Section Valid.

In the opinion, prepared by Judge Mack, the commerce court not only agrees with the interstate commerce commission that the long and short haul provision—the fourth section of the law—is constitutional, but that it would be unconstitutional, "as an unlawful delegation of legislative power," if no standard were given "to guide the exercise of the commission's discretion in granting authority to depart from the rule forbidding a lesser rate for the long than for the short haul in the same direction, and over the same line."

By an exhaustive examination of the entire law, however, the court reaches the conclusion that it is the duty of the commission to exercise its discretion to establish a lower rate for a longer haul than for a shorter, if the conditions, in its opinion, warrant such action.

Rate Must Be Absolute.

The court points out that the orders of the commission which are enjoined "do not establish absolute rates for either the long or short haul but they do establish a relation between any long haul rate that a carrier may put into effect and the short haul rate, determining that from zone 1 the western short haul rate shall not exceed the long haul rate, and that from zones 2, 3 and 4 the short haul shall not exceed the long haul rate by more than 7 per cent, 15 per cent and 25 per cent respectively.

"In so far as the commission attempts thus to determine the relation of the long and short haul rates, irrespective of absolute rates, it goes beyond any authority that has been vested in it.

Effect on Long Hauls.

"The practical effect of the commission's order is either to compel a blanket rate from the entire east to the entire west, or to prevent the carriers from getting all the business which they now secure without loss by making rates which enable merchants to meet market competition.

"In a word, unless some through business is given up, the effect of the orders would be to put Spokane and other interior points on an equality with Seattle and other Pacific coast points, at least from zone 1—a position to which they would not be entitled under all circumstances in view of their relative locations, the former 400 miles more or less in the interior, the latter on the coast."

The question eventually will have to be fought out before the United States Supreme court.

GOVERNORS SHOW WAY WEST.

Realty Opportunities in Four States to Be Subject at Cook County Board's Banquet.

Four governors of western states are to speak at the annual banquet of the Cook County real estate board on "governor's night," Nov. 28. The addresses will be on real estate opportunities in the four states, and are to be made by Gov. Oswald West of Oregon, Gov. James H. Hawley of Idaho, Gov. E. L. Norris of Montana, and Gov. A. O. Eberhart of Minnesota.

B. F. WINCHELL, FRISCO HEAD, SEES COMPETITION ON GAIN.

Declares New Ideals Supplant Cutthroat Methods—Replies to Banker Dawes—Railway Men Meet.

B. L. Winchell, president of the Frisco railroad system, disagrees with Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust bank, who asked the question, "Is competition out of date?" and replied in the affirmative in a recent article.

"I do not think that healthy or legitimate competition is or ever will be out of date," said Mr. Winchell yesterday. "Competition is only another name for effort and construction. If competition is ever abolished we can no longer go forward, and no business has ever stood still. Cut-throat, underhanded, and ruinous competition, so-called, is, or should be, abolished. The methods pursued by both railroads and shippers ten years ago, then called competition, are ancient and discredited.

"In place of the old methods there has been substituted legitimate competition. Under the laws that have been in effect since 1906 all rates are open and above board, made with ample notice. This has placed the shipper on a parity as to rates and information, while at the same time it has not removed the freedom of either to openly reduce rates or the price of their wares."

The American Railway association, composed of officials and other representatives of railroads in all parts of the United States, will hold its fall meeting at the Blackstone hotel at 11 o'clock this morning.

FIVE YEARS FROM JAN. 1, 1912.
—THIS AD IS ABOUT ME—

I am a success NOW. I will be a greater success 5 years from now if I have a larger field of work. I am an executive, organizer and general manager, and have been four years in my present position as confidential man for one of the largest houses in the west, handling all details.

I am 35 years old and my training and education enable me to readily adapt myself to any line.

I can be most successful as assistant to some man of large interests who requires someone with tact to take the details off his shoulders. That's the kind of a man I want to talk to for five minutes; he will know in that time whether he can use me or not and I will know whether he is the man I want to connect myself with.

I can see you any evening after 6 o'clock.

MERGED 'L' ROADS PAY 6 PER CENT

FINANCIERS 'MAKE GOOD.'

Plan New Glucose Consolidation; Deal On for Sale of Pere Marquette Railroad.

Members of the board of control of the Chicago Elevated Railways are scheduled to meet in New York today and recommend to the trustees of the concern that dividends on the preferred stock begin at the rate of 6 per cent on Dec. 1. Henry A. Blair and Samuel Insull left for New York yesterday to attend the meeting. The board of control does not take final action. The quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent will be ordered by the trustees of the Chicago Elevated Railways. There are three trustees, being: Henry A. Blair, Frank A. Vanderlip, and Samuel McRoberts.

The preferred stock of the Chicago Elevated Railways is $16,000,000 and the dividend is cumulative, beginning Sept. 1, 1911. No special report of earnings of the four constituent elevated railroads has been made, but it was understood when the Elevated Railways was organized that the earnings would be equal to the 6 per cent dividend rate. The managers of the merged elevated properties have been able to "make good" to the New York bankers who advanced the funds to make possible the merger of the elevated roads. The fixed obligations of the Chicago Elevated Railways accrue on the preferred stock and on $30,000,000 5 per cent three year notes.

It is understood that all but about 2 per cent of the stockholders in the four elevatd lines have deposited their shares under the merger plan.

New Glucose Consolidation.

Announcement comes from New York that efforts are being made to bring about a consolidation of a number of concerns engaged in the manufacture of glucose and starch products. These concerns are outside the Corn Products Refining company.

According to a statement made in trade circles, the independents do about 30 per cent of the business and include the following: Piel Bros. of Indianapolis, Douglas & Co., Cedar Rapids; Huvinger Bros., Keokuk; Union Starch company, Edinburg, Mo.; Clinton Sugar Refining company, Clinton, Ia.

The proposed amalgamation does not include the largest independent concerns, the latter being the American Maize Products company of Robey, Ind., with a capacity of 15,000 bushels, nor such other companies as the Michigan Starch company of Traverse City, the Firmenich company of Chicago, and the Staley Refining company of Decatur, Ill.

It is reported that the new corporation will have a capitalization of $10,000,000, and it is planned to authorize a bond issue of about $4,000,000. The chief promoter of the proposed combination is H. A. Vories, formerly connected with the National Biscuit company.

Pere Marquette to Be Sold.

It is announced that negotiations are pending for the sale of control of the Père Marquette railroad company now lodged with J. P. Morgan & Co., to a New York syndicate which includes Newman Erb and his associates. Francis B. Hart, vice president of the Old Colony Trust company of Boston and a director of the Père Marquette, is at the head of a committee of first preferred stockholders, which committee is asking deposits of stock under an option of sale, the terms of which are not made public.

Steel Orders Better.

The volume of steel orders of the United States Steel corporation is reported to have shown no falling off since Sept. 1. Daily average orders in August were at the rate of 40,000 tons a day. Since the first of the current month orders aggregating a total of over 50,000 tons were received in one day.

The corporation is now operating about 75 per cent of its ingot capacity and 72 per cent of its blast furnace capacity. Shipments of finished steel correspond with the operations of the blast furnaces and ingot mills.

A steel manufacturer says: "We often wonder where the business is coming from in view of the fact that the railroads have been buying such a small amount of steel. It might be said that since Aug. 1 operations and orders have been within 10 per cent of normal. Full operations mean about 95 per cent of the maximum capacity. What the future has in store for the steel industry I do not know. We have been going forward when we expected to have been going backward. If the railroad troubles are settled satisfactorily we are likely to increase our business beyond the present level. The next two weeks should afford an idea of the course of the steel industry over the remainder of the year."

American Can Profits Good.

September, October, and November are expected to prove the best three months of business for the American Can company, and should business prove normal there will be a favorable increase in the earnings of the company.

Diamond Match Earnings.

It is announced that for the six months ended June 30, 1911, the earnings of the Diamond Match company, after charges for depreciation, were $879,490, as compared with $779,470 in the first half of 1910. President Stettinius says that although complete figures for the third quarter have not yet been compiled, estimates show that the rate of increase over last year has been maintained.

Japanese Bonds—Industries.

Holders in this country of Japanese war bonds may be interested to know that the fishing interests, car construction and shipbuilding as well as corporate utilities are showing favorable prospects throughout Japan. According to eastern advices the application of steam trawlers to the fishing industry has led to the formation of many new companies operating on various parts of the coast. Many new steamships are under construction including liners for the transpacific trade and several government ships. Among them is the new armored cruiser of 27,000 tons, to cost about $8,500,000 for completion in 1914. There is active railway building in the northeast. The Island of Kyushu has a "boom" in electric railway construction, under corporate auspices.

Money and Exchange.

Dividends Declared.

The Canadian Pacific common dividend of 2½ per cent is payable Jan. 2 to stock of record on Dec. 1. Official advices regarding the meeting which have been received do not indicate that action was taken regarding the issue of more common stock or any other matter of special interest to the shareholders and the public.

The Chicago and Northwestern Railway company declared the regular quarterly dividends of 2 per cent on the preferred stock and 1¾ per cent on the common stock, both payable Dec. 1.

The United Fruit company has declared an extra dividend of 10 per cent, payable Dec. 9, to stocks of record Dec. 4. Stockholders have the right to subscribe for new stock equal to the amount of the dividend at par. Subscriptions for the new stock will close Dec. 18.

Notice is given that a dividend of 1½ per cent less income tax upon all of the stock of the Milwaukee and Chicago Breweries, limited, has been declared, payable at the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, Chicago, on Nov. 20. The transfer books of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank will close Nov. 16 and reopen Nov. 21. The above dividend will be paid to stockholders having deposited their trust certificates at the Illinois Trust for the former ordinary and preferred shares of this company in exchange for new trust certificates for the new stock of said company.

General Financial News.

The New York cotton exchange membership sent of the estate of J. G. Fletcher has been sold to E. M. Chapman for $14,800.

The membership of Edgar S. Rosenblatt of the New York stock exchange has been posted for transfer to Richard H. Gordon Jr. and the membership of Pahud F. Thompson has been posted for transfer to Lucius Wilmerding.

It is announced that patents to 297,000 acres of Yakima reservation land, valued at $3,000,000 and erroneously granted to the Northern Pacific railway many years ago, have been formally canceled by United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Spokane.

According to New York advices directors of the Brooklyn Union Gas company will at their meeting on Thursday declare an extra dividend of 1 per cent.

Chicago Securities.

On the local stock exchange the Chicago Subway dropped to 50 cents for a $100 share. The reorganization plan is scheduled to go into effect today. It is probable, however, that the time will be extended. United Boxboard shares were firm at 2⅝. McCrum-Howell common sold at 40¼ and the preferred at 92⅝. Chicago Elevated Railways common advanced from 29 to 30. The preferred sold at 93. Swift & Co. shares were steady at 100.

PRICES OF STOCKS MOVE DOWNWARD

Ruling by the Commerce Court Interests the Financial District.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Trading narrowed still further today, although a considerable degree of activity was maintained in the three stocks most largely traded in. Prices moved irregularly, some issues showing a good deal of strength at times during the day, although the general movement of prices was downward.

This represented not so much a market interpretation of the day's development as it did a continuation of the selling movement, which has been under way for probably five or six days, although its effect upon prices was not clearly defined until last Saturday. The selling this week may possibly be regarded as a secondary profit taking movement, the heaviest liquidation for the long account having taken place while prices were still moving upward.

Harvester Decline Result of Suit.

One item in the day's news, which found substantial reflection in the stock directly concerned, was the announcement of the decision against the International Harvester company in the ouster suit brought by the state of Missouri. It will be noted that the decision offers an alternative to the company, the acceptance of which will enable it to reëstablish its legal position in that state.

The separation of the International Harvester Company of America from the International Harvester Company of New Jersey is one of the conditions required. According to report, this is one of the things to which the federal government's legal advisers pointed as essential to any plan designed to bring the company within the requirements of the Sherman law. It remains to be seen whether the company will submit to the conditions named as the price of official approval of its position.

Th immediate effect of today's news upon the price of International Harvester company stock was a decline of over five points, of which loss nearly half was recovered before the close.

Another special movement which attracted attention was the strength of Lehigh Valley, which again touched the high price of the year recorded on Monday, and which closed with a net gain despite the reactionary movement in the market as a whole. Reading, which lately had shared with Lehigh Valley in the strength of the anthracite stocks, closed at the lowest price of the day with a net loss of 1⅝. Report busied itself today with the form to be taken by the Lehigh Valley's segregation plan, upon which progress recently is understood to have been made.

Interest in Commerce Court Ruling.

The Commerce court handed down today the opinion upon which was based its recent temporary injunction against the enforcement of the reduced freight rates in the intermountain territory ordered last July by the interstate commerce commission. The majority opinion of the court upholds the constitutionality of the long and short haul clause of the rate law, putting the injunction upon narrower ground than if it had been issued on the view that this clause was invalid.

While much interest was taken today in the court's opinion, it is to be recalled that the points at issue are to be finally determined after the hearing which must be had before the present injunction can be made permanent. Even then the decision will be subject to appeal to the Supreme court.

A good deal was heard today of prospective railroad financing, though few if any of the reported issues of securities have been definitely determined upon. The flotation of any considerable proportion of the issues talked about today would indicate on the one hand a considerable investment demand for bonds and on the other a disposition on the part of railroad managements to assume fresh obligations for the purpose of engaging in new construction or the completion of work already undertaken.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2⅜; closing bid, 2⅜; offered at 2½. Time loans easier; 60 days and 90 days, 3¼@3⅜ per cent; 6 months, 3½@3⅝. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8385 for 60 days and at 4.8695 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83½. Bar silver, 56⅝. Mexican dollars, 46½. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Money and discount rates were easier today. The stock market was generally dull, largely due to the reaction in New York. Home rails maintained yesterday's advance at the opening, but fell away later. Chinese bonds were better. Union Castle Mail Steamship shares advanced on rumors that the line will be bought up by the union government of South Africa. American securities opened firm and higher. The market was supported and prices continued to advance in the forenoon. Canadian Pacific was a weak exception and declined ⅞. Profit taking followed the receipt of the Wall street opening, and prices receded a fraction. The closing was steady.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Copper shares were firmer today under the lead of North Butte, which regained 1½ points of yesterday's decline. Unexpectedly the directors of United Fruit declared an extra dividend of 10 per cent and the stock advanced 7¼ points to the highest price of the year. Call money, 2¼@3 per cent; time loans, short dates, 3½@4 per cent; time loans, six months, 3⅝@4½ per cent; time loans, year, 4@4½ per cent.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The cotton goods markets are moderately quiet, orders being small but numerous. Prices are somewhat irregular. There is a fair miscellaneous export trade in cottons passing. In men's wear centers production is increasing. Yarns rule quiet.

HOGS REGAIN HALF OF LOSS

CATTLE AMPLE; CHEAPER.

Killers Buy Sparingly; Good Steers Held Back; Sheep Quiet.

Hog market at Chicago yesterday opened at a decline of 5@10c and gradually strengthened, closing with fully half of the initial loss recovered. Early estimates were placed at 32,000 head, but later guesses were for only 28,000 head, and this reduction in the supply was chiefly responsible for the upward trend of values. A top was made at $6.55, and the average price for the day dropped to $6.38, a decline of 5c.

A cattle supply of 10,000 head proved more than ample for the requirements of the trade, and several loads of good steers had to be locked up to keep values from going to a lower level. Buyers took hold sparingly and the market had a weak finish, with best native steers at $7.10. Range cattle held steady, with Montanas at $7.50. Calf prices held at the recent decline, and choice vealers sold at $8.00@8.25.

SMALL RECEIPTS STEADY FUTURES

Corn Market Shows a Much Stronger Tone; Small Stocks Chief Bull Factor.

Wheat trade was nervous and fluctuations were erratic within about 1c range yesterday. The lower cables did not have much effect at the start, and there was a firm tone, but the announcement of another big increase in world's stocks, 7,000,000 bu, started selling which carried prices off materially. Commission houses again took up the surplus offerings on the dip, and prices rallied sharply when shorts tried to cover. Closing prices were 1-16c up to ⅛c off.

About the only encouragement the bulls had in the way of news was the smaller movement in the southwest and at winter wheat points generally, with the prospect for smaller shipments from the country in the northwest. Primary receipts were still larger than a year ago at 704,000 bu, but were the smallest in some time. Kansas City had only 7 cars of wheat in.

Big Crop in Argentina.

Bearish estimates of the Argentine crop caused considerable local selling. B. W. Snow, the local expert, who is now in Argentina, cabling that the crop might be 250,000,000 bu or 58,000,000 bu more than previous record crop, which was 192,000,000 bu. Reports from the Pacific coast said sentiment was bearish as the wheat was hard to sell at 15c under New York basis, while the Asiatic demand had been cut off by the Chinese troubles.

World's stocks increased 7,000,000 bu, against a gain of 5,003,000 bu a year ago. Liverpool was ¼d to ½d off; Paris, unchanged to ¼d lower; Antwerp, 1¼c down; Budapest, ¾c lower and ⅝c off. Foreign markets were influenced more than domestic exchanges by the promising outlook in Argentina.

Cash Trade Is Quiet.

The cash trade here was quiet and there were no sales to mills reported. Offerings were moderate and outside cash markets were steady relatively. Receipts here were 69 cars, with 30 cars the estimate for today. Northwest points had 812 cars, against 368 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg 460, against 499 cars. Clearances were moderate at 219,000 bu. Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 560,000 bu for three days.

No. 1 northern wheat at Minneapolis was a little firmer relatively, selling at 1@1¼c over the December. Flour trade was reported slow in all directions. Buying of wheat on the break was headed by B. W. Frank, Gifford, Lindman, Wagner, Bartlett-Frazier, Logan-Bryan, and Ware-Leland. Noyes-Jackson, Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, Schwarz, and local bears were the chief sellers.

Shorts Buyers in Corn.

Corn was strong and closed ¼@⅜c to ⅝c higher. Cash prices were ¼@1c higher, and there was not much offered, although the demand was slow. Shipping sales were only 50,000 bu. The weather was fine over the belt, but rain or snow was predicted, to be followed by another cold wave. Local stocks are practically nothing, and the country is slow in selling. Bulls are of the opinion the supply of contract corn in December will be small, and this belief caused quite general covering by shorts. Bartlett-Frazier, Comstock, Geahart, Champlin, Cutten, and local professionals in general were on the buying side. Lamson and commission houses sold.

Receipts were 240 cars, with 150 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals were 511,000 bu, against 408,000 bu a year ago. Cables were ⅝d higher on the light offerings. Southwest cash markets were exceptionally strong; Kansas City up 1@2c.

Slow Trade in Oats.

Trade in oats was quiet and the price range narrow. Local bulls were moderate buyers, but they did not get much help from the outside. Last prices for the day were unchanged to ⅛c up. Armour was a fair seller, and there was a little buying early by cash houses. Receipts were 115 cars, with only 89 cars promised for today. The local cash demand was not so active, but sample prices were steady, with sales of 165,000 bu reported. Primary arrivals were 410,000 bu, against 589,000 bu a year ago.

Lower Trend in Provisions.

Provisions closed a little lower throughout the list. The predominating influence was the big movement of hogs. Receipts here were 34,000, with 38,000 estimated for today, and prices at the yards were 5@10c lower. Commission houses were fair buyers, with locals moderate sellers. The cash trade was reported quiet. Western receipts of hogs were 115,100, against 89,000 a year ago.

Rye Market Firm.

Rye market held on a firm basis and all offerings were well taken. No. 2 sold at 90¼@91c; No. 3, 87@89c; No. 4, 87@88c. Receipts were estimated at 7 cars.

Barley market had a strong undertone. Malting closed at $1.00@1.26; feed, 75@95c; screenings, 40@70c. Receipts, 60 cars.

Timothy seed held steady, with December at $16.25 nominal, and cash lots, $13.00@15.25. Cloverseed was unchanged at $13.50@20.00 for cash lots.

Duluth flax closed 1@4¼c lower. Cash and November were $2.08; December, $2.03; May, $2.04½. Receipts, 47 cars. Minneapolis flax was 1c higher at $2.08 for cash on track. Receipts, 29 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The high prices for American corn are curtailing the foreign demand materially. So far the amount of corn contracted for export from December to March at the seaboard is estimated at about 10,000,000 bu, about half of which has been contracted by Baltimore houses. It is believed that Europe will have to buy corn freely before the winter is over, but buyers have been waiting for a price recession when the new corn starts to moving freely. Pasturage in England has been excellent, decreasing the need of corn, and it is estimated that about 100 cargoes of soya beans from Manchuria have been sold to European consumers. There has also been a lot of Russian barley placed in England and the continental countries, and the free offerings of feed wheat from Manitoba and of Argentine oats have helped make up the deficiencies in rough feed abroad.

Trade in cash wheat here was inactive and there was not much feature. Prices relative to future were just about the same. Millers are reporting a slow trade in flour as a rule and are not anxious for wheat apparently. One of the big Indiana mills at Evansville was reported shut down for lack of buying orders. Local flour men also reported the trade slow. Mills quite generally are understood to have fair supplies, and while reports differ as to the quantity of wheat back on the farms, there does not appear to be any great hurry on the part of the mills to come to terminal markets for their wheat. In the northwest there was a little firmer tone. Premiums for No. 1 northern were 1@1½c over the December, about ⅛c advance, and there was a good demand. The seaboard reported cables way out of line.

New members elected by the directors yesterday were Arthur B. Earle of Liverpool, Marshall E. Boynton, and Charles E. Richie. Mr. Earle is a member of the firm of Sanday & Co. of Liverpool. The firm has branch houses in India and Argentina. He has been on change for the last few days.

Figures on the wheat crop east of the Rockies compiled by John J. Lindman show that the excess of probable supplies over the actual requirements this year are about 37,000,000 bu. The requirements for bread and seed in the states east of the Rockies are placed at 493,000,000 bu, while the wheat available is approximately 530,000,000 bu. The figures showing the requirements of some of the big eastern states indicate where the wheat goes. For instance, New York raises about 9,000,000 bu wheat and consumes 49,500,000 bu, showing that this state must import about 41,000,000 bu wheat. The New England states use 35,000,000 more than they raise and Pennsylvania 22,600,000 bu. Allowing a comparatively small reserve holding on the part of the farmers, these figures show that the supply and demand situation is closely adjusted.

Canada	4,082,000	1,661,000

Total world's stocks	7,075,000	5,003,000
Corn	*122,000	*1,043,000
Oats	*726,000	*1,306,000

*Decrease.

Kansas City cash corn prices hold firm and were quoted 1@2c higher yesterday. No. 2 corn was quoted 74@75c and No. 2 yellow 77s. St. Louis No. 2 yellow was quoted 73½c and No. 2 corn 72@73½c. Local cash prices were ¼@1c higher. The movement of new corn in all directions continues of small proportions and farmers are taking their own time in marketing the new crop. Cash sales here were 50,000 bu. Local stocks are extremely light. Omaha prices were comparatively high, No. 3 white selling at 70½c and No. 2 yellow at 71c. No. 4 mixed corn, new, was quoted at 66c.

Lake had a message from Ned Brown of Minneapolis saying conservative grain men in the northwest estimated that 70 per cent of the wheat had left the farms in the northwest.

Earl H. Reed posted his membership on the board of trade for transfer. Henry D. Metcalf, recently suspended, has made application for reinstatement.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were unchanged to ⅛c lower; corn, ⅛@2¼c higher; oats, ⅛c higher; rye, ½c higher.

We recommend these securities as a safe and conservative investment, and emphasize the following strong points from the letter of the President, Mr. William Galloway, and the detailed reports of our own experts:

(1) An absolute FIRST and CLOSED mortgage on all the property now owned or which may be hereafter acquired by the Company.

(2) Total assets, exclusive of good will, etc., $1,682,785.99, or OVER THREE TIMES the bond issue.

(3) Net earnings for the year ended June 30, 1911, were $204,828.19, or OVER SIX AND ONE-HALF TIMES the maximum annual interest charge and OVER THREE TIMES the average annual requirements for principal and interest.

(4) The stable character of the Company's business and its excellent credit and financial standing.

(5) The large margin of security will rapidly increase with the serial reduction of the debt.

(6) No other indebtedness except current accounts not due.

(7) Under the terms of the Deed of Trust, the Company is obligated to maintain quick assets of not less than $450,000.

(8) Life of President of the Company insured in the sum of $300,000 in companies of good standing, and payable to the Trustee for protection of bondholders.

(9) Property of Company insured against loss by fire for $300,000 and protection against tornado for $300,000.

The Company is a large manufacturer of agricultural implements, selling its output direct to the consumer for cash. Its gross sales showed an increase over 930% in the last four years. Continuation of the present able management is assured, and if the control of the business is passed the bonds become subject to redemption.

The physical property was appraised by Messrs. Coats & Burchard Co., Appraisers, Chicago, and the books of the Company were audited and the earnings certified to by Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Chartered Accountants; the form of the bond and legal matters approved by Mr. Horace S. Oakley, Chicago.

Common Sense Home Talk.

Some men must be forced into buying their own homes, some must be coaxed and some you could not stop. To which class do you belong? This notice is not meant for the man you could not stop. He is looking us up. He is in evidence in his own home or our beautiful properties, and he is coming around daily.

We'd like to disturb the diffident man into action and coax the backward man into making the start. That's the main thing, the start. Once on your way you will have only one regret, and that is—you did not start long ago. This is what one of our customers told us. He is now living in his own two family house; gets his own rent free with a little income besides.

A $10 bill makes the start, and you then have the backing of the largest real estate company in the United States to help you along to get your home. When you have made the start your rent money takes care of the rest.

Write, telephone, or call for our Booklet, "200 Homes for 200 People for $200 Down."

BANKERS TO SALARIED PEOPLE,
105 W. MONROE-ST., ROOM [illegible]
SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 3516.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or other sources] who while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realise that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4306 Grand-blvd., and have private means of my own. I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rates being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 14 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources] who while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4308 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security at a considerable ... but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate to be determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

Lots of folks here in Chicago want Pianos for the little ones to learn on. They won't have a cheap piano in the house; neither can they see any sense in giving the youngsters a brand new instrument at the start-off.

Bauer, mahogany, in very fine condition	$235
Fleischer, oak, very fine tone	200
Hallet & Davis, walnut art case	140
Ludwig, hand carved case, just same as new	245
Gaylord, large size, good tone	195
Steger, mahog., large size, and cannot be told from new	155
Kranich & Bach, rosewood, full size	165
Adam Schaff, very fine condition	140
Steinway upright grand, in very fine condition	265

Several slightly used Crown pianos returned from a discontinued branch store, are just like new. A golden opportunity to pick up something really fine at about one-half price.

We also have several player-pianos, only slightly used, which we have accepted in payment for our own celebrated players. Any one would be a bargain well worth having. Here is a partial list:

Cecilian player, walnut, in very fine condition	100

This week's
MUSIC ROLL SPECIAL,
"MEMORIES OF HOME,"
—a sweet melody of popular old songs,
65 or 88 note.

LYON & HEALY,
WORLD'S GREATEST MUSIC HOUSE.

Owing to the unprecedented demand for STEINWAY and LYON & HEALY PIANOS, we have taken in exchange an unusually large number of instruments. We are offering these, together with a number of pianos returned from brief rentals, at greatly reduced prices. Every instrument which leaves our warerooms has been thoroughly overhauled and defective parts replaced by new. The discriminating purchaser will discern upon inspection that these are exceptionally attractive values. You will find in this offering just the piano you have been waiting for.

which opens November 22nd, suggests our display of exclusive styles in

FORMAL EVENING DRESS AND ITS ACCESSORIES

EVENING GOWNS: Styles were never more diversified; no two of our gowns are alike; the wide range of colors, the richness and variety in fabrics used, in both imported gowns and those of American design, render the selection of a becoming gown a pleasure and satisfaction.

EVENING WRAPS: The one requisite of the season's evening wraps is that they be artistic. Loose coats and cassocklike wraps are particularly the fashion—built of velours, velvets, plush, supple cloths or gorgeous brocades or satins. Trimmed in fur or lace, in gold or oriental embroideries. We show many exclusive European models, as well as the less expensive American copies.

EVENING FURS: Ermine, Mole, Caracul and Hudson Seal share honors equally. The long draped coats, as well as the conventional straight, half-fitted styles, are suitable for evening. Muffs, stoles and separate pieces are to be had in every favored fur. We have selected our styles with the greatest care—the best of the foreign models, the cleverest of American originality and adaptation go to make up a showing of exclusive fur garments that far surpasses anything we have ever before attempted.

HATS AND HEADDRESSES: Fascinating caps, bandeaux, hair ornaments and unique accessories to the coiffure are the vogue of Paris for correct evening wear. Our French Section is brilliant with a most comprehensive display.

GLOVES: Long gloves are without exception the ones in demand for evening wear. Our Laurel brand is made of the finest skins obtainable, the cutting and sewing is a matter of scientific study and care—the result is a glove unsurpassed for delicacy of detail and for the aristocratic slimness it lends to the hand.

EVENING SLIPPERS: Made especially for us in Vienna over American lasts. These slippers are the perfection of fit and marvels of grace in design—to be had in colors to match any gown, in satin, velvet, brocade or kid, with all the newest ideas in jeweled buckles and bows.

EVENING SCARFS: These charming accessories are to be had in an endless variety of fabrics and designs. Exqutsitely printed chiffons, hand run laces, beaded nets, brocades, etc., edged with plaitings of silk fringe or fur. Many of them are lined with contrasting colors, which makes them a real protection against a draught or sudden change in temperature.

COATS
For Women

In bulk, doth make man better be."

To have mere numbers of apparel to display doesn't mean anything to a woman of refined taste.

To have one coat only, but that coat an ideal of the season's offerings and suited to her individual requirements would be infinitely better.

While the Matthews shop has always a liberal stock we have been spurred on to variety in preference to mere numbers and women have learned to know they find the unusual here.

SENATORS EXPO 'CONSPIRACY' IN LORIMER

Plot Could Not Have Without Court Being volved, Says Kenyon

HANECY'S METHODS REP

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUG

The "gigantic conspiracy" aga ator William Lorimer, which th counsel has sought assiduously to the senatorial record, was smashe opinion of some members of the D committee—during the examinatio day of John R. W. Wayman, state's for Cook county.

Mr. Hanecy, Mr. Lorimer's attor gaged in a long argument with Mr. as to the place where venue lay in bery cases. Senator Kern sugge perhaps the judge who heard this f the case was in the conspiracy.

"O, yes, of course," asserted Senat Mr. Hanecy declared he would ne else the courts, whereupon Mr. marked that a judge had to decide tening to arguments and after full tion.

Senator Kenyon further observed: "This prosecuting officer brings to the court and the court takes jur I do not see how there can be a c without the court being involved."

Says He Only Did His Du

Mr. Wayman's testimony was to t that his policy was inspired by the ...ests of the state; that he was ... conspiracy, as alleged by Mr. and that he did not practice the thir but, on the other hand, treated the had perjured themselves with gre ...ideration than they deserved.
